Against Compulsory Action. Judge Emery did not express himself as favoring compulsory arbitration. He called attention to compulsory investigation practiced in Canada in labor disputes as a good method of settling disputes. Public opinion is the big thing, however, he declared.

"It was public opinion and noth-ing else that caused the miners to obey the court order. They were wise in obeying the order for they could never have bucked the public," may be received continued Judge Emery. "I think federal building. we have enough balance in this country to control labor disputes, although we already have examples of where American labor has resorted to direct action.

Four Omaha Homes Entered by Thieves During the Night

Four robberies of Omaha homes Friday night yielded loot from cigars to children's clothing, according to reports made to police. A pass key to the front door of the cigar store of Jake Lieb, 216 South Eighteenth street, enabled a hief to get $300 worth o cigars at a revolver, a police report states. The contents of three trunks the home of Alice E. Devine, 3517 North Fortieth street, yielded children's clothing the report states. Entrance to the home was made through a side window. Burglars broke into the home of 1. C. Lavoy, 3510 Jones street, and stole a woman's purse containing $3. and two women's rings, according to a report to police. The home of B. H. Jacobberger, 1947 Vinton street, was ransacked but nothing taken, another report states. Entrance was made through

BEGINNING MONDAY-

A Remarkable Sale of Furs

Decisive Price Reductions Necessitated by Stock Re-adjustment Afford Notable Economies at a Most Opportune Time

This is by far one of the most unusual sales of the kind that to our knowledge has happened in a long time. All of the manifestations of style, quality and dependability in this fur sale brings an opportunity not to be disregarded by any woman or man. - With practically the entire season of cold weather before us, and with Christmas closely approaching, this sale assumes important significance. Surely it is quite unusual for a fur sale to be held at this time of the year, but only because of a readjustment of our fur stocks do we find it necessary. Ordinarily, fur sales are not held until the first of the year, and one can immediately realize the advantages to be gained in purchasing the furs now they were expecting to buy at the usual sale time.
