

CONGRESSMEN CHANGE MINDS ON RECORD VOTE

Exemption Proviso Left in General Deficiency Bill After Savage Attack by Representative Fess.

By E. C. SNYDER. (Staff Correspondent.) Washington, Sept. 21.—"The cold type in a roll call does make cowards of us all" to paraphrase one of William of Avons oft repeated utterances. Friday when the house in committee of the whole had under discussion the general deficiency bill of the present fiscal year...

Saturday's action told a different story when the house by a vote of 203 to 28 refused to follow the lead of Mr. Fess and kept the item in the bill as it came from the appropriations committee, limitation and all.

The explanations for the vote of the majority of the Nebraska members is that the Clayton anti-trust bill excludes labor organizations from its operation but leaves farmers associations and organizations liable to prosecution.

Mr. Andrews further said that it is charged that a mistake had been made by an immigration official, "It is my duty," he remarked, "to discontinue the argument of war pressure for the payment of unwarranted expenses by the immigration bureau for any other agency of the government for that matter."

Watt Argument Obsolete. Mr. Andrews further said that it is charged that a mistake had been made by an immigration official, "It is my duty," he remarked, "to discontinue the argument of war pressure for the payment of unwarranted expenses by the immigration bureau for any other agency of the government for that matter."

Money Thrown to Breezes When Man and Woman Battle. More than $400 in denominations of $10, $20 and $100 bills were strewn at Thirteenth and Jackson streets at 11 o'clock Saturday night when John Kelly, 709 South Thirteenth street, watchman for the Omaha Fur and Hide Co., tried to take the money from Loretta Price, negro, 1916 Cumby street, who, Kelly says, stole the money from him.

Caroline McDole, of Indianola, Iowa, writes, "I have used Chamberlain's Colic and Diarrhoea Remedy and it has done me a great deal of good. I don't believe there is a better medicine on earth." Only 35 cents per bottle.

Pershing Blanketed His Window to Study; Chum Crawled Under Bed, When the Guard Came

Writes Classmates He Never Will Forget Night Guard Duty and Visitation of the Ghosts—Was Popular With Everyone, and Showed Enormous Strength, Say Old Chums.

"This brings up a period of West Point life whose vivid impressions will be the last to fade. Marching into camp, piling bedding, policing company streets of logs of wood (matches) carelessly dropped by upper classmen, pillow lights at the general parade, light artillery drills, double timing around old Fort Clinton at morning squad drill, Wiley Beaman (a classmate) and the sad fate of his sersack coat, midnight dragging and the whole summer full of events can only be mentioned in passing.

"Halt! Who Sits There?" "No one can ever forget this first guard tour, with all its preparation and perspiration. I got along all right during the day, but at night on the color line my troubles began. Of course, I was scared beyond the point of properly applying any of my orders. A few minutes after taps ghosts of all sorts began to appear from all directions. I selected a particularly heinous one and challenged according to orders:

"Halt! Who comes there?" "Whereupon the ghost, who was carrying a chair, sat down, when I promptly said:

"Halt! Who sits there?"

"Crawled Under Bed. "After plebe camp came plebe math (mathematics) and French. I never stood high in French and was prone to burn the midnight oil. One night Walcutt and Bentley Mott, classmates, came in to join me. The guard, who was in charge, coming up the stairs several steps at a time. Mott sprang across the hall into his own room. I snatched the blanket from the window, turned out the lights and leaped into bed, clothing and all, while Walcutt, seeing escape impossible, gently woke Hunt and in a whisper said, "Lucy, may I crawl under your bed?"

"I paid the penalty by walking six tours of extra duty. "The rest of it—yearling camp and its release from plebehood, the first appearance in the riding hall of the famous '86 New England cavalry (so named in ridicule of the New England men of the class, none of them could ride well when he entered West Point), furlough and the return up the Hudson on the Mary Powell, second class year, with its increasing responsibilities and dignity, must all be passed with slight notice.

Girls There Were, Too.

"While the days were not always filled with unalloyed pleasure, to be sure, yet no matter how distasteful anything else may have been up to that time, there is none of us who would not gladly live first camp over again—summer girls, summer hops, first class privileges, possible engagements, 28th hop, then the home-stretch.

All Solid Men.

"These characteristics were carried with us into the army and have marked the splendid course of the class during the past 25 years. The class '86 has always been known in the army and is known today as a class of all-around solid men—men capable of ably performing any duty and loyally fulfilling any trust. The individual character of each man made itself felt upon his fellows in the army from the start.

Had Great Strength. "He was an ideal soldier. He had a wonderful physique. That and his great strength have helped to carry him where he is today. He has been able to withstand the hardships of campaigning. At West Point he was picked by the tactical officers as the best cadet soldier. He was made senior cadet corporal, then first corporal, then first sergeant, then senior captain. He was an excellent shot with the rifle and with the revolver.

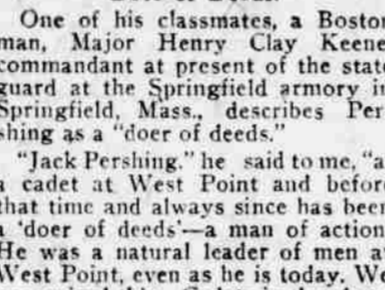

Clinched His Teeth. "But praise of Jack Pershing, cadet, was not confined to his classmates. Lieut. Col. Wirt Robinson has succeeded Colonel Tillman as professor of chemistry. In the cadet days of Jack Pershing Colonel Robinson was in the class behind—his class of '87. He knows Jack Pershing well.

