

GIRL SWINDLER POSED AS HARRY THAW'S CHILD

Descends on London in Military Costume and Runs Through Series of Dare-Devil Adventures.

By EARL C. REEVES.
International News Service Staff Correspondent.

London, Sept. 13.—A rare and picturesque person—an adventurer who was not beautiful—has finally brought her multitudinous and successful ventures to the attention of the British police after many years of perfectly safe operation.

She is known as Marie Crawford, and she found the smaller towns of England all too ready to believe the old dictum that Americans must inevitably be wealthy, for her most successful operations were conducted playing these parts:

Daughter of Thaw.

Daughter and heiress of Harry Thaw.

Wife of George Crawford, American millionaire, whom she divorced in order to marry his brother.

Widow of Walter Crawford, the brother who died leaving a pecuniary stipulation that she should marry "outside the family."

A working man, who was helping the girl obtain the mythical fortune of Walter Crawford, mythical American millionaire, by agreeing to marry her and leave her at the church door, thus complying with the terms of the will, brought downfall and police investigation.

In Military Uniform.

The girl descended upon Woking, in Surrey, in military uniform, brimming with daredevil adventures at the front as driver of staff cars and of machines which had taken secret messages on many dangerous missions.

Lack of this was Walter Crawford and his peculiar will. She was destitute. Her properties in Canada would realize huge sums if she could realize on them. Wonderful how many perfectly sane persons helped her. Her landlady even mortgaged her home. A garage owner depleted his bank account and borrowed because he was to marry her and part at the church door and get $2,500 a year for life for parting.

Impossible to Live On Policeman's Salary, Ex-Soldier Resigns

Baltimore, Md., Sept. 13.—"I have had two shirts out of these an army shirt, and while the shirt I wear is being washed I am compelled to remain in bed," said Patrolman Franklin N. Thompson of the Northern district, an ex-soldier, to police Captain Charles E. Hurley at the station house recently when he handed the latter his resignation.

Patrolman Thompson claims that his pay, which is a little over $15 a week net as a probationary policeman, is insufficient for his living expenses.

Continuing, Thompson said: "My shoes are about gone, so I just have to get police cap and two children's shoes. The shoes are expensive and have advanced to such an extent that it is impossible for me to get along on a policeman's salary."

Thompson saw service in France with the 29th division.

Learning of the ex-Yank's predicament McMahon Bros., contractors, offered Thompson a position which pays $7.00 per day and which the former soldier accepted.

Merchants in Hot Place War; Consumers Benefit

Gettysburg, Pa., Sept. 13.—One of the merriest wars in price reduction was waged here between two merchants with lemons as the commodity. A store conducted by Leo H. Miller, has been selling goods cheaper than the other stores in town. The climax arrived when they would sell lemons at 17 cents a dozen, while the other stores were charging between 40 and 60 cents a dozen.

Almost immediately the other stores in town announced that they were selling lemons at 15 cents a dozen. The signs announcing the price of lemons were changed as fast as they could be made with a few cents reduction each time, until the price was brought to 5 cents a dozen. All of the stores did a booming business. Later cantaloupes and watermelons were brought into the sale and some watermelons sold for as low as 10 cents.

Autoist Knocks Hold-up

Hamilton, O., Sept. 13.—Did you know that the auto has demonstrated its efficiency as a protection against hold-up men?

Well, it is a fact.

The unique demonstration took place on the Four Mile creek bridge, near here.

It was night.

A. L. Marvin, secretary of the Butler county Y. M. C. A., and his wife were returning to Hamilton in an auto from Seven Mile, a hamlet nearby.

Two bandits held them up on the bridge. Flashing lights in the faces of Mr. and Mrs. Marvin, the highwaymen demanded money.

Marvin pressed his foot on the accelerator. The machine sprang forward, knocking the hold-up men into the ditch.

Mr. and Mrs. Marvin got away safely.

Another War Over a Mere "Scrap of Paper"

Reading, Pa., Sept. 13.—There has been numerous wars waged over "mere scraps of paper," but so far as can be ascertained this is the only one that resulted from a piece of correspondence paper. Helen Hugel of this city, alleges that Dorothy and Blanche Hammen took offense because her 5-year-old son happened to tear a sheet of paper taken from a 25-cent box of correspondence material. The case will be carried to court.
