

RINGER SAYS NO APOLOGY NEEDED FOR THE POLICE

Declares That Persons Who Took Part in Riot Should Make the Explanations.

J. Dean Ringer, police commissioner, speaking at a Kiwanis club luncheon in the Chamber of Commerce rooms yesterday, declared that he need make no explanation for the failure of the police department to stop rioting in Omaha. The people who started the riot are the ones who should explain, he said.

He offered a 40-minute sabbath for his department's failure in the great crisis, however. In substance he asserted that the unrest which brought on the riot in Omaha was nationwide, and not caused by any activity of police here, that for some reason the people of Omaha did not respect the police department as they should, hence the disastrous results when the crisis arose; and that the police might soon be in a position to cope with the present situation in Omaha.

Admits Demoralization.

"Propaganda against the police department has completely demoralized it," he declared. "The war in Europe could not have come to a victorious conclusion if newspapers had criticized the army of this country."

In his eagerness to convince his audience that his police department was blameless, Mr. Ringer referred to the latest issue of the Literary Digest, quoting an article which called attention to the lynching of four negroes in other parts of the country. Unfortunately, the article did not tell of any except the Douglas county court house being burned, but Mr. Ringer did not call attention to this.

Defines a Bootlegger.

Mr. Ringer, during his speech, gave his definition of a bootlegger. "I have been criticised for running down the small bootlegger and overlooking larger things," he said. "People wonder why no large business men are arrested for bootlegging. Any man who carries a pint on his hip while on the streets is a bootlegger. The big business men, who drink, take their liquor to their homes, where the law allows them to have it. Hence they are not arrested."

In closing, Mr. Ringer declared that he was going through on the principles of what he had started. "If I fail," he said, all right, "but my conscience will not be troubled."

City Commissioners Towl and Falconer were also guests of the Kiwanis club. They gave short talks on the progress of their departments.

News Pictures While You Wait! Telegraphed to Bee Same Day Events Take Place

Wonderful Invention Will Enable Readers of This Paper to See Portraits of Personages or Views of Incidents in Advance of Photos Sent by Slow Mail—The Bee Only Paper in Omaha to Do This.

Until now, all up-to-date papers have had to keep thousands of pictures of celebrities, statesmen, politicians, leaders of every form of human endeavor and even pictures of ships, noted airplanes and buildings, etc. in their files or "morgue" as it is called, so that in case the subject of any of these pictures is involved in the daily news, a picture can be published along with the item. Most of these pictures are never used, but they must be kept in case something might happen.

Can't Be Foreseen.

But in the great majority of cases, the news that interests people involves new faces, new objects, new events, and as these things can not be foreseen, it seldom happens that the right picture is on hand.

The Bee has a morgue containing thousands of portraits and when something happens that makes one of these pictures interesting to the public out it comes. But, like all other papers, it has hundreds on hand that are not used.

If a senator dies, if a king is assassinated, if a well-known ship is wrecked, a paper with a morgue can publish a picture along with the news. But the greater part of the time the needed pictures are never on hand till they can be mailed, and then they arrive several days after the news is old. A morgue might furnish portraits of two leading wrestlers who are to compete for a championship, but to publish a picture of the fall that won the match in the next sporting edition would be an immediate vicinity of the event.

But the invention and perfection of telephotography has made it possible for progressive papers to change all this, for pictures like the above can now be telegraphed. When new characters come into notoriety or fame, when important events happen, when accidents occur, the pictures can be telegraphed and published immediately instead of depending on the mails to get them around several days late.

The Bee will soon have news pictures telegraphed, and if the Woolworth building topples over with amazement at the idea, it will publish a picture of the catastrophe in the next issue. It will receive and publish on an average of three pictures a week, and will be the only paper in Omaha to receive pictures as well as news by telegraph.

RADICAL CHANGE IN DIPLOMATIC SERVICE URGED

Manufacturers' Export Association Suggests All Except Ambassadors Be Put Under Civil Service.

New York, Oct. 17.—Sweeping changes in the diplomatic and consular services of the United States were suggested in resolutions adopted here today at the annual convention of the American Manufacturers' Export association.

The principal resolutions called for placing the entire diplomatic and consular systems, with the exception of ambassadors and ministers, under proper civil service regulations; substantially increasing salaries; abundantly providing for living expenses and purchasing and maintaining "appropriate official residences."

It also was suggested in the resolutions, which the association plans to bring to the attention of congress, that a first secretary be permanently attached to each embassy or legation with life tenure and that applicants for minor positions be required to pass "a severe examination" in international law, history, economics and politics.

Cinder In Gob's Eye Leads to Visiting Nurse Romance

Omaha Evangel of Mercy Weds Sailor Whose Disabled Optic She Restored to Normal Condition—Cupid Busy While Obstruction Being Removed.

Mrs. Ralph Hershey, nee Annie Andrews, has resigned from the service of the Visiting Nurse association of Omaha, with which organization she has been identified as head of the infant welfare work.

The reason of her resignation is due indirectly to her ability to minister to the disabilities of adults as well as infants, and one particular ministrations of this kind resulted in her marriage a few days ago.

It is the latest romance within the ranks of Omaha nurses.

Mrs. Hershey served several evenings each week for a period of months as hospital nurse in canteen work at Union station. Fate placed her in the way of a sailor who suffered a cinder in his eye at Union station. He tried to remove the obstruction himself, but the more he tried the more pain he suffered.

Who would remove the offending cinder from the sailor's eye?

Annie Andrews, nurse, quickly responded, and in less time than it takes to tell it, she restored the disabled eye to its normal condition.

While the nurse was removing the cinder from one eye of the sailor, he used the other eye to good advantage, for he looked into a pair of blue eyes and forthwith he capitulated. He thanked his evangel of mercy, gallantly gave her his name and time did the rest.

A tiny cinder was the center of this little romance.

Mr. Hershey was 18 months in the naval service. He is now employed by an Omaha automobile firm. Mrs. Hershey came to Omaha from England. She is a brunette. Members of the Visiting Nurse association gave her a present.

Regular Habits Produce a Beautiful Complexion

Daily elimination rids the system of poisons. Women should realize that!

MANY women complain daily of their complexion, of their headaches and general ill health little realizing that the trouble is constipation. Women, too, are much more subject to such congestion than men, and much more careless of it. The result is seen in haggard, weary eyes, in sallow, pimply complexion, in lambrude, bad breath, and in that word so often used, "indisposed."

At the first sign of these symptoms the wise woman will take a laxative, and will see that the young girl and others in her care do likewise. Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin is the favorite with thousands of women because it is mild and gentle in its action and in the end trains the stomach and bowel muscles to do their work naturally without the aid of medicine.

This combination of simple laxative herbs with pepsin can be bought at any drug store for 50c and $1 a bottle, the latter for families, for it is also a very sterling first-aid in colds, fevers and other sudden ills that make it advisable to always have a bottle in the home. It is free from narcotics and safe for the tiniest baby.

In spite of the fact that Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin is the largest selling liquid laxative in the world, there being over 6 million bottles sold each year, many who need its benefits have not yet used it. If you have not, send your name and address for a free trial bottle to Dr. W. B. Caldwell, 511 Washington St., Mendota, Illinois.
