CINCINNATI WINS FOURTH GAME BY BLANKING SOX

Score is 2-0 and, Although Cicotte Pitches Well, Fails Twice at Crucial Moments.

(Continued From Page One.) Gary Herrmann is offering his loyal following in Cincinnati. In the opinion of those who claim to be able to read the psychic reflexes of diamond athletes, that aviator will lead a lonesome life if he waits for J. Ring.

Looks Like Snow Storm. The day had been hot up to the very moment that the announcer, having parked himself on second base, announced with marked formality, that Mr. Nallin, Mr. Quigley, Mr. Evans and Mr. Rigler would do the umpiring and a vendor was shouting that "you couldn't tell the umpires without a program," but at that moment, as if some one had opened an ice box, there was a cold blast which remained throughout the rest of the day and spectators quickly hustled into their coats, and refastened their collars.

One-Three in Sox Half. It was one-two-three in the Sox half also, with Ring showing a world of speed which kept the locals popping them up so fast that it looked dangerous for the aviator who rattled went far from the field.

Three Reds Fly Out. In the second, Cicotte's twisters could not be kept on the ground. Roush, Duncan and Kopf flying out in order. In their half the Sox appeared more threatening than at any other period.

Another Opportunity Comes. The next opportunity came in the succeeding round. Lichold lined to right along the foul line, but Neale by a magnificent run captured it with a catch which was sheer banditry.

Win in Fifth Inning. The story of the Red victory belongs to the fifth inning alone. In no other round did they get a runner past first.

Final Score 2-0. Goggles for horses have been invented to protect their eyes from dust.

Reds Do It Again.

Though Cicotte Loses, Pitched Steady Ball.

Chicago, Oct. 4.—Even though Eddie Cicotte was the losing pitcher in today's world series contest, the analysis of balls and strikes showed him far steadier than Jimmie Ring, his successful Cincinnati opponent.

Chicago, Oct. 4.—Even though Eddie Cicotte was the losing pitcher in today's world series contest, the analysis of balls and strikes showed him far steadier than Jimmie Ring, his successful Cincinnati opponent.

In called balls, moreover, Cicotte was away ahead. Umpire Nallin thought Eddie missed the plate 27 times, but he picked 44 of Ring's bad ones.

Cicotte's best innings were the eighth and ninth, in each of which he pitched only seven times. His worst was the fifth when he hurled 18 times and made his two fielding errors.

Ring's best round was the fourth, when three strikes, one ball, two flies and one foul over the stand disposed of Cicotte. His worst was the second inning, when he threw 13 balls and six strikes and was fanned for two flies, two grounders and a foul.

Chicago, Oct. 4.—The fifth game of the series is scheduled for Comiskey park tomorrow. Then the teams will return to Cincinnati for the sixth contest Monday.

Although a score of arrests were made at the base ball park and in hotel lobbies, ticket speculators continued to do a thriving business.

Morris Rath, the Reds' second baseman, played a sparkling game. With the bases filled in the second round, Rath scooped up Cicotte's grounder, retiring the side.

"Kid" Gleason, manager of the Sox, wearing his cap on the side of his head, was in evidence on third base coaching line.

Schalk, the Sox catcher, brought the crowd to its feet when he picked Groh's foul fly out of a field box.

The crowd stood up and stretched at the start of the "lucky" seventh, but the yells for Sox runs were fruitless.

When the eighth opened the crowd in the left field bleachers started a minor "snowstorm" by tearing program into bits and scattering the pieces to the wind, which carried them over the playing field.

"TWO AND THREE" "PUTTING THE NEXT ONE OVER" WITH "BUGS" DAER

CINCINNATI is one big asylum with the keepers acting just like the patients. The town is nuts with base ball. They ought to label the burg Cincinnati.

Everybody is eating, sleeping and drinking base ball. This is the first year they haven't smelled it.

The town's premier astronomer spent last night slanting at the moon to see whether it had a Spalding label on it. Street car conductors throw collected nickles into the air and catch 'em like outfielders.

Rueher is the municipal pet. Crowds gave him money, cigars and receipts for making red eye out of gasoline and camphor balls.

