Special Purchase of Table and Bed Linen On Sale Saturday, Union Outfitting Co.

Opportunities for Economy on Bed and Table Linens Were Never More Plentiful.

Purchase Was Made Months Ago Before the Cotton Market Had Advanced.

Scores of thrifty home-makers who keep in touch with market conditions are already evincing considerable interest in the great sale of Table Cloths, Napkins, Towels, Bed Spreads, Sheets and Pillow Cases at the Union Outfitting Co. next Saturday.

The sale brings values that may not be duplicated in a long, long time. In fact, the sale prices would be impossible if the goods had to be purchased at today's wholesale prices.

Housewives will find it profitable to go through home stocks and replace all Linens that are worn out.

The purchase includes such a large range of desirable qualities, and was so large that a greatly enlarged floor space will be required to properly handle the sale.

This sale is further evidence of the tremendous buying power of the Union Outfitting Company, located just outside of the High Rent District, where, as always, you make your own terms.

RULES SPECIAL SESSION CANNOT BE ASSEMBLED

Attorney General Says Douglas County Board Can Call Special Election to Vote Bonds.

Lincoln, Oct. 1.—(Special).—According to a ruling of the attorney general, a special session of the legislature cannot be called to pass a law permitting Douglas county to vote money to repair the court house ruined by the mob Sunday.

The attorney general's office says no such action is necessary because an act of the session of the legislature of 1913 amended by the 1919 legislature gives the county board authority to call a special election for the purpose of voting bonds.

This section of the statutes appears to limit the amount to be raised to $100,000, which, in the case of the Omaha disaster, would hardly be sufficient. However, another paragraph of the same section provides that "in a case where any bridge, or any public building, the property of any county within the state, be injured or destroyed by any person or persons wilfully or maliciously, it shall be the duty of the county board to sue for and recover such damages."

Pacific Coast Shipyards Men Go Out on Strike

San Francisco, Oct. 1.—Shipyards workers in San Francisco, Tacoma, Portland and Los Angeles struck today, following the proposed suspension of a wage agreement by the United States shipping board. The shipping board, in a later announcement, said the advanced wage might be paid if the government were not forced to meet it in any way.

The shipyard workers at Seattle did not strike. They received word from James O'Connell, vice president of the metal trades division of the American Federation of Labor, to remain at work.

The number of men on strike in the shipyards had not been determined early today.

Browne Takes Office as Railway Commissioner

Lincoln, Oct. 1.—(Special).—Back to the simple life, not on a farm, but to an office in the Bankers' Life building in Lincoln, was the road traveled Wednesday by U. G. Powell, for many years state expert with the state railway commission, and Victor E. Wilson, serving as railway commissioner, both of whom have found it necessary to leave the service of the state because of inadequate salaries paid.

They will practice commercial law under the firm name of Powell & Wilson and will take with them to their new business Miss Frances McCall, expert stenographer, who has been with the commission some time.

With the going of Commissioner Wilson comes in Thorne Browne, for the past three years secretary of the commission, but who has been appointed to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of Mr. Wilson.

The unexpired term of Mr. Wilson is three years, but Mr. Browne can only serve until the next election, when he will have to go through a political campaign.

Governor Proclaims "Educational Week"

Lincoln, Neb., Oct. 1.—(Special).—The week beginning November 3 has been designated "educational week" by Governor McKelvie, who has issued the following proclamation: "Education lies at the foundation of progress, and Nebraska has always been proud of the progress she has made through her educational institutions."

"During the war the profession of teaching was seriously affected, and the educational affairs of the state suffered greatly on account of the large number of teachers who were attracted away from the profession. From observations that I have been able to make, I am thoroughly convinced that the changes and reforms which are imminent with reference to our educational system and the teaching profession are subjects that should command the immediate and thoughtful attention of all of the people of the state."

"Therefore, in order that these facts may be emphasized, I desire to designate the week beginning November 3 as 'educational week,' to be observed throughout all the state."

Gov. McKelvie Denies Report Published In Omaha Newspaper

Lincoln, Neb., Oct. 1.—(Special).—Governor McKelvie has returned from Omaha, where he went to investigate the damages wrought by the riot last Sunday night and to get a first-hand view of the situation.

He denies emphatically that he went away, as charged by an Omaha democratic paper, to avoid responsibility in case trouble should come, but says that, on the other hand, he offered the services of the law enforcement body if the authorities there deemed it necessary. He went to North Platte Saturday to speak at a county fair, and had a similar date there today, and between the two dates he accepted an invitation to go on a hunt out in the hills.

He effectually settled the controversy of who was responsible for taking action with the War department to get the federal troops into Omaha claimed by several different individuals, and told reporters for the newspapers that General Wood, in a speech at Omaha yesterday, said that the order had been issued at the request of the governor's office in Lincoln. He commended the lieutenant governor for taking the action he did in his absence.

WOMAN VICTIM OF RIOTS TELLS HOW SHE WAS WOUNDED

Mrs. George Welburn Struck by Bullet as Crowd Chases Negro.

The only woman known to have been shot during the riots Sunday night, was Mrs. George Welburn, 2502 North Fifteenth street.

She suffered a flesh wound in her right ankle when struck by a bullet while she was walking on Douglas street at the time that H. J. Hykkel, who died Tuesday, was shot.

Mrs. Welburn reported to the police that she was walking west on Douglas street and that a crowd was chasing a negro east on Douglas. She related that Hykkel fell in front of her and that just as she was turning to seek a place of safety, a bullet struck her.

Youths were shooting at the fleeing negro, according to Mrs. Welburn. After she was shot she went into the lobby of Courtney's store and was taken to her home in an automobile by a stranger whose name she did not learn.

Mrs. Welburn's condition is not serious. The ligaments of her ankle were torn. The body of H. J. Hykkel, No. 7, Estabrook apartments, who died Tuesday from a bullet wound in the abdomen received during the riot, will be buried this morning at 10. Funeral services will be held at St. Philomena's church, Tenth and Williams streets.

Following a dying statement said to have been made by Hykkel that he was shot by a negro, who was attempting to escape the mob at Seventeenth and Douglas streets, detectives are investigating the report. Hykkel's relatives are making a canvass of hospitals in the hope of finding a wounded man said to have seen the unidentified negro fire the shot.

David E. Thompson, former Nebraskan and well known capitalist, now residing in Los Angeles, Cal., has filed suit for divorce from his girl wife, Nora F. Trousdale Thompson, in the superior court of that city, according to advices received in Omaha.

The marriage of Miss Trousdale and Mr. Thompson, in 1914, when his bride was but 18 years old, caused a stir in the society circles of the state. Honeymoon to England, which occurred at the home of the bride's parents, the couple made a trip to England, where Mr. Thompson maintained a summer home. Returning shortly after the outbreak of the world war, the couple made their home in Lincoln, Neb., where Mr. Thompson had large business interests, but shortly after removal to the Pacific coast.

Mr. Thompson, however, retained his business interests in Lincoln until about a year ago. After their removal to the coast a son was born to the couple.

Mr. Thompson for several years was one of the active republican leaders of the United States. In 1902 he was appointed envoy extraordinary and minister plenipotentiary to Brazil, where he served in that capacity until 1905. On January 10, 1905, he was made ambassador to that country and remained in that position more than a year. In 1906 he was appointed as ambassador to Mexico and served there for three years, retiring from public life at that time.

Headed Mexican Road. Upon retiring from office he was made president of the Pan-American railroad of Mexico, of which he was primarily responsible for building.

The nature of the charges made by Mr. Thompson in his action for divorce have not been divulged.
