THE OMAHA BEE.

It Pays-TRY HAYDEN'S FIRST-It Pays

10

might find it a hardship to be compelled to keep the bigger children at school when they could be working and adding their share to the family income, Herr Haenisch re-sponded that social improvement would go hand in hand with education, and that in the new Germany none would be too poor to give his children a proper education.

Here the interview was interrupted by the unannounced entrance of a bright flaxen-haired boy of four or five who threw himself across the Prussian Cabinet Minister's knees with the exclamation "Papa, mama says you must come in to lunch immediately. There are pancakes with jam for dessert." Thus Herr Haenisch, jr., brought the interview to an agreeable end

London, Sept. 12 .- South Africa's last elephant tribe faces complete extinction if a decree passed by the provincial council of the province of the Cape of Good Hope is carried tion of the herd of elephants in the Addo Bush forest reserve. Hitherto this remnant has been carefully preserved by the union government and attempts by wild animal buyers and big game hunters to remove or destroy it have been prevented by law. Now unless the government takes immediate action it will be wiped out.

old male, was recently killed. The elephants of southern Rhodesia have been exterminated. The elephant bids fair to follow the trail of the North American buffalo.

Portuguese territory, a few survivors of a small troop occasionally are seen, but they are being attacked from both sides and are on the verge of extinction.

ested in the preservation of wild animals in their native haunts are taking steps to have the decree rescindcd, but it is doubtful if they will succeed. The Addo Bush, near Port Elizabeth, until recently has been waterless scrub of little value. In its center an area of approximately 6,000 acres has long been a reserve for this band of elephants. The herd numbers between 100 and 200 individuals, the only surviving examples of a distinct variety, characterized by a strongly arched forehead, outline, short forelegs and a very reserve in quest of food and water. hey break down fences, stampede attle, destroy crops and frighten uman beings. They assume that the irrigation canals are intended for their benefit and in taking their baths they destroy the banks and dams.

You will find the Dyckman, Minreapolis, convenient to the shops, theaters and points of interest. Reaonable rates. The Elizabethan Room and the Coffee Shop of the Dyckman are ideal places to dine.