

ROOSEVELT IS EULOGIZED BY GENERAL WOOD

Speaking in Lincoln, Army Man Tells of the Policies of Former President.

Lincoln, Oct. 27.—Maj. Gen. Leonard Wood, as the principal speaker at the Roosevelt memorial meeting here, devoted his address largely to reminiscences of the former president's life as a political leader and as a man in military life. "In politics," said General Wood, "Roosevelt was the most dominant figure in recent history, an impelling force in civic duties, as a military man he was the most subordinate of subordinates. He believed in the strenuous life and after he had accepted the nomination for the vice presidency, thrust upon him in opposition to his wishes, he wrote me that he felt he had gone into partial retirement and taken the veil. His domestic policy was always firm, always of high standing."

General Wood referred to Roosevelt's abhorrence of bolshevism and the red flag and added that while this country had been busy putting out the fires in other countries, it had allowed a great deal of smoke to accumulate in its own cellar. The bolshevistic element in this country, he continued, was small, but very dangerous. He then cited recent outbreaks in Omaha, Gary, Ind., and elsewhere.

State Troops On Hand To Quell Street Car Riots In Knoxville

Knoxville, Tenn., Oct. 27.—With state troops prepared to quell any renewed rioting, street railway officials announced today they would endeavor to continue service with nonunion men, resumption of which yesterday after eight days' idleness due to a strike, resulted in intermittent clashes throughout the day. Perhaps the most artistic booth is the Advo Jell of McCord & Brady. Here the Advo Jell is so molded and arranged that at first glimpse the booth appears to be decorated with colored marble, which, in fact, is Advo Jell of different hues and shapes with the Goddess of Liberty crowning the picture.

Mystery of Voting Explained to Women; Discuss Board Issues

"Ladies! Ladies!" chided Mrs. Draper Smith, presiding yesterday afternoon at a meeting of the Omaha Woman's club in the Young Woman's Christian association hall. Mrs. Smith was chiding because she had just asked the club three questions regarding voting and no woman present could answer. The questions were: "How long must you have lived in the state to be entitled to vote? How long in the county? How long in the precinct?"

Mrs. Smith, after chiding, told her hearers that they must live in the state six months, in the county 40 days and in the precinct 10 days before being entitled to vote.

General Wood Will Meet City Officials To Confer on Riots

Maj. Gen. Leonard Wood, commanding the Central department, United States army, passed through Omaha yesterday on his way from Chicago to Lincoln. During a brief stop, he stated that he expected to be in Omaha today, when he would confer with city and county officials, with respect to the local situation following the court house riot of September 28.

"The situation over at Gary was quiet when I left," said the general, as he raised a napkin to his chin in the dining car.

"Yes," he continued, "I am still of the opinion that the Reds took advantage of the occasion here in Omaha at the time of the court house riot. I believe that they distributed the whisky. The evidence of Red activities in Gary was convincing."

"How is Omaha by this time?" he asked Acting Mayor Ure, "and when do you expect Mayor Smith back?"

"We expect the mayor back next Saturday," Mr. Ure replied. "The general agreed to attend a dinner at noon today at the Omaha Athletic club."
