

INTERNATIONAL TITLE MATCH IN OMAHA ON DEC. 5

World's Champion Caddock Meets Sam Clapham, English Champ, at Local Auditorium Early Next Month.

It was announced yesterday by Gene Melady, manager of Earl Caddock, the real and only world's champion heavyweight wrestler, that the title holder would make his first appearance since his return from France, where he fought the Germans to a standstill, with the U. S. army, at the Omaha auditorium. Melady will promote Caddock's return to the mat game and has signed Sam Clapham, heavyweight champion of Great Britain to meet Earl for the world's title, in a finish match, best two out of three falls, on December 5.

A long siege of training in the southern ranch lands has put Caddock in prime condition, according to a wire received by his manager last night. The champion is, at present, in Hot Springs, South Dakota. He stopped for a day or two at the springs to rest before making the final leg of the overland trip to his home at Anita, Ia., by automobile and was snowed out and unable to proceed further for a time. Training quarters were secured in Hot Springs and Earl continued the work of getting himself in condition for his return to the mat game.

In Great Shape
In his wire to Melady, Caddock says he is in great shape, weighing 190 pounds, far more than he ever weighed in his life. His work since July 5, has made practically a new man of him, he says, and he is ready now for any wrestler in the world. Taking him at his word, Melady immediately closed with the Great Britain champion, for an international championship match, on the date mentioned above. Caddock was notified by wire and will probably continue his training at the South Dakota resort.

The significance of the match, alone, will be attractive to wrestling fans all over the country. An international affair of any description, always causes great interest. An added item of interest to local fans is the fact that this will be the first test the champion has had since his return from overseas. Caddock, being the only wrestler of prominence in the great war, would probably draw a tremendous house against any mediocre performer, but risking his title in a match with the champion of a foreign country, will make him a greater drawing card than could be expected with any other wrestler.

Start Advertising at Once.
With the match already closed, Melady probably will start his advertising at once and get the advance sale of tickets under way, within a few days. As soon as followers of the game throughout the country hear they will be sending in their orders for reservations, but Melady promises that Omaha fans will be amply taken care of. The local lovers of the sport will have their chance to get tickets, before all the choice seats are disposed of. It would be advisable for Omaha and Nebraska fans in general to get aboard early and secure their seats for this match, for a host of fans who have seen Clapham in action, will be on the job to see the wonderful British wrestler in a match for the world's honors.

SURE RELIEF FROM FIERY SKIN DISEASES

Will Never Come From Salves, Ointments, or Other Local Treatment.

Usually those who continue to suffer from stubborn ailments are those who refuse absolutely to heed the teachings of medical science. New discoveries are being constantly made, and those who fail to take advantage of the wonderful accomplishments of men of science are standing in their own light, and will continue under the handicap of disease.

A million gallons of lotions, ointments, salves, or other forms of local treatment will not give any real permanent relief from skin diseases. Get this fact firmly in your mind, and there is hope for you.

If you have ever been afflicted with eczema, tetter, boils, eruptions, or other similar skin irritations you can appreciate the real terrifying discomfort that comes from these disorders. And what you are looking for is not merely temporary, palliative relief that may cause the terrible burning and itching to abate for a while, but real genuine relief that shakes off the shackles of the disease, and restores the skin to its former healthy condition.

But your eczema, tetter, boils, pimples, ache, scaly skin eruptions, and burning fiery irritations that cause so much discomfort by their terrifying itching, come from a tiny disease germ in your blood, which multiplies by the millions. These germs find some weak spot where they can break through the skin and set

MAJORS-MINORS RELATIONS ARE AGAIN RESUMED

National Association Takes Action Which Results In Old Harmony Again Existing.

Springfield, Mass., Nov. 12.—Business relations between the minor and major base ball leagues, which were strained a year ago with the abrogation of the national agreement, will be resumed, as the result of action taken by the National Association of Professional Base Ball leagues in its annual meeting. According to Secretary John H. Farrell's report, following an all-day session, the minors have decided it is best to work in harmony with the major leagues. He made no announcement as to the methods to be followed in bringing the subject before the American and National league representatives. Among other things, the new agreement would mean re-establishment of the drafts and optional agreements.

A general revision of the salary limits in the minor leagues was made. The class AA clubs were given permission to increase their monthly limit to $3,500, an increase of $1,000, while other leagues were granted proportionate increases. The request of class A clubs for one more representative on the national board of arbitration was granted by the elevation of President Daniel O'Neil of the eastern league from class B to class A, the rating which the eastern league now has. The board now consists of three class A representatives, instead of two; three class AA, and one class B members, A. B. Tarnsey of the Western league being chosen to the latter office. J. C. Ewing of Oakland, Cal., was elected vice president of the national association, to succeed A. T. Baum of San Francisco, retired. Mr. Ewing was also named a class AA representative on the arbitration board to succeed Mr. Baum.

