

TREATY FIGHT IN SENATE IS NEAR FINALE

Leaders Hope During Coming Week to Clear Away All Proposed Amendments to Measure.

will vote for reservations attached to the resolution of ratification which will protect the peace, safety, sovereignty and independence of the United States.
"The one object of these senators is to Americanize the treaty and they believe by so doing they will also serve the cause of general peace of the world. Whatever delay there may be in final action upon the treaty will be caused by those who are resisting the Americanization of the treaty by proper reservations—reservations at once unequivocal and effective."

Two Amendments Up.

The two amendments for equalization of voting strength in the league may be considered together though it is thought more likely that the one proposed by Senator Johnson, republican, California, to give the United States six votes in the league assembly will be taken up first. The other is by Senator Moses, republican, New Hampshire, and would prevent British dominions from sitting in the league council.

About three hours' work remains to finish the formal reading of the treaty text, and it is the purpose to take up these two amendments immediately afterward. The general prediction is that both of the proposals as well as other amendments to be offered by individual senators, later, will be defeated.

I. W. W. Disturbs Sabbath Equanimity of Meeting

Des Moines, Ia., Oct. 19.—An I. W. W., mingling shouts for the proletariat with the benediction of the pastor, marked the close of a stormy meeting of the Equality league, called to discuss the street railway situation, at the First Baptist church here Sunday afternoon.
The party was shouted down and made his disappearance amid cries from the audience of "we don't want any I. W. W.'s in Des Moines."
Another dramatic incident occurred earlier in the meeting when N. C. Mymer, deputy internal revenue collector, who had persisted in interrupting the speakers, marched down the aisle to the pulpit and, in mounting the platform, was grasped with by one of the officers of the league, when a woman's tremulous appeal for "conduct as ladies and gentlemen in the house of God" in a manner quelled the uproar during the exodus of the audience.

JAPAN DEPENDS ON WILSON TO CLINCH SHANTUNG

Uchida's Statement Relative to International Settlement at Kiaochow Opposed.

Tokio, Oct. 19.—(By The Associated Press.)—Viscount Uchida's statement early in September that Japan is considering the establishment of an international settlement at Kiaochow, instead of an exclusive Japanese settlement authorized by treaties with China, promises to be the subject of protest at the forthcoming session of the Diet by the peers affiliated with the opposition party and other radical members of the upper house. It is declared here that such a movement will be supported by prominent publicists.

The opposition is led by Baron Mitsunobu Funakoshi, who says an attempt to alter matter pledged by the treaty injures the sanctity of the treaty and the dignity of the state and demands to know the reason for this concession of the Shantung question when the Japanese delegates in Paris made no promise that an exclusive Japanese settlement would be abandoned.

Hope for Wilson's Aid.

"If the government is forced to renounce the Japanese settlement at the behest of the other powers, the aid of such constitutes interference in the internal affairs of Japan and ought and must be opposed by President Wilson, who is a great advocate of non-interference.

The interest and welfare of the nation, the opposition claims, urge the government not to abandon Japanese settlement of Kiaochow. Apparent tendency to indicate that political forces, partly composed of the opposition party and partly of military circles, are formulating a campaign against Viscount Uchida, basing the movement on a general accusation that the foreign department is not sufficiently determined in its dealings with foreign powers and particularly the United States.

May Effect Reply to U. S.

The nature of this movement is such that it may affect the composition of Japan's reply to the important note of the United States concerning Japanese co-operation as regards the trans-Siberian railway. Japan's reply to this note has not yet been forwarded. The impression exists that the government will ratify the arrangement for more effective co-operation between the military commands and the technical advisers in Siberia.

The Jiji Shimpo today says that Roland S. Morris, United States ambassador to Japan, has had frequent interviews with Viscount Uchida and a perfect understanding of the Siberian railroad management problem has been reached.

Baker, on Bay Mare, Wins 300-Mile Equine Derby

Ayer, Mass., Oct. 19.—Ramla, a 10-year-old bay mare, ridden by A. W. Harris, a Chicago baker, was announced as the winner of the 300-mile cavalry mount road test from Fort Ethan Allen, Vt. to Camp Devens, Ramla finished with a percentage of 92.9. The horse is owned by W. R. Brown of Berlin, N. H.

Kingsher, an Arab bay gelding of 8 years, ridden by Col. Frank Tompkins, was second with a percentage of 80.8, and Kheyr, another 8-year-old Arab, was third with 72.4. Judging was on the basis of 65 per cent each for speed and feed consumed and 50 per cent for condition.