"Then here's to the class of '86, increasing responsibilities and dignity, must all be passed with slight notice. "Girls There Were, Too. "While the days were not always filled with unalloyed pleasure, to be sure, yet no matter how distasteful anything else may have been up to that time, there is none of us who would not gladly live first camp over again—summer girls, summer hops, first class privileges, possible engagements, 28th hop, then the home-stretch.

My Heart and My Husband ADELE GARRISON'S New Phase of "Revelations of a Wife"

The News Mrs. Durkee Blurted Out to Madge.

June loafed his lazy length along and somehow—neither of us ever knew just how—Alice Holcombe and I managed to pull the Bayview high school pupils through the trying ordeals of "Regents" (the final examinations prescribed by the state board), and to wind up the business of the year in fairly creditable fashion.

Trying Days. "Milly Stockbridge's body had been laid to rest in the village cemetery after a garish public funeral, which all of the teachers except myself attended. I pleaded a convenient headache and sent a beautiful cluster of flowers with my card and Dicky's attached. I knew, of course, that I would never return to the Bayview school, but not even my livelihood depended upon it could I have attended that funeral. It took all the courage I could muster to make the formal brief call at the home that courtesy demanded.

KING AK-SAR-BEN TO OPEN CARNIVAL, HERE WEDNESDAY

King's Highway in Full Glory This Week: Parades Next Week.

"Omaha invites you to Samson's silver anniversary" is the slogan of this season's fall festival which will be opened Wednesday, 1 p. m.

There is unusual significance in this invitation, because this is the 25th year of Omaha's famous booster organization whose fame has spread from Broadway in New York City to Market street, San Francisco, and from the Great Lakes to the Gulf.

When President Wilson was here two weeks ago, and was about to leave Union station on his special train, one of his secret service men asked a Bee representative for his Ak-Sar-Ben button. "I have heard of your wonderful organization and I would like to have that button to wear as a reminder of Omaha," said the president's guard. Of course, The Bee man gave him the button which he is now wearing somewhere on the Pacific coast.

Twenty-five Years. After a quarter of a century of effort the Knights of Ak-Sar-Ben are as virile as ever, and in fact it may be truthfully said that this year's festivities will eclipse all previous efforts, because this is the first fall festival after the period of the war, and all conditions in this favored part of the world are auspicious for a grand and glorious time during the 10 days of the festival season.

Shows Arrive Tonight.

The Con T. Kennedy shows, on 38 railroad cars, are due tonight from Chippewa Falls, Wis. The shows will be on at once set up on the carnival grounds at Fifteenth street and Capitol avenue, and precisely at 1 o'clock Wednesday afternoon, the gates of the grounds will be swung wide to admit the thousands of merry-makers who will swarm through the stiles. The grounds will be open every day from 1 to 11 p. m., except Sunday. There are 25 shows in the bookings this season and Omaha has the word of J. D. Weaver, secretary of Ak-Sar-Ben, that the shows will be better than ever, because he went to Michigan to look them over before he closed the Omaha contract. Ben Kennedy and his shows have been here before and his reputation as an amusement caterer is well known here.

Big Parades.

Emphasis is again placed on the electrical pagant which will be presented on Wednesday evening, October 1, the theme being "Famous Love Stories." Gus Renze, chief artificer, is busy at the Den putting the finishing touches on the floats which will be a revelation of artistic achievement. The first float will be a genuine surprise, it is promised.

Annual Ball.

Friday evening, October 3, is the date of the annual Ak-Sar-Ben ball, which has taken its place as a classic event, and being an occasion which has grown to be of state-wide importance.

"Dago Red," Police Allege Saved Lives of Two Men

Too much "dago red" police say was responsible for the poor marksmanship of Pete Cankazich, 2917 R street, Sunday afternoon when it is alleged he fired five shots at Guy Melek, and Mullah Myruhobich both living in 2813 R street following an argument over a card game.

The intended victims of the gunman are alleged to have taken away his gun and used it to beat him over the head.

Police arrested the trio following the fracas in 2813 R street. Cankazich was charged with shooting with attempt to kill and the other two men with being drunk and disturbing the peace.

BOLSHEVIK GIRL LYNCHED BY MOB; KICK DEAD BODY

Signer of Death Warrants in Minsk Torn to Pieces on Way to Jail.

Minsk, Sept. 21.—The bolsheviks are no longer popular here. "To a dog's death!" These words, spoken by a woman as she kicked the dead body of the secretary of the soviet as it still lay in the street where the man had been shot by Polish soldiers, express the bitter hatred of the people for bolshevism.

The woman, who was president of the local "extraordinary tribunal for combating counter-revolution," who signed death warrants for the miserable persons who were executed almost daily, was literally torn to pieces by a mob while she was being taken through the streets toward the jail.

In addition to those killed, some 3,000 were deported to Kolobruisk and Smolensk.

The peasants become rich by the sale of their produce. Their chief grievance was that their money could not buy the things they want, for the simple reason that these things do not exist, as the manufacturing industry has broken down from lack of transport, coal and raw materials.

Bomb Thrown in Carriage Injures Russian Generals

Tiflis, Trans-Caucasia, Sept. 21.—General Buratoff, the representative in Georgia of General Denekine, the anti-Bolshevik leader in South Russia, was severely wounded and the Georgian general Odesledized in injured by the explosion of a bomb thrown into General Buratoff's automobile.
