WOMAN'S SECTION OF THE BEE

All women love great men
If young or old, it is in all the tales;
Young beauties love old poets who can love.

TO be one girl among 10,000 men overseas, perhaps sounds very romantic but it is decidedly lonesome," declares Miss Ruth Harl of Council Bluffs, who spoke Wednesday at the luncheon of the Woman's Press club. Miss Harl was four years overseas in the service of the French army and was stationed in Albania, the Balkans, Odessa and Paris. Her experiences have been most unique as she has served in a capacity which was never opened to any other woman. Although sent to the front as a nurse, she was made the chauffeur of the "commandant de la place," where she was in service. Such a thing as a road is unknown in Albania and mountain trails, so narrow that two people may not pass, are the only avenues of travel. Miss Harl was in Odessa after the signing of the armistice which was the only active front at that time. The troops were sent to check and drive back the bolsheviks, but did neither, says this plucky little woman. As to what a bolshevik is, Miss Harl would welcome a definition. Her only knowledge of them consists in the facts that she knows that they kill all wounded men and women and that they do not respect the Red Cross or any other kind of ambulance or hospital.

Although she did not make a speech, preferring to be "under a fire" of questions, Miss Harl told many facts concerning her varied career.

Mrs. Jacob Wuest, wife of Colonel Wuest of Fort Omaha, entertained at a tea at her quarters Wednesday afternoon. The teas are regularly given on Tuesday afternoons, but owing to the departure of Mrs. Wuest's parents, Mr. and Mrs. G. H. Strong, the affair was postponed until Wednesday.

Miss Gail Churchill of Alberton, Mont., is the guest of her sister, Mrs. H. R. Wells, and Lieutenant Wells.

Major and Mrs. W. A. Cavanaugh entertained informally at a dinner of seven covers at the Athletic club Wednesday evening.

The officers of the post are planning to give a mask party on Halloween, October 30, at the fort. It will probably be an out-of-doors affair. Large "pumpkin" jack-o-lanterns will be used to decorate the grounds and huge bonfires will make the affair seem only more weird.

Honor Clara Hart.

Mrs. W. L. Douglas and Mrs. Will Coppock entertained at a luncheon at the Athletic club Thursday in honor of Miss Clara Hart, whose marriage to Mr. Walker Williams Corbin will take place October 22. A large basket of pink roses formed the centerpiece. Covers were laid for 14 and the guests included only intimate friends of Miss Hart.

Nell Beatty a Bride

Before a bower of chrysanthemums, the loveliest of the autumn flowers, Miss Nell Beatty, daughter of Mr. W. Beatty, became the bride of Mr. Grant McFayden, son of Mr. and Mrs. Hubert McFayden, Thursday evening at the home of her mother. Rev. Father Murphy of St. Cecilia's Cathedral read the marriage lines. Only immediate relatives were present.

Miss Ruth Beatty, sister of the bride, was her only attendant. She wore a gown of taupe color panne velvet embroidered in rose and blue. A corsage of Ward roses completed her costume.

The bride was most attractive in her gown of brown panne velvet embroidered in the henna shades. She wore a beautiful corsage of orchids and lilies of the valley.

Mr. Temple McFayden, brother of the groom, acted as best man. Immediately after the ceremony, an informal reception was held, followed by supper.

The bride's traveling suit was of brown duvety with small hat to match. She also wore a short seal coat.

Mr. and Mrs. McFayden left Thursday evening for the east on their honeymoon trip. They will be at home after November 15 in Norfolk, Neb.

Saving Stockings.
When buying stockings for the family first darn them at the toes and heels for the grown-ups and for the kiddies on the knees, and when the darning cotton wears off they will still be whole. Then re-darn them once more, saving yarn and also saving extra labor, as it's much easier than when stockings are full of holes.

Heart Beats

By A. K.

