

CHURCH TRAINING MEETING TO BE HELD IN LINCOLN

Two Hundred and Fifty Leaders From All Parts of State Expected to Attend Conference.

By H. R. BEST, Divisional Secretary.

Lincoln has been selected as the meeting place for the state training conference of the Interchurch World Movement for Nebraska, to be held December 3, 4, 5.

Two hundred and fifty church leaders, delegates from every county and representing practically every denomination in the state, are expected to attend, the object of the meeting being to bring together religious leaders of every county to confer with reference to plans in this state for promoting church cooperation and for taking part in the nationwide campaign planned by the Interchurch World movement.

Six Leaders in Team

Addresses will be delivered by a team of six leaders of national reputation on various phases of the interchurch program. The conference has been described in advance as a "school of Christian leadership," but in point of fact the leaders of the meeting declare that they expect to get as much instruction, particularly on state plans and conditions, as they impart. Hence the rule of the conference will be 15 minute addresses, followed by 45 minute discussions.

The members of the state committee in charge of this state conference are:

Rev. W. E. J. Gratz, Rev. L. D. Young, D. D. Rev. R. M. Badger, Rev. W. S. Woodruff, Dr. W. T. Elmore, Rev. W. S. Tool, Lincoln, Neb.

Judge John N. Dryden, Kearney, Neb.; Rev. Theodore Foxworthy, Central City; Rev. C. C. Dobbs, Aurora; Rev. W. O. Jones, York, and Rev. C. F. Sandahl, Omaha, Neb.

Other members of the state committee are yet to be named.

Series of Meetings.

The meeting at Lincoln is one of a series of such conferences to be held in every state in the union by December 20. By that time it is expected that 10,000 religious leaders throughout the country will have become thoroughly conversant with the aims and plans of this movement for Protestant cooperation and will be able to speak authoritatively upon it in every county of the United States.

The object of the movement is to provide an organization through which the various Protestant churches of the North American continent (for a similar movement has been started in Canada), can cooperate to their mutual advantage, always looking to the ultimate ideal of the Christianization of the world.

Survey Religious World.

As a first step the interchurch movement is engaged on a number of careful surveys of religious, social and economic conditions throughout the world, county by county and city by city in the United States and country by country abroad. By these means the facts of the situation and the actual religious needs of the world will be revealed.

The results of the surveys will be collated and budgeted in terms of men and money. The participating denominations will then be asked to determine by mutual agreement their individual share of responsibility for world evangelization, and a united appeal will be made by the churches, each to its own constituency, for the resources in men and money that are required.

Denominations which have made a recent financial appeal will share in the other aspects of the interchurch movement and will have at their disposal its machinery for coordinating their expenditure so as to eliminate waste and duplication. The surveys have already shown what an enormous economy of time, money and human service might be achieved through a proper co-ordination of their efforts by the various churches.

Reach Every Village.

All the participating denominations will join in the spiritual program of the movement. The present series of state conferences are to be followed by sectional and local conferences through which the spiritual message of the Interchurch Movement will be carried to towns, villages and individual churches.

My Heart and My Husband

ADELE GARRISON'S New Phase of "Revelations of a Wife"

The News That Mrs. Durkee Brought of Maj. Grantland.

With Dickey's hands holding mine tightly, protestingly, with Dicky's face tenderly close to mine, I at last drifted off to the restful slumber I so sorely needed after my accident. When I awoke darkness had come outside, and by the dim night light I saw that Dicky had gone and that another familiar figure sat near my bedside.

"Lillian!" I exclaimed feebly, but gladly. Not even my husband could give me the feeling of childish security which the very presence of my friend afforded me.

"You dear child," she said softly, and coming over to the bed kissed me tenderly. "To think that I should have chosen this day of all others in the calendar to take Major Grantland to the city! Not that I could have done any more for you than the others have done."

"Yes, you could," I interrupted, whimsically. "You could have kept me from being a whining baby. I don't think I'd dare to whimper with you looking on, you're always so brave."

A Troubled Memory.

"Never mind the nosegays for me," she returned. "Better pin some on yourself. They tell me you were very plucky under the pain."

"No told you?"

"Mother Graham for one, your father for two, Katie for three, and—Major Grantland for four," Lillian checked the names off as would a child upon her fingers, smiling at me the while. I wondered if I had fancied her hesitation before the officer's name, had a sudden reminiscent flash of a hospital room and Lillian's voice saying gravely, meaningly, "You haven't a very good perspective just now, Madge. Better change it before you go on with your drawing."

I felt my face flushing hotly at the remembrance, knew that even the dim night light could not hide my sudden color from Lillian's keen eyes, and was furious at myself for my weakness. She had read me so clearly during that long past emotional brain storm of mine that I wondered—

"Is she asleep?"

The clear silbiant voice of Her Flufliness came from the doorway. For once I was glad of an interruption in a talk with Lillian, something which usually irritates me. But I wanted a change in the subject of my thoughts, and that quickly.

"Very wide awake," I returned, pretending not to see Lillian's gesture of protest. "Come in Mrs. Durkee. Don't you think, Lillian, we could have a little more light?"

