Dandruff Heads Become Hairless

If you want plenty of thick, beautiful, glossy, silky hair, do by all means get rid of dandruff, for it will starve your hair and ruin it if you don't. It doesn't do much good to try to brush or wash it out. The only sure way to get rid of dandruff is to dissolve it, then you destroy it entirely. To do this, get about four ounces of ordinary liquid arvon; apply it at night when retiring; use enough to moisten the scalp and rub it in gently with the finger tips. By morning, most if not all, of your dandruff will be gone, and three or four more applications will completely dissolve and entirely destroy every single sign and trace of it. You will find, too, that all itching and digging of the scalp will stop, and your hair will look and feel a hundred times better. You can get liquid arvon at any drug store. It is inexpensive and four ounces is all you will need, no matter how much dandruff you have. This simple remedy never fails.

Beautifully, Curly, Fluffy Hair—In Three Hours!

Girls, have you tried the simerine method of curling your hair? It's simply grand! Gives you the most beautiful, natural-looking curls and waves—makes the hair soft, fluffy and glossy—and nothing harmful or bothersome about it. The curls will last the longest time in spite of heat, wind or dampness. You won't have to be continually fixing and fussing with your hair. It's foolish to singe and blister and scald your tresses with a hot curling iron—and altogether unnecessary now. Liquid simerine is pleasant to use, being neither sticky nor greasy. Get a bottle from your druggist today, follow the simple directions—the first trial will make it your steadfast friend. The wavy effect appears within three hours after the application, though many prefer applying the liquid just before retiring. You will appreciate simerine equally as a dressing and hair preservative.

Coulter says he was inside the building, on the second and third floors, and was one of the few who could show badges and guns at inspection the following day.

As Many Federated Club Women as Members of Unions

Mrs. Thomas G. Winter Declares These Women Represent a Progressive Class of People Who Seek Results by Legitimate Means Only.

"There are as many women in federated clubs in America as there are men in labor unions," said Mrs. Thomas G. Winter, second vice president, General Federation of Women's Clubs, in Omaha yesterday. "These women represent a progressive class of people, who seek results by legitimate means only. They stand for advanced ideas and square methods of furthering them. They are conservative radicals." Mrs. Winter is on her way from Minneapolis, her home, to Colorado and Utah, where she will address the state conventions of federated women's clubs. She will return by way of Arkansas, Mississippi, arriving at St. Louis in time for the national council meeting there. Her home state has endorsed her for presidency of the General Federation to succeed Mrs. Josiah Evans Cowles of California, whose second term will expire with the great biennial meeting to be held at Des Moines, Ia., next spring.

Mrs. Thomas G. Winter

Asked about the Des Moines biennial, Mrs. Winter said it would be a great success. "Iowa is a unique state. There are 16,000 women there who own their own farms. These women have the qualifications which come from experience. There are 638 federated clubs in Iowa, small ones, but full of loyalty to each other. They all know and love one another in Iowa." Having served as chairman of the general federation department of literature, one would expect Mrs. Winter to possess knowledge in this field. She has something more than knowledge, for she has a vision. "We must study only those phases which relate right to the job of here and now. The literature of today merits our deepest thought, for it is the literature of a democratic period."

Some of Mrs. Winter's strongest claims are being done in the field of Americanization. Her ideas on the subject are sound and sane. She believes in Americanizing foreigners through their own people; that the approach to them should be made in natural ways, through domestic science, for example, and not in a forced manner which invites resentment. "A survey of a state or community should be made before Americanization work starts, so you will know all about the nationalities, religions, educational institutions, and in fact, all conditions, before attempting to work with the foreign peoples." Minnesota has a foreign population of 67 per cent and Mrs. Winter says with much enthusiasm that she has many very dear friends among them, especially among the Poles. Mrs. Winter holds two degrees from Wellesley college.

Tired of Being Girl, She Makes Attempt to "Turn Into a Boy"

Irene Casner, 14-year-old daughter of Mrs. Julia Casner, Twenty-fourth and Cuming streets, had an unsuccessful adventure Monday night when she attempted to change her identity by donning boy's garments and having her hair cut. She escaped from Riverview home in fear that she was going to be committed to the state industrial home for girls at Geneva. Meeting a boy in Riverview park, she related her plight and induced the boy to exchange clothes. She then proceeded to the vicinity of her own home and asked a neighbor woman to intercede with Mrs. Casner. In a few minutes a police officer called and took Miss Casner to Central police station. Between sobbing the girl said she tried to "turn into a boy." She asserted that she was tired of being a girl. The original complaint against the girl was made by her mother who said she could not keep Irene from "running around with the boys."