Prizes were $1,000 and $500 and $250, respectively, for first, second and third. The winner received possession for one year of the United States mounted service cup. The cup will be contested for annually hereafter until one owner has won it three times, when it will go into his permanent possession.

Won't Quit Till Have to.

New York, Oct. 19.—New York brewers will stop making beer with an "illegal alcohol contents" as soon as the enforcement law of the war time prohibition act goes into effect, according to a statement issued by H. J. Schaefer, president of New York State Brewers' association. He said however, that the brewers desired an "official announcement" of the date the act is to take effect.

Walter Larson Tries to Kill Self With Gun He Takes from Friend

Walter Larson, 24 years old, 4328 Charles street, shot himself through the head at 11:55 yesterday morning. The shooting occurred in his home. He was taken to Swedish Mission hospital by the police. Attendants at the hospital said he had little chance of living. Whether he shot himself intentionally or by accident is not clear.

The bullet entered Larson's left temple and emerged through the top of his head.
O. R. Farnsworth, a fellow roomer, was present when the shooting occurred, but was not an eye witness. "Larson shot himself accidentally, I think," said Farnsworth, last night. "He was examining the gun and asking me if I would sell it to him. He was about to say something when the gun went off. I heard him say, 'I'd like to—' just before I heard the shot. That was as far as he got. He fell to the floor unconscious."

According to Mrs. Harriett Bailey, another roomer in the house, Larson said he "I am going away before he was shot, 'I am going away and I am never coming back.' The police take his statement to Mrs. Bailey to indicate that he intended to end his life.

Larson was divorced from his wife last June. According to friends, Larson has a year-old girl in St. James' Orphanage in Benson.

Mrs. Susie Larson, 2012 California street, is the injured man's mother.

Pilots Trailing Winner in Aerial Derby Rest at Control Stations

Chicago, Oct. 19.—Flyers trailing Lieut. Belvin W. Maynard, first to finish the army transcontinental airplane race, rested Sunday at Rock Island control stations they reached before sundown Saturday and made preparations for continuing the cross-country contest at sunrise Monday. Barring an accident second honors will go to Capt. J. O. Donaldson, who reached Birmingham, N. Y., only 142 miles from Mineola, N. Y., Saturday evening.

Captain Donaldson's closest competitor is Lieut. Earl H. Manzell, who spent Sunday at Rock Island, 111, 985 miles from Mineola. Capt. Lowell H. Smith and Lieut. H. E. Queens, flying westward, were at Cheyenne, Wyo., 1,005 miles from San Francisco. Close behind them was Lieut. E. C. Kiel, who spent the week-end at Sidney, Neb., 1,098 miles from the western terminus.

The rule providing that flyers who had not completed the first lap by sundown Saturday would be ineligible to make the return trip, eliminated all but 29 contestants. This number had completed the first lap, but only 11 started the return flight. Of the 11, Lieutenant Maynard finished Saturday, and Maj. Harry Smith was out of the race following the wreck of his plane at Fernley, Nev.

San Francisco, Oct. 19.—Eleven contestants who have reached the Pacific ocean in the army air race twice across the continent, devoted the week-end to preparations for their return flight to their starting place at Mineola, N. Y., but only one, Lieut. Col. H. C. Hartney, No. 41, announced definitely he would depart Monday.

WOMAN AWOWS HER LOVE FOR PASTOR-ROBBER

Gives Police Finery Minister Stole for Her After First Wife Got Divorce.

Los Angeles, Cal., Oct. 19.—A second romance in the life of Harry R. Royce, confessed minister-burglar, has been uncovered through an intercepted letter to Mrs. Irene Invals, young divorcee of San Francisco.

Royce, before turning burglar, occupied a write in Nebraska, Oklahoma and Kansas.
Royce's wife secured an uncontested divorce on grounds of desertion.
As details of one unhappy romance were pieced together, a second was revealed when Royce wrote to have sent expensive gifts of feminine finery to Mrs. Invals. These she has been obliged to turn over to the police, but her faith is unshaken.

Still Loves Him.

"I still love him and just won't believe it," she exclaimed when informed of the arrest in Los Angeles.
Their friendship had its inception in the holy cloisters of a San Francisco church, where they met at service a year ago.