"That's up to your ladyship," Lillian said lightly, moving as she spoke to the table and increasing the current on the light.

Her Flufliness came to the bedside, looked down at me brightly.

Lillian Is Obdurate.

"Feeling better, dear?" she asked, her voice brimming with warm-hearted sympathy. "Have you had anything to eat?"

I laughed outright. It is a standing joke in our little circle, this propensity of little Mrs. Durkee's to feed invalids, which was started in December last year, is now endorsed by more than 70 denominational and interdenominational boards and agencies. It has also received the official endorsement of the judicatories, or highest legislative bodies, of at least 10 denominations.

By spring, which will see the culmination of the interchurch campaign for co-operative Protestantism, it is confidently expected that the vast majority of the 25,000,000 Protestant church members in the country will be officially represented in the movement—a body of public opinion which must exercise a powerful influence in any moral issue that may arise.

Nellie Abused Him, Declares Husband in Suit for Divorce

The wedding bells chimed happily on August 29, of the present year, for on that day Roy E. Tanner and Nellie Tanner promised to love, honor and obey each other until death did them part.

But yesterday Roy came into the district court and filed a petition for divorce, alleging that, while he has been a kind, faithful and loving husband "ever since" their marriage, Nellie has pursued a course of mistreatment and abuse, has quarrelled, nagged and found fault with him and has called him uncomplimentary names.

He says he brought all his wages home and gave them to Nellie, but that she kept up her course of alleged mistreatment in spite of this and that she abandoned him six weeks after their wedding.

Former and Present Health Commissioners File Fee Claims

City Health Commissioner Edwards and former City Health Commissioner Manning filed appeal bonds in district court yesterday, in their effort to collect from the county fees for vital statistic compilations in their office. Dr. Edwards has a claim for $133 and Dr. Manning for $621 which the county commissioners claim are not due them. The commissioners say the fees were cut off from the office of health commissioner when the salary was raised nearly a year ago.

Omaha U. P. Manager Leaves to Join Hunt for Train Robber

W. M. Jeffers, general manager of the Union Pacific railroad, left for Wyoming yesterday morning to aid in the search for W. L. Carlisle, the bandit who is said to have held up a Union Pacific train three days ago.

Mr. Jeffers left suddenly, notifying other officials of his intention just before boarding the train. Officials say he was not accompanied by a posse, but was probably well armed himself.

"He didn't leave any word regarding the disposal of his property," signed Assistant General Manager Gild, "but I suppose he made arrangements before leaving to get Carlisle. He and Carlisle have exchanged many friendly notes in the past, but I'm afraid it wouldn't be a very friendly scene if they meet now."

Uni of Omaha to Meet Trinity in Grid Classic

The University of Omaha football team will clash with the eleven representing Trinity college of Sioux City at Creighton field, this afternoon in what is expected to be one of the hardest games during the season. Regular Habits Produce a Beautiful Complexion

Daily elimination rids the system of poisons. Women should realize that!

MANY women complain daily of their complexion, of their headaches and general ill health, little realizing that the trouble is constipation. Women, too, are much more subject to such congestion than men, and much more careless of it. The result is seen in lusterless, weary eyes, in sallow, pimply complexion, in lambshead, bad breath, and in that word so often used, "indisposed."

At the first sign of these symptoms the wise woman will take a laxative, and will see that the young girl and others in her care do likewise. Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin is the friend with thousands of women because it is mild and gentle in its action and in the end trains the stomach and bowel muscles to do their work naturally without the aid of medicine.

This combination of simple laxative herbs with pepsin can be bought at any drug store for 50c and $1 a bottle, the latter for families, for it is also a very sterling first-aid in colds, fevers and other sudden ills that make it advisable to always have a bottle in the home. It is free from narcotics and safe for the tiniest baby.

In spite of the fact that Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin is the largest selling liquid laxative in the world, there being over 6 million bottles sold each year, many who need its benefits have not yet used it. If you have not, send your name and address for a free trial bottle to Dr. W. B. Caldwell, 511 Washington St., Monticello, Illinois.

The Right Kind of Hosiery Is a Question of Immense Importance to Mothers. We Know That

Bear Brand Hosiery

Is the Right Kind, for It Has Been Proved By Every Hosiery Test. It Is the Quality of Hosiery That Wears a Long Time

BEAR BRAND HOSIERY was introduced, and women of judgment have pronounced it unusually good hosiery for the popular prices at which it sells.

BEAR BRAND HOSIERY was invented for boys and girls who wear out their stockings in short order. The aim was to build a stocking that would give them some trouble to wear out in a hurry. The maker succeeded in producing stockings that have become noted all over this country for the great length of time they will wear before the first hole is perceptible.

BEAR BRAND HOSIERY is made of finest long staple cotton, twisted and spun into the strongest of cotton thread, knitted on the newest type of machine, which leaves the stocking free from ridges on the heel and toe.

BEAR BRAND HOSIERY is strongly reinforced in the places where hosiery wears out quickest, and it is the sturdy bracing of these parts that gives to the stockings such durability.

BEAR BRAND HOSIERY comes in a fast black, and in 1-1 ribs. The price at which it sells for Saturday is 55c, a price special for this one day only.
