The mayor, on previous occasions, has expressed himself strongly in favor of civil service.

This new ordinance was brought up for consideration by the city council committee of the whole Monday morning when Mr. Ringer urged that it be recommended for passage, but the council decided to hold it over until the mayor should return. It will be called up for discussion next Monday morning.

Visits the C. of C.

Mayor Smith quietly entered the dining room in the Chamber of Commerce yesterday and seated himseif at a side table.

He was soon spied by the crowd of diners which thronged the room, all of whom rose simultaneously and applauded him.

Members of the executive com mittee, then in session, advanced for about 45 minutes, listening to words of welcome and congratulations from members of the board.

Chicago Grand and Provisions. Chicago, Nov. 4.—Corn reacted some-what ioday from the 10 cent advance which had taken place in the preceding two sessions. Values closed unsettled, 4 to 1 cent net lower, with December $1.35%. Oats finished % to % cents down, and provisions varying from 17 cents decline to 5 cents advance. General selling carried the corn mar-ket sharply down at the opening, and temporarily there was a notable absence of any real support for prices. Most of the Initial selling was based on a prev-alent opinion that something of a set-back would bo natural after the sudden big advance. Besides the hog market had weakened and weather conditions were more favorable for work in the fields, and for maturing the crop. Pre-dictions of a larger supply of cars tended also to handicap the buils. Later, how-ever sentiment changed to a consider-able degree owing to signs that the amount of corn available for immediate use was too scanty to satisfy current demands. The nearer-by options were conspicuous in the rallies which followed. Increased rural offerings made oats relatively weaker than corn. Provisions averaged lower chiefly as a result of downturns in the hog market. Streng interests, though, were buyers of lard.
