ate followers of the gridiron will be in their glory next Saturday when they witness the doubleheader which will be staged at Rourke park. The Nebraska Cornhuskers will clash with the great Oklahoma eleven, while the Creighton Blue and White squad will tangle with Marquette at 1 o'clock.

This will be the first time in years that state foot ball followers will see a foot ball doubleheader, as one game was usually regarded as sufficient Preliminary games have been played, but not between such teams as will be present at Rourke park next Saturday afternoon.

One of the big features of the doubleheader is the fact that it will the first time in several years that Omaha foot ball followers have seen the Cornhuskers in action on Omaha soil. Usually the Omaha fans had to journey to Lincoln to see the Nebraska team in action.

Pleaded for Omaha Game.

The Omaha alumni of the State university and others interested in the Cornhuskers' gridiron team have pleaded for a Nebraska game in Omaha, but the ruling of the Missouri Valley conference, with which Nebraska was affiliated, prevented the Nebraska eleven playing in Omaha. Nebraska withdrew from the conference and scheduled a game with Oklahoma, to be played Reports coming from the Oklahoma camp are to the effect that the college has a strong and fast eleven and will surely run away from the Nebraska lads. Coach Benny Owens Art Dyke Shuts Murphys Out of the Oklahoma squad, is training his men to put over some tricky plays when they meet Nebraska. He is noted for his originality on forward passes.

Coach Schulte of Nebraska will also attempt to pull off some new plays and a hard fought battle is expected when they meet.

Dakota last week goes to prove that the Creighton coach has a team that will show up well this year.

The Creighton doctor told Mills Friday that Lynch and Driscoe will probably be out of the Marquette game, as the injuries they received n the South Dakota contest do not seem to heal. The coach believes that the injuries will heal before the Marquette game. "It will be a hard blow to me if I lose these two men," said Mills to the doctor. The men will probably be used in next week's game, as they told the doctor that they are not afraid of any more Men are at work at Rourke park building additional stands, as one of the biggest crowds that ever thronged into Rourke park is expected to witness this affair. It can be remembered by fans when Creighton field, one of the biggest crowds in the history of the gridiron in Omaha attended the game. The committee is preparing to handle a crowd which they estimate will be around 8,000.

ARMOUR HURLER PITCHES NO-HIT. NO-RUN GAME

-Blacksmiths Leading by Two Runs When Second Game Called Off.

Armours, 6; Murphy-Did-Its, 0.

Practically every base ball pitcher at some time in his career longs for his name to be carved in the "Base Ball Hall of Fame" for performing some great deed, but it very seldom happens that any one of them have opponent's scalp.

The defeat which the Blue and White squad administered to South ship series and against a team comhip series and against a team composed mainly of former league stars. That is just what happened yesterday afternoon at Rourke park in the first game of the double-header between the Murphy-Did-Its, city and western amateur champs, and the Armours, Omaha's semi-pros, in their fight for the city base ball title.

No Hits, No Runs.

Art Dyke, on the mound for the Armours, is the gent who performed this remarkable feat, and, as a result, kept his teammates in the running, the Packers winning by the score of 6 to 0. Dyke pitched one mercy throughout the entire contest, not issuing a pass, and 11 of them went via the strikeout route.

During the nine frames only 27 men faced him. His teammates also gave him wonderful support, making but one bobble. The Armours had their batting togs on and secured a total of 13 hits off of "Butch" Hay, the star hurler for the western champs, including a triple ov Catcher Hale and a double by

The Armours started the scoring n the initial frame, when Marty league again was victorious over the Collins reached first on Mancuso's error, took third when Hay threw wild to first and tallied on Corcoran's single. In the third Dyke started the fireworks with a double to right, was sacrificed to third by Al Graves and scored on "Butch's" wild pitch. A triple by Hale and Hemmingway's single gave the Packers another in the fourth, while singles by Corcoran, Hale and Hemningway scored another in the Veteran Conductor Praises sixth. Two more were registered in the eighth on singles by Hale, Hemmingway. Reed and Echtemier.

By their victory yesterday the Armours have still a chance at the city base ball title, and the series now stands 3 to 2 in favor of the Murphy-Did-Its. Not a Murphy player reached first base in the game against Dyke.

Manager Otto Williams, who was out of the game on account of an injury received last week, managed the team from the bench. Hemmingway, former star second baseman of Pa Rourke's team, filled that position, while Catcher Hale, also a member of Pa's team this season, played behind the bat.

Started Second Game.

On account of the remarkable showing made by Dyke in the first game, Manager Williams decided to use him in the second game. Murphys Claim Forfeit.

According to the rules of base ball, the umpire should call a halt of half an hour when rain interferes the game off when the Armour manager and players protested against playing in the rain. If the rain prevented the continuation of the game after the half hour has passed, then it would be perfectly all right to call the game off. Lawler claims Smith violated the rules of the game in this respect, and he claims a forfeit game for his team. Another feature of Dyke's pitching, which should not be overlooked, is the fact that he nearly tied "Hod" Eller's record for consecutive strike-outs. In the sixth round he whiffed all three batters and in the seventh the first two men fanned. Echtemier not caught Clair's foul, chances are that the first baseman would also have whiffed, for the western champs could not connect Championship Foot Ball Contest This Year Will Be Closest in "Big Ten" Circles for Many Years.

Chicago, Oct. 19.—With victories over Purdue and Iowa to its credit. Illinois leads the race for the westrn conference foot ball championhip, with Chicago, Wisconsin, Minnesota, Michigan and Ohio state scrambling to make the fight for the title, one of the closest in "big ten" oot ball history.

Poor generalship, ragged team play and frequent fumbles was attributed to the defeat of Northwestern. Wisconsin gave a perfect exhibition of team play and will prove a formidable foe for Illinois next Saturday.
