MARGARET GREER BAUM is one of the Omaha girls who is most interested in the coming of Albert Spaulding, the violinist. Mr. Spaulding will appear in concert here November 17 at the Brandeis in joint recital with Sophie Braslau, contralto, under the auspices of the Tuesday Musical Club. At the time Miss Baum was abroad she spent one year in Florence, Italy. It was there that Albert Spaulding lived with his parents. The Spaulding family had a very beautiful villa and were among the most prominent people in the city. Although Mr. Spaulding had not attained his greatest success at that time, the Florentine people were very fond of him and always thronged the halls at his concerts. Miss Baum attended a number of them during her stay in Italy and says that they were most enjoyable. The opening seat sale for the concert will begin Thursday morning at 10 o'clock, box office of the Brandeis theater.

Engagement Announced.

Mr. and Mrs. Meyer Lipp announce the engagement of their daughter, Eva, to Eugene M. Konecky, son of Mr. and Mrs. Isaac Konecky. No date has been set for the wedding.

Kuene-Reida.

The marriage of Miss Carol Kuene, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. G. C. Kuene, and Mr. Frank Kelly Reida, took place Wednesday evening at the Kountze Memorial church, Rev. O. D. Baitly, officiating.

Little Henrietta Louise Kuene, niece of the bride, was flower girl and wore a frock of white. Miss Ethel Irene Piel, cousin of the bride, and maid of honor, wore hat to match and carried roses.

The bride was gowned in white crepe meteor combined with lace tulle from the wedding gown of her mother. Her tulle veil was caught to the head by a lace coronet from the trousseau of her grandmother. A shower bouquet of white roses completed her costume. Miss Marguerite Fallon sang.

Mr. Stanley H. Jack acted as best man and the ushers were Linford Lee and Chester Trimble. After a northern trip, the young couple will be at home December 1 at 1018 South Twenty-eighth street.

Entertain at Dinner.

Mr. and Mrs. Shaji Osato entertained informally at a chop dinner Tuesday evening at their home for six guests. Lavender pompons were used for table decorations.

Flower Mission Girls.

Mrs. W. W. Hoagland entertained informally at her home Wednesday for the Flower Mission girls. The members are attempting to make their group a permanent organization and a recognized charitable institution of the city. Those present were Mrs. J. E. Summers, Mrs. Lyle Rushton, the Misses English, Capri and Hazel Howard, Carita O'Brien, Olga Metz, Agnes Bushman, Bernice Johnson, Lois Robbins, Eleanor McGilton, Ruth Kinsler, Florence Deverill and Frances Tanner.

Mrs. Valk to Leave.

Mrs. Eugene Valk of Los Angeles, who has been the guest of her sister, Mrs. J. E. Davidson, and Mr. Davidson, will leave Thursday morning. Mr. Valk arrived in Omaha Wednesday from New York and with Mrs. Valk and their small daughter will leave for Los Angeles Thursday.

For Mrs. Gano.

Mr. and Mrs. John Redick entertained a party at the Athletic club, Wednesday evening in honor of Mrs. Merritt Gano, jr., who is visiting at the Will Redick home. Yellow chrysanthemums formed the centerpiece. The guests included Dr. and Mrs. Clyde Roeder, Judge and Mrs. Redick, Messrs. and Mesdames Barton Millard, Louis Clarke,

E. A. Creighton, Paul Gallagher, W. B. Roberts, Ross Towle, and Mr. Arthur Keeline and Mr. Marcus Curran.

Miss Hudson to Teach Here. Miss Vinda Hudson is a recent addition to the Omaha high school faculty. She comes from Lincoln where she has been very popular in social and educational circles. She was a member of Delta Delta Delta sorority at the University of Nebraska from which institution she was graduated several years ago. She has also studied at Columbia university.

Informal Tea.

Mrs. A. V. Kinsler entertained informally at her home Wednesday at 5 o'clock tea. Autumn flowers were used through the rooms.

Fort Omaha.

Mrs. Jacob Wuest entertained informally at her home Wednesday afternoon at Colonel Wuest's quarters at Fort Omaha. The guests included the women of the fort.

