"SYRUP OF FIGS" CHILD'S LAXATIVE

Look at tongue! Remove poisons from stomach, liver and bowels.

Accept "California" Syrup of Figs only—look for the name California on the package, then you are sure your child is having the best and most harmless laxative for physic for the little stomach, liver and bowels. Children love its delicious fruit taste. Full directions for child's dose on each bottle. Give it without fear.

The Quick Way to Stop a Cough

This home-made syrup does the work in a hurry. Easily prepared, and saves about $1.00. You might be surprised to know that the best thing you can use for a severe cough, is a remedy which is easily prepared at home in a few moments. It's cheap, but for prompt results it beats anything else you ever tried. Usually stops the ordinary cough or chest cold in 24 hours. Tastes pleasant, too—children like it—and it is pure and good.

Four 2 1/2 ounces of Pinex in a pint bottle; then fill it up with plain granulated sugar syrup. Or use clarified molasses, honey, or corn syrup, instead of sugar syrup, if desired. Thus you make a full pint—a family supply—but costing no more than a small bottle of ready-made cough syrup.

How to Acquire Hair Beauty

You can enjoy a delightful shampoo with very little effort and for a very trifling cost, if you get from your druggist's a package of canthox and dissolve a teaspoonful in a cup of hot water. This makes a full cup of shampoo liquid, enough so it is easy to apply it to all the hair instead of just the top of the head. Your shampoo is now ready. Just pour a little at a time on the scalp and hair until both are entirely covered by the daintily perfumed preparation that thoroughly dissolves and removes every bit of dandruff, excess oil and dirt. After rinsing the hair dries quickly with a fluffiness that makes it seem heavier than it is, and takes on a rich luster and a softness that makes arranging it a pleasure.

Cramps! Says Mrs. Frank Hagler, of Carbondale, Ill.: "I was suffering terrible cramps and pains each month. I had used many remedies but it didn't give any permanent relief. The pains came back on me just the same as before. After taking Cardui I was entirely relieved from the pains and have never been bothered with them since."

Cardui

The Woman's Tonic

WORTH KNOWING.

Fine linen with lace and embroidery is used for brassieres. Fashion still favors the combining of different materials. The new silhouette has a suggestion of roundness about it. When grating nutmeg, begin at the stem end. No holes will be in it. The bones of a roast fowl and bits of leftover flesh are full of possibilities for the next meal. Immediately upon finishing the cooking take all draughts off the kitchen range and save fuel. Delicious extract of orange or lemon is made by paring the rinds very thin and putting them into a bottle of alcohol. Save all the oiled paper which comes wrapped around bread and groceries, for it is an excellent accessory on ironing day. I keep a piece on the ironing board and run the irons over it occasionally. It gives them a smooth surface and cleans them off beautifully.

In Church

By AMY E. CAMPBELL.

I go to church with Mother 'cause She says she loves to have me there. She says my eyes are big and round, And that there's sunshine in my hair. She says I make it twice as sweet, And that I fill her heart with prayer. The people sit so very still, With sort of sleepy, stary eyes; They rustle, yawn or look through books. They look so stupid or so wise, I wonder God delights in them. When He is looking from the skies. "But Mother's eyes have little lights That make her different and dear; She often smiles down just at me, As if to say, 'I'm glad you're here.' And takes my hand so warm and snug, It makes my heart feel sort of queer. And once I told her that my church Was just the bit of bluest sky, And dancing leaves the window shows, The little window we sit by—I told her that I loved that best, And she said, 'Darling, so do I!'" —From the Toronto Globe.

Fireside Seats.

Little seats to draw up before the fire that is tenderless are tremendously suggestive of coziness. They are like grown-up hassocks, really, or else grown-up footstools, depending whether or not they are made with a wooden frame. They are covered either with leather or with some heavy upholstery stuff that harmonizes with the furnishings of your room. If there is a wooden framework that, too, matches your furnishings, for these frames are procurable in mahogany and in walnut and in oak, in any of the many finishes.

A Hard Stroke.

First ribbon clerk (after receiving a glassy stare from the girl he met on his vacation): "And she did not even speak to me. Look at the way she holds her chin up."

Second r. c. "And remember the hours you held that chin up teaching her to swim last summer."

