SELECTION OF REFEREE CAUSES MAT DISPUTE

Pesk and Londos Unable to Agree on Referee and Promoter May Name One.

A dispute has arisen between John Pesk—rather his manager, Mart Slattery—and Jim Londos as to who shall referee the Pesk-Londos wrestling match which will take place at the Auditorium October 2.

Slattery and Londos have been wrangling over this question of a referee for a week. Neither apparently seems willing to sanction the appointment of a man suggested by the other. Ed Smith of Chicago, Ed Cochran of Kansas City, Ernie Holmes of Omaha and Kid Graves, sports editor of The Omaha Bee, as well as one or two others, have been suggested by Slattery, but each time Londos registered an emphatic veto. The Greek champion suggested one or two outsiders and a couple of local men and this time Slattery entered the objections. If Slattery and Londos cannot agree upon a referee 48 hours before the match Jack Lewis, the promoter, will name the third man in the ring. The contract Slattery and Londos signed with Lewis contains this provision and the promoter is thanking his lucky stars he was thoughtful enough to incorporate this clause in the contract. Otherwise he might lose the match at the last moment through one or the other wrestler refusing to accept any appointment of a referee.

Creighton-Central High School Grid Teams Meet Saturday. Central high students are anxiously awaiting the opening game of the Creighton high school on Saturday afternoon at the Creighton field. The team last year met with various difficulties, and the students of the Purple and White are anxious to know the worth of the school's 1919 squad. Creighton, on the other hand, is very enthusiastic about the team, and expects a sure victory. Pete Campbell, last year's signal caller, has just about assured Coach Mulligan that he is again the man for quarterback. Young Oliver Maxwell made a heroic effort for the same position, but Campbell's experience has given him a big advantage over Maxwell. "Ezra" Logan, last year's captain, and Hob Turner will play their old positions at tackle, while Ayers and "Lank" Moser will probably play aside of Logan and Turner at guard. David Chesno, a last year's second string-man has made a snappy showing at the central position this week. "Indian" Rockwell, who has just returned from overseas, will be placed on the extremity of the eleven this season with Clement, "Swede" Anderson and Meston, a freshman, fighting for the other extremity. "Texas" Robertson has fallen into the position of fullback, with Swoboda and Willmarth as halves. The schedule this year is the best ever prepared for any Purple and White team. The reserves, under Coach Schmidt, are arranging a schedule that will keep them busy most of the season. Wilmer Beerle and Ray Medlin are showing up well on the second squad. The largest bridge ever constructed in Malaya, a 10 span affair 2,000 feet long, will be erected over a river by a railroad.