Impossible to have horned a needle into the ball park unless you folded it up. Forty thousand birds chirped 'emselves bewlegged.

Mayor of Cincinnati breathed much looser when he piped the score. Since Omaha started the fad, a mayor's life ain't worth a beer check.

Got a good crowd without playing a double-header. Guy came on here from Washington, D. C., to see what a world series is like.

Old Jake Daubert, with nine base ball toes in the grave and the other one amputated, collected three singles and scored a run in the first game.

After catching the union number of flies, Roush joined the scabs and caught six more—eight in all. He was entitled to supper.

team lined up for a punt, Captain Dobson standing erect with his legs apart. Howarth passed the ball. By some unlucky circumstance the ball missed the hands of their intended receiver altogether and passing through Dobson's legs passed over the goal line.

WILLIAMS LIKELY TO PITCH FOR SOX IN TODAY'S GAME

Rueher Will Probably Oppose Him—Gleason Not Apparent As Yet Downhearted.

Chicago, Oct. 4.—Walter Rueher, who pitched Cincinnati to a 9 to 1 victory in the first game of the series, and "Lefty" Williams, the Sox southpaw, probably will be the opposing pitchers in the fifth game of the series tomorrow.

The opening contest today will start promptly at 2 o'clock, and if weather conditions are favorable, one of the largest crowds that has yet attended the games at Rourke park is expected to be on deck and cheer the individual favorites.

Local fans have long hoped for a game between these two teams, since they are evenly matched and each claims to be superior to the other.

After completed present plans, which were completed Friday, a seven-game series will be played to determine the championship. It is expected to play another double-header next Sunday, two more games on Sunday, October 19, and the seventh and final game, if necessary, on Sunday, October 26.

Both Teams Confident. However, followers of both teams predict that the series will not go the limit of seven games, but that their favorite will make it four straight.

"I may start Rueher back at the Sox tomorrow, but have two or three others to fall back on if Rueher isn't right."

"That certainly was a tough game for Cicotte to lose," said Manager Gleason. "He was so set upon winning that he was a bundle of nerves."

Both the western champs and the Packers have during the season played remarkable ball, the Murphys not losing a single game in the Greater Omaha league, of which they won the championship, and but a few games during the season, which included out-of-town contests and the games played on their eastern trip.

The Armours have met a number of crack semi-pro warriors, many of whom have played professional ball, and have given their opponents some hard tangles. They have a long string of victories to their credit.

Fans Interest Keen. It is understood that a large delegation of out-of-town base ball "bugs" will be in attendance at the double-header today, since both the Murphys and Armours are well known throughout Nebraska and Iowa and have a large following in the nearby towns.

Omaha fans will also turn out in full force to witness the games, as the fans are all anxious to see these teams perform.

Hay and Graves to Pitch. Manager Lawler announced last night that "Butch" Hay, the old stand-by, will leave them over the rubber for the Western champs in the opening contest, Harry Williams, former catcher for the Armours, doing the receiving. It was announced by Manager Otto Williams that Andy Graves, the veteran of amateur base ball, who has been the Packers' best bat this season, as in former years, will pitch for the semi-pros.

It was announced that either Pete McGuire or Everett, with the former most likely, will hurl for the Murphys in the second game, while Dyck no doubt will be Manager Williams' choice in the second battle.

The score by innings of the world's series game will be shown at the scoreboard.

Traces of copper are found over almost a third of the area of Chile.

Murphys and Armours Open Championship Series Today

Western Amateur Champions and Omaha's Representative Semi-Pro Ball Club Start Games for Omaha City Base Ball Title at Rourke Park.

BY WILLIAM O. BLOZIES. Considerable interest is centered in the championship series between the Murphy-Did-lts, class A city champs and western amateur base ball champions, and the Armours, Omaha's crack semi-pro warriors, which will be inaugurated this afternoon at Rourke park, when these two teams engage in a double-header.

The opening contest today will start promptly at 2 o'clock, and if weather conditions are favorable, one of the largest crowds that has yet attended the games at Rourke park is expected to be on deck and cheer the individual favorites.