Douglas County Pioneers.

The Douglas County Association of Nebraska Pioneers will hold its regular meeting Thursday evening, November 13, at 2:30 in the county commissioners' room, Douglas county court house. Members of the association have been invited to attend the entertainment given by the old settlers and Historical society of South Omaha on the evening of November 22 in the city hall. The main feature will be a dancing contest between the old settlers of North and South Sides.

Lord Dunsany.

When Lord Dunsany comes to Omaha to address the Drama league he is to be entertained at luncheon at the Fontenelle. Honor guests at the luncheon with him will be Mr. and Mrs. Conrad Young, who are associated in a number of ways with the Irish author. The lecture will be at 3 o'clock in the Fontenelle ball room.

Marjorie Scoville, Dorothy Kavanaugh, Kathryn Thompson and Adele Plummer, students at the University of Nebraska, spend Saturday and Sunday in Omaha. J. E. Davidson and Ward Burgess left Tuesday for New York.

Miss Mabel Salmon Soon Returns to Omaha

Mabel Salmon

Miss Mabel C. Salmon, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. F. P. Salmon, Omaha, is sailing for home in November after spending 15 months as an overseas secretary of the American Young Women's Christian association. Since last April Miss Salmon has been engaged in directing hostess house work, at first associated with Miss Margaret Cook of Troy, N. Y., and on Miss Cook's departure for America assuming full charge.

Before assuming the duties of director of hostess houses, Miss Salmon had experience in the varied duties of a hostess, first at Tours, the headquarters of the S. O. S., and then at Bordeaux, where she was associated with Miss Mary Helen Post of San Jose, Cal. Prior to her overseas service Miss Salmon was active in Y. W. C. A. work. A graduate of the University of Nebraska, she was for four years physical director of the Y. W. C. A. at Springfield, Mo., and from there went to Winona, Minn., where she was general secretary of the same organization. Her work in Omaha in camps and recreation centers has established a creditable reputation for her.

In Greenland all the negotiations for a marriage are transacted between the parents of the interested parties.

Heart Beats

By A. K.

I saw one view Of the strange man's face— It was haggard And mean With the mark Of his race— I judged him vile And treacherous. But the second pose Revealed a smile Half of Heaven Half of man. A flicker of Love Came fitting o'er That face I had loathed A minute before— My judgment grew more Elastic. Then Life brought forth Another view Revealing a heart And sympathy rare For the strugglers And sufferers— Along the way To the Great Beyond— The Eternal goal. From another angle Honor shone forth— Firm decision— Determination— He was fair To all who lived. So I shuffled And juggled My many impressions— Made on the sensitive plate— My brain— And among the rare prints Lay a gorgeous mind— A grief-mellowed soul That had suffered And known. Carefully I studied them One by one— Eliminating "faults" As agreeable to me— But I could no longer judge At the snap of my finger— For God was the photographer— Infinitely wise— Whose light printed negatives Upon my brain— The evidence against Snap judgment. —SELAH.

Friendly Letters.

Dear Miss Fairfax: Other questions I have asked have been answered satisfactorily, so I thought I would ask your advice once more. My engagement has been announced and I want to know if it would be considered all right to keep up correspondence with boy friends I formerly kept company with. If they are just friendly letters from my home town, why should the young man I am engaged to object? Hoping to see this in print soon, I remain, Sincerely, PEGGY.

Poor Little Girl.

Dear Miss Fairfax, Omaha Bee: I am a girl of 32. I have went out with the boys several times and I wish to know if it is proper for me to go out car riding with boys without a chaperon?

Is it proper to ask boys in after we have been out car riding if it is later than 9 o'clock? Or if I should kiss them good night when they leave? They have asked me, but I refused, thinking I was too young. Please do not tell me to use my own advice or ask my parents, because they have both been dead for several years. Answer as soon as you can. Your loving friend, FRECKLES.

You are so young, Freckles, that I wonder your guardian consents for you to go car riding with boys, unchaperoned. It is decidedly unwise for you to go out with boys, and, as for kissing them good night—well, I see that you have the right idea. You are too young. You are only a child. Why not amuse yourself with youngsters your age? Associating with those older will only cause trouble.

