TOUR AGAINST LEAGUE PACT

Makes Three Addresses Twin Cities; Many Turned Away; Wishes Roosevelt Were Alive.

Minneapolis, Sept. 20.—(By The Associated Press.)—With three addresses in the Twin Cities today, Senator Hiram W. Johnson concluded his speaking trip through the middle west opposing the ratification of the league of nations covenant in Hactings Shriners.

The Grand Island Shriners are its present form. At noon he addressed a large gathering at the Metropolitan opera house in St. Paul and at 4 p. m. he spoke to the Lincoln club in Minneapolis.

Tonight the climax of a strenuous day of speechmaking was reached when he addressed a mass meeting which packed the Armory in Minneapolis. Many were turned away unable to find standing room. Mayor J. E. Meyers introduced Senator Johnson at the armory meeting, where the Californian was cheered for several minutes when he entered the hall.

Answering President Wilson's statement that Theodore Roosevelt would favor the league of nations were he alive today, Senator John-

Need of Roosevelt.

"Mr. Wilson, hard pressed, quoted resterday Theodore Roosevelt. Oh, f Roosevelt were only here. The nation never needed him more. His commanding personality, his lofty patriotism, his love for and pride in our nation, his very personality typfearlessness in attacking any dirided allegiance to our country, his red-blooded Americanism, would have made short work of the un-American thing which Mr. Wilson seeks to foist upon us. How strange and weird and unnatural it seems for Mr. Wilson to quote Theodore Roosevelt. They have ever been the antithesis of each other. "One with clear vision and un erring wisdom saw the possibilities of the great world war and our interest in it. The other with feeble and flabby phrases preached the doctrine of neutrality in deed and thought. Roosevelt, when it was unpopular to do so, denounced wrong and aggression, broken national faith and ruthless militarism. Wilson, for three years before we got into the war, was unable to tell for what the nations of the earth were fighting and told us each side was battling for the same hidden

Failed to Vision.

"For two years and a half he either saw nor understood the underlying forces in civilization's ti-tanic struggle. Unmoved and untouched he witnessed the crime againt Belgium, and the assault upon humanity. He now speaks learnedly on the initial phases of the conflict, the actuating reasons. the roots of the cataclysm. Until the beginning of 1917, he told a different tale and spoke another story. It is only now, when the exigencies of his league demand another presentation, with a wholly different background, that he reverses his utterances from 1914 to 1917 and assumes now to tell us the causes of the war, the underlying forces of the ruthless militarism which pounced upon an unsuspecting world, and paints a picture utterly the reverse of that which he painted to the American people for nearly three years. And during all this time Roosevelt clearly saw and he sounded his trumpet call to the American people of preparation for the inevitable, while Mr. Wilson in utter indifference or with unseeing eyes, again and again publicly stated that both sides were fighting for the same unknown reasons and that justice substantially rested with Scorned Wilson's Ideas.

"Of course, Mr. Roosevelt, like all the rest of us, would have gone far to have prevented war. But when any man says that he would for a single instant have accepted the pro-British document which would put the country he so dearly loved within the power or direction, command or recommendation of foreign nations, that man affronts the revered memory of Theodore Roosevelt. None who knew Roosevelt, none who talked to him during his last days but know that his heart and his soul revolted at Mr. Wilson's internationalism and Mr. Wilson's endeavor to subordinate to foreign nations the American republic.

The debate in congress yesterday indicates that gradually the issue which the proponents of the league have ever sought to obscure is becoming increasingly plain. The able and distinguished senator from Minnesota boldly announces that he believes in maintaining our troops in Russia and Siberia and that upon us is the moral responsibility at least to maintain the new nations set up by the peace treaty.

No-Moral Responsibility.

"If a moral responsibility exists for us to protect and preserve and maintain these new nations, the responsibility also exists to protect them with our power. And if this responsibility exists, it means no matter how much we may say that we deem the responsibility only moral, that American troops must for all time in the future, whenever it be necessary, patrol threatened nations in Europe.

feelings of ex-Emperor Charles of Austria are given by General Von Stein, the former German quartermaster general, in a book called "Reminiscences of the Great War." In it he quotes the Austrian ex-ruler as having frequently called Hindenburg and Ludendorf "pigs." The writer says Charles was "a Chicago's daily water consump-tion this year is 657,000,000 gallons, or 215 gallons per capita. New Yorkers evidently do not use as much water as Chicagoans, for the daily average consumption in Gotham this year is 103 gallons.

The writer says Charles was "a weak ruler, whom nobody took seriously." The people of Vienna openly made fun of him in the streets, Von Stein adds.

"His most ardent wish was to be one day crowned king of Poland. He was ready for any sacrifice ex-cept that of his crown," the writer continues. "He and our other allies
