GRAIN MEN

Telegram to Traffic Director Alleges Proposed System a Handicap Rather Than Benefit.

The board of directors of the Omaha Grain exchange yesterday sent a telegram to C. E. Spens, traffic director of the United States railroad administration, protesting against the new order of the administration requiring individual permits to ship grain to Omaha.

The telegram follows:

"We have been advised by Omaha grain control committee that in accordance with Mr. Holden's instructions individual permit system affecting shipments inbound to this market will become effective Saturday. Every time this system has been put in effect, it has resulted in unnecessary and unreasonable delay in making shipments, without any apparent resulting benefit to the administration, the public or to shippers.

"It hampers the grain trade in the conduct of its business and has, in many cases, resulted in unfair discrimination between markets and between shippers. There is no congestion in this market, nor any prospects of any. Shortage of cars preludes any possibility of congestion, it is impossible to get enough cars to supply the demand for coarse grain and with individual permit system in effect this condition will ecome more acute.

"The early movement of corn from Nebraska will move west to Colorado, Wyoming and intermountain territory. Dealers have also sold very large amounts of corn to go from Omaha to the west, in com-petition with Sioux City and Minneapolis, and relying upon our agreement with Mr. Holden's representative, Mr. Clarity, that this obnoxious individual permit system would not be put into effect so long as there was no congestion, they expected to buy the corn to fill these contracts in Iowa and South Dako-ta in competitionwith Minneapolis and Sioux City.

"By putting in the individual perwill subject dealers in this market to heavy losses in favor of dealers in Sioux City and Minneapolis where we are advised the permit system will not be effective. Sales of new corn from Minneapolis to coast points are greatly in excess of our sales. We ask that the ef-fective date of the individual permit system in this market be postponed until the necessity arises for it. Please wire reply."