Sewing Classes.

Dear Miss Fairfax, Omaha Bee: I read your advice in The Omaha Bee, so I am coming to you for some information, although it is not my love. Now Miss Fairfax, how could you help me in this line.

My chum and I have been wanting to take a course in sewing, but cannot give up our work. We thought perhaps that we could find some place where a person could take a few lessons. Now Miss Fairfax, we do not work then. Now we would like to know where in any place in Omaha that we could take this course?

Thanking you for any information that you can give, we remain, yours truly, E. S. C. S. Inquire at the Y. W. C. A. and South Side Social Settlement. Both these institutions have classes in sewing and they are free of charge.

She Loves Two.

Dear Miss Fairfax, Omaha Bee: This is a very serious problem, and I want your good advice on it. I am a girl of 19 and I'm in love with two nice young men, and it is a real question as to which one I like the best.

One of them is almost sure of my hand, and the other thinks he is really mine. I have been very carefully concealed the fact that I go with others. Neither one of these men has any bad habits, only they are a little too jealous.

Now, Miss Fairfax, I love both of these young men, but of course I can't have them both. What can I do to shake the interest of one of these men without making him hate me? NANCY.

The situation is a very grave one. For instance: If either should learn that you have been deceiving him, the result will be very bad. In my mind, time will, of course, help you determine which of the two you care most for, but in the meantime be very careful. The safest way would be to have a sensible, heart-to-heart talk with yourself and decide which one it is—then marry him.

Don't Worry.

Dear Miss Fairfax, Omaha Bee: I am 19 years of age. Is it possible for one to be in love at 19?

I met a nice young man, 22 years of age, who has been in town several years and we have had a liking for each other for about two years, but not until just lately have we been keeping company. Now Miss Fairfax, he isn't the richest boy in town and a long way from being the poorest; he is a neat, nice appearing fellow, but my parents object to my going with him. What can I do? I can't seem to get along without him and he says the same. I am going away to school soon and I want some one to come to see me and write to me. He always picks the best boys for his company, goes to church, and all around is a perfect gentleman. They tell me if I go with him I must leave home, but they won't give me any satisfactory reason for acting this way.

Please answer as soon as you can, because we are both anxious. A true friend. Thanking you again, I am, G. P.

Yes, it is possible to be in love at 19—in fact, more probable than at any other age. Your parents are unfair to forbid you the company of this young man, without a good and sufficient reason. Whoever way the wind blows you, however, don't worry. There will be many other interests to fill the gap.

Criticism and Citizenship

It is the plain, public duty of every citizen to criticize proposed government measures believed to be harmful.

Swift & Company is in a better position perhaps, than others, to understand the meat packing business in all its relations to public and private interests, even though the others may have been giving the subject a great deal of sincere attention.

Swift & Company is convinced that interference with its legitimate business function by governmental agencies, however well intentioned, would be an injury to every man, woman and child who wants meat to eat, as well as to the men who raise the meat and to those who dress and distribute it.

Maximum service that cannot monopolize because of keen competition and lack of control over sources of supply is furnished at a minimum of profit—a fraction of a cent per pound from all sources.

Therefore Swift & Company is taking every legitimate step of citizenship to prevent such interference.

These advertisements are intended to help you, and to help Congress decide what is best to be done. Mistakes are costly and apt to be harmful in these trying times.

How to use canned vegetables

Remove from the can as soon as opened. Let stand in the air one hour before preparing for the table. This improves the flavor. The vegetables are already cooked and only require heating and proper seasoning. After being removed from the can, vegetables require the same care that is given freshly cooked vegetables. Save the liquid for serving with the vegetables and for use in soups. Serve canned vegetables with cream-butter or oleomargarine sauce; use in soups; scalloped dishes, casseroles, meat stews, fritters, salads and omelets. Canned vegetables supply the same body needs as the fresh vegetables. Canning in no way lessens their food value.

The Department of Food Economics, Armour and Company, Chicago, will give you special recipes of additional information upon request.