When Traveling. In preparing a lunch for a journey bake the bread in empty baking powder cans. After slicing and spreading replace it in the cans, put on the cover and the bread will be as fresh at the end of the trip, though it may be several days, as when first packed.

Fashion's Fads.

Colored neckwear is liked. All silks are very supple. Slip-on gloves are in favor. Jet is good for another season. Velvets are striped and plaided. Veils are not especially in favor.

During a heavy rainstorm, Mrs. James R. Hopkins of Chestnut Hill, Pa., stood for two hours waving a red lantern at a dangerous curve flooded with slippery oil in the highway near her home which could not be seen by motorists in the darkness of the night.

Advice to the Lovelorn

Loves Comes Unbidden and, "To Love or Not We Are No More Free Than the Ripple to Rise and Leave the Sea."

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

A Halloween Party.

Some days we replied to an inquiry asking for suggestions for entertainment at a Halloween party. Since that time we have had numerous letters asking to have that answer repeated, and we are therefore giving it again as follows: Come dressed as ghosts. Enter by basement or back door. Have the house dimly lighted and the basement not at all. Hang a lantern or a jack-o-lantern at the entrance and let the guests stumble along as best they can to get into the reception rooms. Pin a number on each one's back. Give guests pencils and slips and let them guess the identity of their ghostly companions. Not one word shall be spoken except by the one in charge, until all have written down their guesses. Then let each unmask and check up the lists to see who has guessed the greatest number correctly. If you are having progressive games, punch the tally card of the person gaining the highest point in this first "stunt."

Pass around sheets of paper about the size of a telegram blank and have the girls write a message composed of words whose first letters spell "Halloween." The one writing the best (which means, the funniest) gets a tally mark.

Cut out a cardboard cat. Detach the tail. Blindfold girls and give each a chance to pin the tail in the right place.

Hang up apples by a string, and give each girl a minute, or two minutes, in which to get a bite. Those who get bites get tally marks.

Sit around in a dark room. Pass different objects from one to another. This will prove to be more hysterical fun than it sounds, for you can get peculiarly shaped objects and uncanny feeling ones. A piece of long, thin, coldologna, for example, feels like a snake. If you can slip in a kitten and pass it around last, you won't lack for excitement. No tally mark for this.

Supply the guests with orange paper, pins, solitaire and paste and let each one make a hat, or cap, for herself. The finest creation should draw a tally mark.

Give a prize to the one receiving greatest number of tally marks. Decorations can be suitable to the superstitions of the season—witches and black cats, cut out of paper, and pumpkins or jack-o-lanterns in abundance. Fortune telling, an ouija or planchette board would add greatly to the merriment. Let mystery and weirdness surround everything. Local stationery departments or stores will have paper novelties for sale which will help you further.

Pops, apples and pumpkin pie are appropriate and simple refreshments. Taffy pulls were a popular pastime in former days for this occasion. If you wish a two-course luncheon, serve sandwiches, salad, pumpkin pie and coffee. Hot tamales are appropriate. Baked beans and brown bread, with coffee, are often served at older people's parties on and if out without having had to resort to unlovely qualities in your own nature.

Dear Miss Fairfax, Omaha Bee: I read your "Advice to the Lovelorn" every evening and have come to you for advice. What is a breach of promise? Could a man sue his fiancée for breaking the engagement after she found out that he was not the man she could trust her future with? "WANT-TO-DO-RIGHT."

A breach of promise means breaking one's promise. This is usually applied to a promise to marry. Ordinarily people can break their engagements without danger of being sued for breach of promise. There are a few cases where such a suit is justifiable. No self-respecting person would bring such a suit without the very best of reasons. This law is most frequently resorted to by designing women who extract a promise of marriage from a money man. They get letters, or witnesses to the promise, and then either extract a sum of money from the man or sue him in the courts in case he fails to "make good."

Pearl-gray Georgette is one of the late wrinkles for lingerie. Some coats have no fastenings.

"Can You Beat the 'Profiteer?'"

Sure! There is one food that sells at slight advance in price on account of the war—so slight you will hardly feel it. One Shredded Wheat Biscuit costs you a fraction over one cent. Two of these crisp, brown little loaves served with hot milk make a warm, nourishing, satisfying meal at a cost of five or six cents. They contain all the body-building elements in the whole wheat grain—nothing wasted or thrown away. The most real food for the least money.
