

She was pensive more than melancholy, And serious more than pensive, and serene, It may be, more than either.

WOMAN'S SECTION OF THE BEE

The city learned virgin ever wed With persons of no sort of education, Or gentlemen who, though well-born and bred, Grow tired of scientific conversation.

Suffered no ill effects. In an Arkansas river town built largely on reclaimed land most of the houses had to be built on pillars four or five feet above ground. One resident with a longer head than his neighbors inclosed the space under his house with pickets and in the pen thus made he kept a drove of scrawny hogs.

CLUBBING

Registration. This is the last day for registration of those who wish to take part in the election of November 4. Election Commissioner Moorhead says registration of women has been very strong the last few days.

NOTICE. All club notices for the Sunday paper must be in the office by 5 p. m. Friday. Mail them to the club editor or call either Tyler 1000 or 3479.

her incumbency, just expired. "You seem as glad to retire from office as though you were getting out of the pen," said a friend. "Well, I am getting away from the pen, you know," came the rejoinder.

Mrs. Merrill Lectures. Mrs. Anthony French Merrill will give the first of a series of lectures entitled "The New Era" at the Blackstone Wednesday morning, November 6, the sixth and last of the series will be given on December 10.

SOCIETY

Box Parties for Foot Ball. Among those who will occupy boxes at the big foot ball games, Creighton-Marquette, Nebraska State-Oklahoma State university, at Rourke park Saturday, October 25, are:

Moral Support. Dear Miss Fairfax, Omaha Bee: I just read Blond and Brunette's letter to you. I live quite near Scotts-bluff and I certainly agree with you about inserting the period after "crazy." There are disreputable places run in connection with such places and any girl who would ever consider such a proposition should be classed as one crazy. It seems to me that if more people would use a little common sense of their own it would be a lot less trouble to you and they also, would be better off.

One box will be occupied by Nebraska State university regents, Chancellor Avery, Dean Buck and members of the university faculty. Another box will be occupied by the officials and faculty of Creighton university.

The Girl He Left Behind. Dear Miss Fairfax, Omaha Bee: Have read your answers in the People afflicted with bad breath find quick relief through Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets. The pleasant, sugar-coated tablets are taken for bad breath by all who know them.

GOLDEN HAIR.

P. S.—I hope Blond and Brunette will see this. I'd like them to know what I think of them.

Suspicious. Dear Miss Fairfax, Omaha Bee: I am a boy of 13 and in love with a girl of 17. I have been writing to and going with this girl for two years. We were going to be married once and decided to wait until we were older. Now she is writing to another boy who is away in school and sometimes goes with another boy here in town.

Yours truly, BROWN. If the girl doesn't love you, you will find it out unmistakably sooner or later, and in the meantime the very best thing you can do to encourage her to care for some other fellow is to be suspicious. Girls 17 years old have been known to change their minds about fellows, but unless you know the girl has a habit of lying, I don't see why you should doubt her word.

Brokenhearted Mother. Dear Miss Fairfax, Omaha Bee: I have been reading your advice, so I am coming to you for help. Is there a hospital in Lincoln or Omaha for poor people. I am expecting to be sick and my husband and I both work hard trying to make both ends meet. Could you give me the address of some lady doctors in Lincoln? If so, please do. Hoping to see the answer in the paper soon as possible.

A BROKENHEARTED MOTHER. Many hospitals take care of worthy people, but that is a matter

Echo to "Heart Beats"

To A. K.

The instrument, A. K., which you control Appears to be a sort of seismograph Employed upon the editorial staff To mark the agitations of the soul. Sometimes we find ambition at its goal; Again, the palpitations of a laugh; Or, it may be a living epitaph We note upon your necromantic scroll.

'Tis said that Argus had a hundred eyes, And these, transplanted on a peacock's tail, Saw only things between the earth and skies. Your hundred-pointed pen can pierce the veil Of secrecy behind the heart's disguise, Disclosing to the world its checkered scale.

Note: The author writes poetry to A. K. in appreciation of Heart Beats, and remains unknown except for the signature, "W. H."

Best most every day and now am coming to you for advice. I am an eastern boy and have a very dear friend in the east whom I dearly love. We correspond and have since I came west. Have heard that this friend is keeping company with another fellow. What would you advise? I am 20 years of age and so is she. Should I ask her to marry me or am I too young? I have a fairly good position, making about $115 per month. Do you think this sufficient for a boy to ask a girl to marry him? Thanking you in advance for any help you can give me, I am, yours truly, HEARTBROKEN. You could be engaged to the girl for a year or two, before marrying her. Twenty is young to marry, but if you and the girl really care for each other, you ought to be willing to wait a few years and in the meantime your engagement would be an inspiration to both of you. Be very sure before you declare yourself that she is really the girl you wish to marry. There is danger when one goes into a new part of the country that temporary loneliness makes the former friends seem more dear than they really are.

Thank You—There are teachers who advertise themselves as rag-time teachers. They are usually of inferior ability. The fundamentals of rag-time are just the same as for classical music. Go to a good teacher and learn time, rhythm, chords and accuracy. You will learn more from a good teacher for the money expended than from one who promises short cuts and accomplishes his results by omitting essential principles.