Creighton and South Hi Elevens to Decide Secondary Honors

Friday afternoon at Creighton field, the South Omaha High school eleven will meet Creighton High to decide which team will be second in the race for the city honors. At present Central High ranks first as that school squad has defeated both of these schools.

Coach Patton is confident that his warriors will win from Coach Anderson's men. Both squads have played the right kind of ball of late and each is expected to play a good game Friday.

Today the Packers are booked to go through some strenuous practice so they will be in excellent shape for the contest. This will end the practice this week for the South Side players.

DENVER WRITER COMMENTS ON CREIGHTON

Frank Frawley Declares Local College Has Best Backfield in Missouri Valley Foot Ball.

The Denver newspapers are high in their praise of Tommy Mills' foot ball team. One of them, under the signature of Frank Frawley, says Creighton's back field is the best in the Missouri valley. Capt. Gene Leahy, according to members of the Colorado college team, Frawley says, is the best fullback the collegians have run up against this year.

Frawley takes a rub at Ole Paulsen's bald spot in the course of his comment. Frawley's article follows: "According to Captain MacTavish of the Colorado college eleven, Creighton university has the best backfield in the Missouri valley. There isn't a quarter in the Missouri Valley conference that can compare with Long, Condon, Mulholland and Captain Leahy. Leahy is the best fullback the Tigers have run up against this year. He hits the line like a bullet, and he isn't done until some one rests on his neck."

The real player of the Nebraskaans, however, is Ole Paulsen, according to MacTavish. This fellow is bald-headed, he wears no headgear, and he puffs the dust and dives at the opposing line men as though he were going to throw him to pieces. He played opposite Schweitzer during the game and the C. C. tackle had to keep his head down to keep this Father Time in a peaceful mood.

Battling Nelson's Father Dies at Age of 73 of Pneumonia

Browns Arrange to Train at Brownsville, Tex., This Year

Brownsville, Tex., Nov. 12.—Arrangements are virtually complete for the St. Louis National league team to train at Brownsville next spring, according to Branch Rickey, manager of the Cardinals.

Connie Mack of the Philadelphia Americans, who is here with Rickey, said his team would train "somewhere" on the Louisiana-Texas coast.

State Conference Games This Week Should Interest

York Champons Are Crippled and Will Have Difficulty in Staving Off Defeat by Bulldogs From Cotner University This Week.

By KARL LEE.
Lincoln, Nov. 12 (Special).—Ernie Frank's battling "Storkers" will have a task in defeating the Cotner Bulldogs in their game this week if the hope has any significance. Frank's eleven, which won the state title from Wesleyan two weeks ago, is badly cut up with the absence of several stars who left school, rumor has it.

In the Bulldog camp at Bethany, Head Coach Kline, former mentor at the University of Nebraska, is coaching his men with an object in view—to lower the haughty western city banner. Kline, contrary to statement made in last week's review, is coaching at Cotner rather than at Doane. The error was typographical.

Bethany Lauded.
Cotner's showing against the University of Nebraska freshman team at Nebraska state is the direct cause of the lauding compliment to Bethany eleven. Though Kline's backs did not score against the Uni Scrubs, they come so close to it at times that spectators all agreed that the Bulldogs were much improved.

Several stars did not play. In another division of the state argument, the Peru defeat by Doane came as a distinct surprise. Coach Speer's combination which easily defeated Kearney, 26 to 0, two weeks ago was rated as a formidable team. But the Tigers came on with a rush and crossed the Normalite goal line for the first time this season. It was Peru's second defeat.

BOWLING

By C. J. GAIN.

Midwest Tournament Notes

Entries close at midnight tonight. Those who do not get in today will have to be spectators only. The Midwest Bowling association has grown so large that they do not have to resort to the acceptance of belated entries in order that they may boost the number of entries received. The work of the schedule committee commences immediately. Association Secretary Locker will be here to aid in this difficult task. If the usual amount of last-day entries are received, this season's entry will eclipse all others. Present conservative estimates are that 100 visiting and 75 local teams will compete. Entries received today were the Godfrey Jewellers, South Side; United States Rubber company, and Stock Yards National bank, also an outside entry for team doubles and singles from Westside, Ia., a town without bowling alleys, but with plenty of enthusiasm.

Every bowler has a chance in a tournament of this kind. Walter Pierce, a Pueblo bowler, averaging around 165, won the singles of the A. B. C. tournament at Peoria in 1914, with a 711 total, the highest ever rolled in a national tournament at that time. Our own "Walley" Schoenman won the all-event championship of the Midwest tournament in Kansas City in 1913, when he was considered but a mediocre bowler and was rolling as the sixth man on the Old Saxon Braun team. In a nine-game series, any bowler who can average 150 or better, has a chance to win. Besides that, he will have the pleasure of rolling in one of the season's largest sporting events. Any bowler can get in the doubles and singles to-day. By so doing he will be placed in the team event without expense to himself.