A student and cultured college graduate and ordained minister, Royce paid court to Mrs. Invals, who is now awaiting her final divorce papers and has custody of a 2-year-old girl by the marriage.
Eight weeks ago Royce left San Francisco for Southern California. Then followed a flood of letters of the woman's wearing apparel which he explained were left by his sister, who died three years ago, but were designed in 1919 mode.

Driven by Poverty.
The jailed minister, in the letter to Mrs. Invals, said he was virtually forced into the life of crime by poverty and sickness. With him in prison is his nephew, Kenneth Moffitt, who is alleged to have been an accomplice.
Royce's letter of confession and love follows:
"Dear Irene: Inclosed clipping is self-explanatory. All, of course, must be off between us. You cannot marry an ex-convict or jailbird."
"Just a word of explanation due Kenneth and I have straightened out our straight until four weeks ago. He couldn't get work and I was sick and down and out. No home, no food, no money. Most everything I sent you I told the truth about. You may have to return everything I sent you so they can check things off. Police will write you in next claim for my things (only one dress, beads and lavaliers as far as I remember, stolen).
"I am truly sorry and repentant, but as usual have repented too late. I ask your forgiveness for this, my ending, and if you care to forgive me you can write me. . . . Your letter will be opened and read and then given to me.

Asks Her to Write.

"If you should wish an answer inclosed sheet of paper, envelope and stamp. I have no money and cannot get these things."
"My heart is full of love for you today. In the past when hope gave way to despair, you cheered and inspired me and made my heart glad. You were a pal through glad and sad days. You believed and loved me. I have proved unworthy of such a great love. If sister had stood by me a month ago this would not have occurred.
"I truly love you, dear heart, and would have made you the best kind of a husband, but as I have ended this, I shall plan to do so to write me. I shall prove a guilty and should the court be merciful to me I would be put out on probation.
"I may be here in the jail three months before I get a trial. If I am sent to San Quentin I would not expect to live out my term. Indeed I doubt if I shall live a year, as I am not well and the shame and remorse is about killing me. Kenneth, dear boy, will get out on probation.
"I love you, dear one, and shall to my dying day. My sweetest memories shall be of you. Good-bye, Irene. HARRY—Finis."

Mrs. Eliza Bushnell Moore Dies at Home of Daughter

Mrs. Eliza Bushnell Moore, widow of Dr. Richard Channing Moore, died at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Harry G. Jordan, yesterday. She was a pioneer of Omaha, moving here in 1868 soon after her wedding. Mrs. Moore has always been active in charitable and social work and was one of the first communicants at St. Barnabas church, of which Rev. John Williams was rector.

Mrs. Moore was born in Westbrook, Conn., and was a lineal descendant of David Bushnell, inventor of the submarine. She is survived by three daughters, Mrs. Victor White, Mrs. H. G. Jordan and Mrs. E. S. Westbrook, and one niece, Miss DeWolf.
Funeral services will be held Tuesday at 2 in the Mrs. H. G. Jordan home, 1115 South Third street, Rev. John Williams officiating. Interment will be private in Forest Lawn cemetery.

Partial Amnesty Measure Passed by French Chamber

Paris, Oct. 19.—The senate has adopted the amnesty bill, but rejected the clause passed by the chamber of deputies, providing amnesty for certain categories of deserters.
The bill, as adopted by the chamber of deputies, authorizes the liberation of a vast majority of the soldiers held for violations of military laws.
Excluded from those granted amnesty, however, are soldiers convicted of desertion in the face of the enemy and some who were convicted of especially serious cases of insubordination.

Casual Kick Discovers Drugs Worth $35,000 in Package

New York, Oct. 19.—A casual kick at a package wrapped in newspapers lying in a woodpatch near Fort Lee, resulted in police discovering $35,000 worth of drugs today. The package was turned over to federal agents, who found 155 bottles of heroin, cocaine and other drugs.

Maids, Valets and Dogs, Chief Worries of Stars

zingly creamy complexion, came up the platform, followed by her maid. She wore black and was heavily clad in richest sables.

Good to Look at.
"Rosa," called Mme. Destinova, and the stunning young woman stopped.
"A newspaper man! He wishes to see you also," said Mme. Destinova. Rosa Raisa (for it was she, who sings the title part in "Aida") stopped gracefully, shook hands and smiled ravishly. But, alas, she spoke little English and the reporter spoke no Italian except "Buon giorno." But Mme. Raisa is good to look at.

