

WOMAN'S SECTION OF THE BEE

CLUB DOM

Omaha Drama League.

A prophet, or message bearer, is frequently unrecognized or unappreciated in his own country, says the old proverb in effect. Omaha, with her western freshness and originality, brings forth the exception which establishes the rule. It comes in no less a personage than Miss Kate McHugh. From small, intimate groups which confer at her own home, to the splendid audiences of the Drama League, along the entire gamut of cultural programs in this city, she is so well known as to be an institution. "Keen-minded," "clever," "rare sense of humor," are expressions one hears of her at every hand.

It is no wonder, then, that Mrs. H. H. Baldrige, who speaks for the Drama League, says, "We are so glad Miss McHugh is going to read for us at 4 o'clock next Monday afternoon at the Blackstone hotel. Her readings will be from Dunsany, and in the opinion of Drama League members, will open the way for a far greater understanding of the Irish playwright, who is scheduled to appear in Omaha November 15. "The Silk Hat" and "Glittering Gate" are two of Miss McHugh's selections. She will include also several war sketches and extracts from "The Block of Wonder."

Mrs. Baldrige announces further that Lady Dunsany has been invited here with her husband and a reception planned for her in case she comes. Lady Dunsany has replied that if she accompanies her husband this fall, Omaha will certainly be included in her itinerary and the invitation gladly accepted.

Omaha Woman's Club.

The new year books of the Omaha Woman's club were distributed to members at the meeting Monday afternoon. The eagerness with which the attractive booklets were sought indicates their value to working club women. They contain the names of officers, committee chairmen, department representatives, standing committees, state and general federation officials, club members with addresses, deceased members, past presidents, the constitution and bylaws, standing rules, a resume of the work last year, outline of departmental study, club calendar and special notices.

Princess of Pless Has Divorced German Husband.

The Princess of Pless, formerly Miss Daisy Cornwallis-Wet, who recently divorced her titled German husband, has returned to London, according to a report from that city. The report states that the princess, who was famous internationally as a beauty, has aged considerably. She is at present staying with her sister, the Duchess of Westminster, at Newlands, England.

In China, a girl who is partaking of the last meal she will eat in her father's house, previous to her marriage, sits at the table with her parents and brothers; but she must eat no more than half the bowl of rice set before her, else the departure will be followed by a continual scarcity in the domicile she is leaving.

The Telephone Girl

The telephone girl sits in her chair And listens to voices from everywhere.

She hears all the gossip, She hears all the news, She knows who is happy And who has the blues; She knows all our sorrows, She knows all our joys, She knows every girl who is chasing boys;

She knows of our troubles, She knows of our strife, She knows every man who talks mean to his wife; She knows every time we are out with the boys. She hears the excuse each fellow employs.

She knows every woman with a dark past, She knows every man is inclined to be "fast";

In fact there's a secret beneath each saucy curl

Of that quiet, demure telephone girl.

If the telephone girl told all that she knows, It would turn half our friends into bitter foes;

She could sow a small wind that would soon be a gale, Engage us in trouble and land us in jail;

She could get all our churches mixed up in a fight, And turn all our days into sorrowing night;

In fact, she could keep the whole town in a stew If she'd tell a tenth of the things that she knew.

Oh! brother, now don't it make you a head whir!

When you think what you owe to the telephone girl!

Fall Fashions

Paris.—(Special to The Bee.)—Printed materials, mostly foulards are predicted for spring. One house stresses a continuance of Venetian Byzantine influence for evening gowns, and includes in their prophecy styles from Italian renaissance period.

Other houses, following Poiret's lead, are concentrating on Morocco as a style source. The extremes of the present day are deplored so by some Parisians, who believe that good taste will eventually prevail and are anxious that the rank and file of French women will not be judged by the indiscretions of dress of comparatively small coterie.

Burmese Divorce.

If the Burmese husband and wife come to the conclusion that they are not suited for each other their procedure of divorce is simple and direct. The wife does not go to her lawyer, but to the tallow-chandler. From him she obtains two little candles. These two she brings home, and she and her husband sit down on the floor, placing the candles between them. One candle represents the husband, one the wife. They are lighted at the same moment, and the owner of the one which goes out first leaves the house, taking only his or her clothes, while the owner of the more enduring candle remains also the owner of the house and all that it contains.

The Best Cough Syrup is Home-made.

Here's an easy way to cure it, and yet have the best cough remedy you ever tried.

You've probably heard of this well-known plan of making cough syrup at home. But have you ever used it? When you do, you will understand why thousands of families, the world over, feel that they could hardly keep house without it. It's simple and cheap, but the way it takes hold of a cough will quickly earn it a permanent place in your home.

Into a pint bottle, pour 2½ ounces of Pinex; then add plain granulated sugar syrup to fill up the pint. Or, if desired, use clarified molasses, honey, or corn syrup instead of sugar syrup. Either way, it tastes good, never spoils, and gives you a full pint of better cough remedy than you could buy ready-made for three times its cost.

It is really wonderful how quickly this home-made remedy conquers a cough—usually in 24 hours or less. It seems to penetrate through every air passage, loosens a dry, hoarse or tight cough, lifts the phlegm, heals the membranes, and gives almost immediate relief. Splendid for throat tickle, hoarseness, croup, bronchitis and bronchial asthma.
