Lillian Fitch Wrote the Ak-Sar-Ben Pageant

A Pageant of most elaborate design and setting is a surprise in store for the guests, who will attend the Ak-Sar-Ben ball, which will be held Friday evening, October 2, at the Den.

The Pageant, including the Prologue, was written by Miss Lillian Fitch of Chicago especially for the ball. Miss Fitch has had great success as an author in this line of work and her pageant "East of the Sun and West of the Moon" was staged by her for Mrs. Odgen Armour in Chicago in June. It is to be repeated at the Chicago Auditorium in October. Miss Fitch remains in Omaha, just long enough to stage the ball Pageant, and then returns to Chicago to stage "East of the Sun and West of the Moon."

The Pageant is to have as a setting, a magnificent scheme of Hindu decoration, designed by Mr. W. G. Colling.

A ballet is included, and daily rehearsals for it are being held in the ball room of the Hotel Fontenelle. Premiere dancers in the ballet are Misses Portia Swett, Frances Erenfight, Leyta Geral, and Pleasant Holyoke.

Others in the ballet include the Misses Elinor Kountze, Katherine Porter, Katherine Baxter, Mary Catherine Parmelee of Plattsmouth, Slavia Walters of Lincoln, Donna Gustin of Lincoln, Marjorie Barstow of Lincoln, Virginia Whitehead of Lincoln, Ruth Gaines, Elda Beeson, Martha Dox, Polly Robbins, Janet Nolan and Lucy Garvin.

Mr. Van Rensselaer Weds Miss Josephine Randol of Colorado

Tuesday evening at 9 o'clock, the Church of the Ascension at Salida, Colo., was the scene of a very pretty wedding when Miss Josephine Ruth Randol and Mr. Beverly Van Rensselaer of Omaha were united in marriage. The Rev. Dennis C. Lees officiated and the beautiful ring ceremony of the Episcopal church ritual was followed. As the bridal party approached the altar the Lohengrin wedding march was played by Miss Esther DeWeese, a cousin of the bride. The church was artistically decorated in rich autumnal leaves, asters and ferns intertwined about the Venetian Gothic arches. A bell of fern and sweetpeas hung from the center arch where the bride on the arm of her father, attended by Miss Alta Clarke, maid of honor; Miss Beulah Wilson, bridesmaid, was joined by the bridegroom, attended by his best man, Mr. Victor Hermanson of Omaha.

The bride was beautifully attired in a gown of chantilly lace over georgette crepe and wore a hat of white tulle with white satin streamers looped with tulle and French rose buds. She carried a shower bouquet of Ophelia roses and lilies of the valley. The maid of honor wore a gown of orchid satin and silver with tulle hat to match and carried a shower bouquet of Mrs. Ward's roses. The bridesmaid wore a gown of peach blow satin and silver with tulle hat to match and carried a shower bouquet of Lady Russell roses. The mother of the bride was attired in black net over satin and wore a bouquet of Lady Russell roses. The mother of the bridegroom wore a gown of black net over black charmeuse embroidered in turquoise and gold and edged with blue fox. A large bouquet of American Beauty roses completed her attire.

Following the ceremony, the bridal party proceeded to the home of the bride's parents where a reception was given, after which a wedding supper was served. The bridegroom's present to the bride was a dainty wrist watch. He presented his best man with a handsome gold watch and each of his ushers with a set of platinum and pearl studs and cuff links.

Mr. and Mrs. Van Rensselaer departed the same evening for a three weeks' honeymoon in California. The bride wore a traveling suit of suede velour and a hat of Lyon beaver.

Mrs. Van Rensselaer was a popular member of the younger social set of Salida, and is greatly loved
