

SAYS LIGHT VOTE AT ELECTION WAS WORSE THAN RIOT

Father Reilly of Creighton Demands More Interest From Teachers and People in Public Affairs.

Rev. F. X. Reilly of Creighton university, speaking yesterday before the literature section of the Nebraska State Teachers' association in the Central high school, on the subject, "Which Classics Should Be Retained in Secondary Schools," said that there are two divisions that could be taken up in the teaching of English, either a broader and more general class or a specific and definite plan.

"Teachers are too much in the habit of teaching what they like instead of what appeals to the student," he said. "Many of the subjects go over the students' heads. Subjects that have a natural interest should be chosen.

"Unless the student enjoys the subject he is studying there will be poor results. Both the student and teacher should decide that what they are studying is the most important thing in the world. Work that fits the caliber of the student should be assigned to him."

In closing his talk Father Reilly urged that teachers, as well as the public, should take more interest in public affairs, particularly in elections.

"The small number of votes that were cast in Omaha at the election Tuesday was worse than the lynching that occurred in this city a few weeks ago. Thousands more should have gone to the polls.

"Unless more interest is shown in the elections and the public understand the policies of the different candidates they will be unable to discuss the affairs of the city and government when they are put up before the people."

Prof. O. H. Verner, of Lincoln, addressed the meeting on the "Social Meaning of Literature in the High School." Other speakers at the morning session of the literature section were John G. Neihardt, American poet of Bancroft, on "Poetry and Its Place in Education," and Lowry C. Wimberly, University of Nebraska, on "Classification by Examination of College Freshmen in English."

Dr. Homer E. House of Peru, was elected president of this section and Miss Bertha Neale of Beatrice, secretary treasurer. Ralph Noyer of Kearney, was selected as council member to the national council of English teachers.

LIQUOR THIEVES IN TWO RAIDS ON OMAHA BASEMENTS

One Successful, Others Escape Empty-Handed Under Fire.

Liquor thieves invaded two Omaha homes Wednesday night, making a successful raid on one and escaping from the other under shotgun fire.

The robbers made their getaway from the home of Henry Hiller, retired liquor merchant, 3521 Farnam street, sometime during the night, after stealing more than $500 worth of choice whiskeys and liquors, according to Mr. Hiller. Police have received no report of the theft. Entrance was gained through a basement window by means of a "jimmy," evidence showed. A heavy steel door leading into the wine cellar was forced open, Mr. Hiller said. The thieves took everything in the line of liquor except two bottles of beer, he declared.

All the liquor had been stored in Hiller's home before the state went dry, he said. The loot consisted of two cases of champagne, two cases of whisky, a case of beer and a box of assorted wines, according to Mr. Hiller.

Family Was Asleep.
The family was asleep at the time of the robbery, Mr. Hiller stated. It was not learned whether the thieves used an automobile truck as in the case of three recent robberies of liquor from the residences of Louis Nash, Charley Garvey and E. C. Goudard.

Fred Busch, 831 Pine street, believes he shot one of two unidentified burglars, escaping from his basement yesterday morning at 2:30, according to police reports.

Escaped Under Fire.
He told the police he heard a noise in his basement, got up and secured his shotgun, and when the men appeared fired at them twice. Both men escaped.

"I know I hit one of them," Busch told police.
A door leading into a wine cellar in Busch's home was "jimmied," the police report states. Several cases of whisky and wine were in the place, police have learned.

Long Line of Buyers Waits To Get Municipal Potatoes

The second sale of potatoes by the city was held with a rush at the city hall yesterday morning, with a long line of patrons waiting at the opening hour at 9. The line in the alley east of the city hall became so congested that it was divided and some of the applicants sent to the city council chamber where orders were taken.

A car of Minnesota white potatoes was sold at $1.70 per bushel within a few hours. An extra charge of 10 cents per bushel was made on all orders delivered.

Lighting Artist Paints for Teachers At Brandeis Stores

Think of having a beautiful landscape or marine scene oil painting done before your very eyes. That's what Artist G. H. Kay is doing at Brandeis Stores in the basement. He is dashing off oil colors in a way that is fascinating and draws large crowds. Several teachers from the teachers' convention were admiring onlookers.

"Say! But he's a wonder," observed one of the teachers. "Now, if I could turn out pupils as fast as he can turn out pictures I'd feel perfectly happy. And tell me, will you, why isn't a picture painted quick like that just as good as one you would pay $1,000 for? And then, too, you can say that you had seen the artist paint it."

Mr. Kay is commonly known as the "Lighting Artist." He has invented a medium to use with oil colors that is said to play an important part with the speed and ease with which he works. It is, of course, a secret, and all his paint flows onto the board with surprising ease. If you would care to see an oil painting developed before your own eyes, here's your chance.