A little, stout man came along the platform, accompanied by his wife. They were Mr. and Mrs. Alessandro Bonci of Bologna, Italy. Mr. Bonci's secretary, a very dark man, wearing a wide ribbon to his eyeglasses and a large, flowing black necktie, accompanied them. There was a small dog attached to this party, also, and an important part in "Aida," the most important men in the company, proved to be a man of great politeness and graciousness.

Song Birds Excited.

The Union station was soon humming with the excited talk of the song birds in a dozen languages. A fleet of taxicabs had been ordered. One man stood head and shoulders above the crowd. He was Vittorio Arimondi, the wonderful basso, who sings important parts in both operas. A giant in stature, he has preserved his marvelous voice through more than 30 years of concert career, and it is said to be today more wonderful than ever.

Many of the singers do not speak English. Myra Sharlow, the charming contralto, who sang an important part in "The Masked Ball," acted as interpreter between several of the principals and the reporter. There was Alessandro Dolci, the handsome tenor of "Aida," who spoke volubly in Italian and, Mme. Sharlow said, was remarking that he thought America very wonderful. Dolci is quite young and not yet fat.

Watches Portmanteau.

Mme. Sharlow was also able to interpret for George Baklanoff, the Russian baritone of "The Masked Ball," who seemed much concerned for the safety of a large portmanteau which a servant was carrying, but on which he kept a watchful eye.
The taxicabs arrived and out the north door poured the singers, apparently not afraid of catching cold and spoiling their high-pitched voices in the chilly rain that was falling. The taxis whirled most of them to the Hotel Fontenelle where rooms and suites were reserved for the seven weeks ago.
The new maestro, De Angelis, who can't talk any English, has been an opera conductor in Rome for 25 years.

Great bustle and commotion reigned at the hotel, but the singers were quickly assigned to their rooms and suites. Some of the big company went to the Conant and a few to the Loyal hotel.
Need 70 "Supes."
At the Fontenelle Mme. Destinova (pardon me mean Destinova, occupied a suite of three rooms and bath. Mme. Rosa Raisa, the stunning, has a parlor, two bedrooms and bath. Mr. and Mrs. Bonci have three rooms and bath. All the principals and the maestros have similar fine apartments.

Nearly all of them have their meals served in their apartments and go out only to the concert or for automobile rides. Mr. Bonci arranged yesterday for a special room in which to rehearse certain of the arias.
Seventy men are wanted for "supes" in the operas. They are to look at only and, of course, will have no singing to do. Any man of fair appearance can be used. They are asked to report to the Auditorium or to the manager at the Hotel Fontenelle.

Candaian Falls Glean Bright to Welcome Young Prince

Niagara Falls, Oct. 19.—The Canadian Falls, enshrouded in darkness during the war, gleamed once more in the glare of powerful searchlights when the Prince of Wales, arriving here late Sunday night, pressed the button which flooded the giant cataract with magic radiance.
After spending Saturday in Hamilton the prince is housed in a hotel overlooking the falls and in his room is the same bed his father slept in when he was here.
The royal party will leave for Brantford Monday, to begin the last week of the Ontario tour.

NO ADJOURNMENT BY NOVEMBER 10 THOUGHT LIKELY

Raft of Work Faces Congress, Including Railroad Bill and Steel Strike Probe.

Washington, Oct. 19.—Pressure from administration sources for enactment of permanent railroad legislation may block the tentative plans of congressional leaders for adjournment of the extraordinary session about November 10.

Leaders were of the opinion tonight that unless consideration of the German peace treaty is expedited action by the senate on the railroad bill prior to November 10 would be impossible.
The railroad bill as completed Saturday by the senate Interstate Commerce commission is expected to be presented Tuesday or Wednesday so as to be in position for consideration immediately after ratification of the peace treaty.

Much Work to Do.

While the senate peace treaty fight continues this week, the house expects to pass the budget bill, decide the election contest of Representative Fitzgerald and P. F. Tague, both Democrats, from the Tenth Massachusetts district and take up the public land leasing bill. The house elections committee plans discussion on Friday of the ouster proceedings against Representative Victor Berger, socialist of Wisconsin.

The steel strike investigation of the senate labor committee will be reopened tomorrow, Jacob Margolis, a Pittsburgh lawyer, having been summoned for examination regarding charges of syndicalism activities on the part of Secretary Foster and other strike leaders. The committee leaders proposed to close its inquiry on Saturday.

Coal Strike on Tap.

