GOODIES AT THE Reception Tonight to FOOD SHOW PACK VARIOUS BOOTHS

All Records Broke With 4,000 People in Auditorium-Council Bluffs Night Tonight.

Another record was broken at the food show at the Auditorium last night when over 4,000 people passed through the doors before 9 and kept arriving until after 10.

For the first time since the show has opened every exhibitor had more than could be done with the help at hand. The crowd was in a happy boosting mood. The orchestra was cheered and the vocal solos of Miss Williams were thoroughly appeciated.

The crowd was a decidedly mixed one, with families predominating, mothers and fathers acting as pack for the youngsters, who wanted all the souvenirs in sight. Demonstrators who were passing out tastes of their wares were nearworked to death, and it is estimated that 1,000 pancakes disappeared in two hours.

Bluffs Event Tonight. Wednesday night will be the big night, with the Council Bluffs contingent present in force.

President S. T. Attee and Secretary Huntington of the Council Bluffs association will deliver speeches during the evening and a few special stunts will be pulled of: at the country store, which is always headquarters for the young couples seeking a week's provisions. Wednesday afternoon and night

Miss Williams will sing a medley arranged for her from the arias in Carmen, the Chocolate Soldier, Faust's Flower Song, Ill Trovatore nd the finale of the sextet from Lucia, completing her program with "I Know What It Means to Be Lonesome" and "If I Could Live to Love You.

The pork and beef and veal ingredients are carefully spiced with just the right amount of seasoning to give the proper bite, and behold the old-fashloned sausage of farm visit days. Eat More Bread.

"The people of America should eat more bread," says P. F. Petersen of Peterson & Pegau company, makers of Hard Roll bread.

"The time is approaching when homemade bread will be a thing of the past, as the ordinary housewife is too busy a person to bake bread whose gross cost is double that of a standard bakery product. The American people have always had white bread, so have never realized its full food value. The sooner America awakes to bread's value as a food, the sooner the cost of other food articles will drop.

Photoplay theater managers in Omaha give more careful study to the pictures they show than film imagine. Special "screenings" are frequently given three and four times for their benefit before they decide the picture is of a style and character their patrons want to see and before they lease it for a run at their house.

Such watchfulness on the part o the picture leasors goes far in advertising Omaha as a good show town and has billed it the best movie city in the central west.