Silently—
Unseen and unheard—
Love slipped through the bars
That guarded the cage
Of a girlish heart.
Eyes
Shy and strange
That haunt and dare
Leaping young blood
Rushed wildly through her veins.
Softly—
Swiftly and directly
Love consumed his captive.
All was springtime
In that life
Of tender years.
Dancing—
Laughing—
Accepting May-madness
As the gift
Of the Love God—
Hymen.
Fairies
Wafted the spirit
Hither and thither
Into dangerous ravines—
Out and away
From Reason.
All the world was a rosy
Shimmering mist of gold
And glory—
All the earth
Seemed one great Playground.
Eternity
One endless enchanting
Playday.
She knew no sin
(If she had sinned)
But loosely held
The reigns of Reason
In two dainty hands—
Love grew sullen.

Silently—
Unseen and unheard
Love slipped away—
After the madness of May.
The maid stood helpless—
Crushed and bruised
With bleeding heart
Of bitterness.
More cruel far than Death
Is Love
It maims and tortures
And leaves its
Suffering victim
Crushed and in pain.
But Time is soothing—
Ah! so soothing—
With his Karmic lotions.
Death is sad—
Love is cruel—
But Time heals all wounds
And is the great Affinity
Of Justice.

For a Might Have Been has never been.

Emmy Destinn's Cat Has Forty-Five Babies

She Admits That She Would Have Been a Spy of the Czechoslovaks.

Mme. Emmy Destinn, famous dramatic soprano, who was held prisoner on her estate in Austria, arrived in Chicago today for rehearsals of "The Masked Ball," which she will sing with the Chicago Grand Opera company in Omaha, Monday night.

Mme. Destinn told, in a mixture of French and delightfully accented English, of her experiences while she was held in her home, Castle Straz, at Neuheim, near Prague, Austria.

"The officials were very correct when they believed I would be a spy for the Czechoslovaks," she said emphatically. "I am a Czechoslovak myself, and I would have done anything for my people."

"When the officials would leave me to go out from my home I did give information to the Czechoslovak people, and I was more for my people in my country. I only open my eyes not too late."

Mos' of Time Alone.
"Did the officials bother you much?" she was asked.

"Enough, plenty," Mme. Destinn answered explosively. "But my time was free hours from a train, and I was mos' of ze time alone."

"Did you put in all of your time with music?" asked the reporter.

"Poof," said the noted singer. "I fess all ze time. All ze time I catch fess in ze Nieu river. Ze river he ces wonderful for to fess."

"You like fishing?"
Mme. Destinn's eyes lighted with the fire of true sportsmanship.

"I am craze about to fess, just craze about him," she answered. "Since I am now in ze United States I have fess in ze Croton lake in New York."

Enter the Pretty Cat.
Mme. Destinn hesitated a moment, then stepped to a suitcase, withdrew from it a picture and handed it to the reporter. It was a picture of a pretty cat.

"Zat," said Mme. Destinn, with the air of introducing a queen, "ces my Macinka."

"She ces a Bohemian lazee," the singer continued, with a twinkle in her eye, "zat she make a veree fine mozzair for ze countree." She ave 45 babies.

"What operas will you sing with the Chicago company?" Mme. Destinn was asked.

"I sing onlee Amelia een 'Ze Masked Ball,' wis ze companee en tour," she replied. "Zen I go to ze Metropolitan companee een New York for a leetle time, and zen to Europe for one gran tour. I ave already arrange. Zat 'Amelia' ces a veree on'appy woman. She ces a terrible part."

Two other famous singers, Sophie Braslau, Metropolitan Opera company, contralto, and George Baklanoff, Russian baritone, who fought for his country until wounded and discharged, have arrived. Baklanoff will sing with Bonci and Destinn in "The Masked Ball."

Simple Way To End Dandruff

There is one sure way that has never failed to remove dandruff at once, and that is to dissolve it, then you destroy it entirely. To do this, just get about four ounces of plain, common liquid arvon from any drug store (this is all you will need), apply it at night when retiring; use enough to moisten the scalp and rub it in gently with the finger tips.

By morning, most if not all, of your dandruff will be gone, and three or four more applications will completely dissolve and entirely destroy every single sign and trace of it, no matter how much dandruff you may have.

You will find all itching and digging of the scalp will stop instantly, and your hair will be fluffy, lustrous, glossy, silky and soft, and look and feel a hundred times better.
