

THE PASSING SHOW

IT isn't often that Bee readers have such an opportunity as is here presented to witness one of the "Star" shows of the year as our guest. Generally, the people of Omaha actually fight to buy tickets to see but here's a chance to see it free. Simply figure out the number of times that the word "The Passing Show" can be made from the advertisements printed on this page and submit your estimate. Prizes will be awarded as follows in the order of correctness, neatness, promptness in submitting the answer—First prize, one stage box (for 8 people.) Second and third prizes, two orchestra chairs each. Fourth, fifth and sixth prizes, two balcony seats each. All answers must be in to the Contest Editor, in care of The Bee, by Friday of this week.

"The Passing Show"

STARTING Sunday, at the Boyd Theater, "The Passing Show of 1919" will delight the eyes of Omaha theatergoers for one week.

"The Passing Show"

"The Passing Show" requires no explanation to anyone—it is known the world around for its girls, music and jollity—its appeal is universal. Full of color, youth and gaiety, it is, in truth, a spectacle that will put a new outlook on life to the most jaded disposition. Critics have remarked that "The Passing Show" gets better every year, and to those who have seen the performance in other cities, the present cast and plot is no exception to that remark. All that's new in music, in the effects that go to make up a colorful presentation, are embodied in this whirlwind performance. It really can be described in no other terms.

Thieves Steal Star's Trunk

She Makes Management Buy Another
WILL HAVE BUT ONE MAKE

Emily Miles, star of the Winter Garden attraction, the "Passing Show of 1918", is happy again. She simply refused to appear in Omaha until the manager replaced her beautiful Oshkosh Wardrobe Trunk which was stolen from her while in transit from New York. Read what she says about it:

EMILY MILES,
Who Will Have Only an Oshkosh

The Oshkosh Wardrobe Trunk, the official trunk of the Actors and Actresses Association, is without doubt the finest wardrobe trunk on the market today. It is finest in point of construction, in strength, in beauty and general utility. Those who have used it will have no other.

The Oshkosh Wardrobe Trunk is made up of five distinct layers of the finest trunk material. The outside layer is of the finest quality fibre, then three layers of basswood and another inside layer of the same quality fibre as was used on the outside.

The Omaha Trunk Factory have the exclusive agency for Omaha for this superior line of trunks as well as correspondingly superior lines of Suit Cases, Bags, and other luggage of all kinds. We are also baggage builders, equipped to make any piece of luggage to your specifications, at any time.
