

OMAHA WILL BE REGULAR STOP OF GIANT BALLOON

First Trip of Dirigible to Be Made Before End of Year, Says Director of Aerial Navigation.

The first transcontinental passenger dirigible in this country, now in process of construction in New York City, will make Omaha one of its main stations on regular transcontinental flights, according to word received at the Chamber of Commerce yesterday.

Aside from being the first lighter-than-air craft to be built for passenger service in the United States, the dirigible will be the largest and most completely equipped in the world, its builders claim.

It will carry with safety and comfort 65 passengers, a crew of 15 men, one ton of mail, one ton of supplies, one ton of baggage and two tons of fuel, according to Thomas V. Farrell, one of the directors of the United States Aerial Navigation Co., who has been in communication with the Chamber of Commerce here for some time.

Nonexplosive Gas.
The great dirigible will be 385 feet long and 65 feet in diameter, will use nonexplosive gas and have an average speed of 60 miles an hour, Mr. Farrell declared in a letter which reached the chamber yesterday.

There are to be 50 state rooms consisting of two to three-room suites, 20 single drawing rooms, and 12 cabins with double upper berths.

The interior of the ship, as described by Mr. Farrell, resembles a fashionable hotel in artistic design and comfort.

Will Have a Bar.
It has an upper and lower deck, he says, a grand dining saloon, two private dining rooms, lounging rooms, electric and shower baths, observation rooms, promenade deck and a bar.

Mr. Farrell makes no explanation regarding the bar, in his letter. The time is coming, however, he says, and in the near future, when such conveniences as he mentioned will be essential to all air crafts to secure the business of the public.

The great airship will be completed in a short time, and will make a flight before the first of the year, Mr. Farrell says.

COUNCIL TO PASS ORDINANCE FOR GARBAGE GRANT

Contract Gives Henry Pollack $45,000 a Year from City.

The city council committee, of the whole yesterday recommended for passage today an ordinance which grants to Henry Pollack a five-year garbage contract, for a consideration of $45,000 per year to be paid by the city.

This matter has been held in abeyance nearly two months, pending the return of Mayor Smith. It provides that Mr. Pollack shall collect and dispose of all garbage within the city limits, according to rules and regulations as shall be prescribed by the health department.

It is also agreed that the disposal grounds shall be outside of the city. Mr. Pollack stated that he has leased a tract of land at DeBolt station, a few miles northwest of Florence, where he will operate a hog-feeding farm.

The city has been collecting garbage in its own equipment and selling it to high bidders on contract arrangements. This equipment will be sold when the Pollack contract becomes effective January 1, 1920.

City Commissioner Butler voted alone against the Pollack contract, his reason being that he is opposed to five-year contracts. He believes the city should be free three years hence to operate a reduction plant or install an incinerator system.

FIRST WARNING TO SAVE COAL IS ISSUED TO PUBLIC

Terminal Chairman Says Crisis in Omaha Not Yet Passed.

H. L. Snyder, acting president of the terminal coal committee, yesterday issued his first warning to the public of the necessity to conserve coal. The warning was not given to alarm the people, but to impress them that the possibility of a coal famine here has not passed, Mr. Snyder explained.

"By practicing economy in the use of coal I believe such a famine can be averted," said Mr. Snyder. "The crisis is not yet passed. If the mines are not running in the next 10 days, the situation will be very serious. It will be less serious if the people practice careful economy, however."

Mr. Snyder announced yesterday that a total of 410 cars of commercial coal held by the railroads had been released to consignees in Omaha since last Friday. Of this amount 234 cars went to retail dealers and public utilities for current retail consumption, and 176 cars to public utilities and manufacturing plants for steam power purposes.

Priority List Followed.
In making this release, the priority list, on which railroads, army and navy and other government institutions, state and county buildings, and public utilities are at the head, has been carefully followed, Mr. Snyder said.

As yet, however, no railroads in this section of the country have diverted any coal for their own use, according to Mr. Snyder, and coal is arriving in Omaha at the rate of 75 cars a day. Retail dealers have made no estimates of the coal which they had on hands, Mr. Snyder said.

H. J. Plumof, assistant to the federal manager of the Union Pacific railroad, said yesterday that he believed sufficient coal would be obtained from Utah mines to keep the Union Pacific trains going, without diverting any consigned coal.

Porterhouse Sold at 18 Cents a Pound Nets Strikers a Profit

Chicago, Nov. 10.—Porterhouse steak set for 18 cents a pound here today in the four meat markets established by striking butchers, who are demanding a union wage of $40 weekly. The markets were opened, union officials said, to prove that the master butchers were profiteering. The striking butchers said that in one market operated by them they made a clear profit of $547 on Saturday.

TWO ORDINANCES INSTEAD OF ONE ON RINGER PLAN

City Commissioners Agree On Salary Feature, But Want Regulating Ordinance Separate Proposition.

Police Commissioner Ringer's recent ordinance, providing for increased pay for policemen and empowering the chief of police to demote, promote or transfer members of the police department without restrictions, will be separated into two ordinances.

There is an unanimity of opinion among the city commissioners on the salary feature, but they want the regulatory features in another ordinance, and they expressed themselves accordingly during city council committee of the whole meeting yesterday.

Mr. Ringer stated that his new ordinance makes no change in the existing ordinance, on the matter of conferring upon the chief of police certain unrestricted authority. Some of the commissioners will be heard on the subject when the new ordinance is called up for discussion.

Wife of Rich Farmer Seeks Divorce and Alimony of $20,000

Mrs. Ella Cammenzind filed an amended petition for divorce from Charles Cammenzind, a wealthy

Sioux county farmer, in the Douglas county district court yesterday. She asks the court to award her $20,000 alimony. She says he has treated her cruelly and has refused to meet her overtures for a reconciliation. He and his 18-year-old daughter have refused to allow her to come to the Cammenzind farm, she alleges.

Mrs. Cammenzind first started suit a year ago, charging her husband with cruelty. He filed an answer alleging that she had not secured a divorce from her first husband when she married him. At the hearing, Judge Troup refused to grant the divorce, but gave permission for the filing of an amended petition.

Mr. Cammenzind owns 1,800 acres of Nebraska land and is worth $50,000, his wife says.