Bowlers entered in either the doubles or singles can be placed on a five-man team without expense to themselves. There are many teams to be made up and the players entered in either the doubles or singles will be given the first choice for places on these lineups.

The Schmidts, former national champions, is another eleven-hour entry. This is one of the strongest bowling lineups and tournament teams in the country. They will be one of the tournament's main drawing cards.

Several goods rollers are looking for partners in the doubles. Secretaries Eidsen and Jarosh have the list. Any bowlers not hooked up can get a good choice of doubles partners by referring to this list.

Several outside entries have been turned back because they couldn't be placed on the schedule as requested. These are usually sent in Pivotal interest is being shown in this week's meetings. Aside from the Cotner-York clash, which may result disastrously for the much vaunted leaders, the Doane-Hastings tangle at Hastings, the Midland-Central game and the Wesleyan-Kearney game at University are also attractions. The latter game will draw a large Greater Lincoln crowd, it is expected.

Coach Beck's athletes at the Methodist institution, though decisively beaten by York are quite content to rest with second honors which, due to conditions, are looked to as first honors. The Methodist coach contests the eligibility of some York players who helped defeat his men and after the game formally severed relations with that school.

The Wesleyan eleven will fight hard in consequence to retain second place and it will have to be a much stronger team than has been representing Kearney Normal to trail the University Place colors. Kearney is known for its strong line but so is Wesleyan and more than that the Methodists have one of the fastest backfields in the state. Midland and Central will do battle.

Hasn't Won a Game.
The latter college, situated at Central City, in the heart of the Swede belt of the state, has not won a game this year. Unlike Grand Island, however, the Central lads are sticking the season out and will make one big effort to beat the Fremont college team on its own ground. Midland has been coming strong, however, though facing a record of three defeats and one victory.

During the closing weeks of the conference race, an intense interest is being shown in the "who's who" of the all-state foot ball eleven. On every side the comment is made that Nebraska state colleges have shown a brand of gridiron warfare that is second to none among secondary institutions. This is evidenced by the defeat of the University of Wyoming, 14 to 0, by Wesleyan last week.

Washington Tackle Will Not Be in Game; Brother Killed

Seattle, Wash., Nov. 12.—"Bill" Grimm, star tackle on the University of Washington foot ball team, will not play in the University of Washington-Washington State college game at Pullman, Wash., Saturday. Yesterday Grimm was called from practice and told his brother, Warren, a former player on the University of Washington star end, had been killed by I. W. W. at Centralia. He left for Centralia immediately.

From The Sporting Editor

Lack of News Complaint.

A number of letters addressed to the Sports Editor have found their way to the writer, questioning why I did not write more on the boxing game and boost this sport for Nebraska. Goshermighty, fellows, how can I write intelligently on a sport that is taboo in the state? Legalize boxing in Nebraska and I will give you the best little sport page in this section of the country.

It is rumored that another effort will be made at the next session of the legislature to have the game legalized in this state, and when that takes place, if the effort is successful, I will give my readers the best "dope" on bouts to come, bouts passed and bouts that should be arranged they have read in some time. I am constantly keeping in touch with the sport and know what the leaders in the various divisions are doing, so that my work would not be all "stale" stuff.

Even though the game is not legal in this state, Nebraska followers of boxing, Omaha fans especially, need not be without this sport altogether. Mike Gibbons is billed to box Mike O'Dowd for the middleweight championship on Friday night, November 21, and the local sportsman and booster for boxing, Gene Melady, has made it possible for Omahans to witness this great battle. Melady will have a special train for the fans, going to St. Paul to see the title mill. Already three carloads of fans have sent in reservations and Gene will be able to take care of a few more, if the orders for seats and train reservations are in his hands before Saturday noon.

Then, right here in Omaha, on government grounds, where the state authorities have no authority, at Fort Omaha, Denny Ryan, the Knights of Columbus athletic director, will stage a boxing show, with Jimmy Drexel meeting one of the leading lightweight boxers in the country, Frankie Callahan of Toledo, O. tomorrow night, November 14. With Callahan and Drexel in a 10-round mill, local fans may be assured of a rattling good scrap. Drexel and Callahan will meet at 135 pounds and as each has, at one time or another, met some of the best lightweighters in the game, the battle between them should be one worth going a long way to see.

After this outburst, which of my readers can say that I am not giving them the best news on the boxing game, that it is possible to get in this part of the country?