The threatened coal strike also is promised attention in the senate. Transmission to the White House early this week of the bill to extend the food control law to punish profiteering is planned.
Hearings on the sugar shortage will be resumed tomorrow by the senate agricultural committee. The same committee also is expected to begin at an early date the inquiry offered by the senate into the grain situation.

Both senate and house military committees continue hearings this week on general military legislation. The committee chairmen hope to hear General Pershing late this week or next. Early action is expected in the senate on the house bill to extend passport restrictions; to prevent immigration of radicals and other undesirable from Europe.

Report to the senate tomorrow of the $14,000,000 deficiency appropriation bill is planned by the senate appropriations committee.

Postpone Union Talk.

Detroit, Mich., Oct. 19.—Postponement of legislative action on the proposed concordat between the Protestant Episcopal and Congregational churches until 1922 will be recommended to the house of deputies by the house of bishops in the Episcopal triennial general convention, it is announced. One hundred and one bishops voted for postponement.

Heart Disease Cause Of W. W. Astor's Death

land have been so little known to the public as William Waldorf Astor. It was said that he left America to escape the limelight which newspapers throw upon multi-millionaires.

During the first years of his residence here he established a position in the exclusive social set and entertained that circle in accordance with the most conservative British traditions. But he never attempted to become a leader in sports or politics.

No Interest in Politics.

After being raised to the peerage, Viscount Astor never took any apparent interest in the political phase of his position. It is not recalled that he ever spoke in the lords or appeared there as a legislator.
For some years he wielded political influence through his ownership of the Pall Mall Gazette, once a powerful afternoon paper, and the Observer, a leading Sunday paper. The Pall Mall Gazette had been a liberal organ until Mr. Astor bought it. Mr. Astor announced his purpose of making the Pall Mall Gazette a conservative organ, whereupon the editorial staff resigned and started the Westminster Gazette.

Mr. Astor also conducted the Pall Mall Magazine for some years, as a sort of magazine de luxe. The expense was heavy, but it was used as a vehicle for the gratification of his own literary tastes, he being a contributor of numerous articles, mostly fiction.

After the beginning of the war Mr. Astor gave up his London residence and spent most of his time in the country at Helyar Castle and on his magnificent Cliveden estate on the banks of the Thames. A year ago he took a house at Brighton.

Associates Mostly British.

Viscount Astor's association in England had been almost entirely British. He seldom appeared in the Anglo-American social set.
The British exchequer will gain an important item through the Astor estate death duties. Such duties on estates of British subjects of over £1,000,000 are 20 per cent, wherever the property is situated.

There was a newspaper report recently that Viscount Astor was dividing his American real estate among his children, but, according to the British law, such gifts must be made three years before death in order to escape estate duties.
Lord Astor's British income tax during the last period of the war had been slightly more than 50 per cent. According to gossip, his British and American taxes combined, during this period, exceeded his income.

Non-Partisan League Men to Discuss Bank's Closing

Fargo, N. D., Oct. 19.—Plans continue to go forward for the meeting here Tuesday of the Non-Partisan League to discuss the financial conditions created by the recent closing of the Scandinavian-American bank of Fargo.
Two open mass meetings will be held at the auditorium.
Among the speakers will be C. A. Lindbergh of Little Falls, Minn.; James Mahalan, St. Paul; Governor Frazier, of North Dakota; A. C. Townley, president of the National Non-Partisan League, and James N. Hagan, commissioner of agriculture.

League members in North Dakota and Minnesota have been invited to attend.

LIFE OF YOUTH SAVED BY WORK OF BOY SCOUTS

Prompt Emergency Treatment Stops Flow of Blood From Arm of Loren Davidson.

Loren Davidson, 12-year-old adopted son of Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Eaken, 627 Eighth avenue, Council Bluffs, who was accidentally shot by a companion, Russell Green, 820 Avenue B, while hunting near Mynter Springs Saturday afternoon, will be crippled for life if he lives, physicians say. The right arm was shot off below the elbow and the heavy charge of shot mangled the upper part of the right hip bone and tore away part of the lower spine.

Dr. Hennessey said last night that the boy's life was undoubtedly saved by a squad of Boy Scouts who happened to be in the vicinity. They gave first aid treatment, stopped the flow of blood from the severed artery in the arm, made a litter and carried him a mile and a quarter to meet the city ambulance.

Loren is an orphan and has been helping to make his way by working as a delivery boy for the Clark Drug company.
