

OMAHA'S GROWTH SEEN IN LOAN AND DEPOSIT INCREASE

Statement of Nov. 17 Gives $25,000,000 Over Last Year Reports.

Omaha's banks continue to show a substantial increase in deposits and loans over this time a year ago.

The LAND of Last CHANCE

By G. W. OGDEN

THEY were lined up at the frontier waiting for the barrier to drop that they might rush in and choose their homes.

Americans—everyone of them—crowding in that anxious army realized that the only unpeopled stretch of habitable country in all the nation lay ahead of them.

LL BOOKSTORES A. C. McCLURG & CO., Publishers

as is indicated by a bank call for November 17.

The total deposits are $25,000,000 more than were shown in a statement November 1, 1918, and a similar comparison of loans shows an increase of $26,000,000 during the year.

A comparison of the bank statements of September 12, 1919 and November 17, 1919, shows a substantial increase in loans and a decrease in deposits.

The following figures were given for the call of November 17, and the previous call, September 12:

Table with columns for LOANS and DEPOSITS, listing various banks and their financial figures for Sept. 12, 1919 and Nov. 17, 1919.

To Heal A Cough Take HAYES' HEALING HONEY, 25c per bottle.

Milburn ELECTRIC Is a Safe Gift IT PLEASES

Women Urge 2-Cent Coin In Memory of Roosevelt

Congress Asked to Authorize Reissue Bearing Medalion of Beloved American as National Tribute—Post War Prices Create Demand for New Coin—Will Perpetuate Birthplace.

New York, Nov. 21.—(Special.)—As a national tribute to the memory of Theodore Roosevelt, the reissue of a 2-cent coin bearing his likeness will be urged upon congress by the Woman's Roosevelt Memorial association.

The following resolution adopted at a public meeting addressed by Maj. Gen. Leonard Wood was forwarded today from the national headquarters, 1 East Fifty-Seventh street, New York City, to all state chairmen for immediate endorsement.

"Whereas it has been the custom from time immemorial among all races of men to issue coins and medallions to commemorate the greatest events and the greatest men in their history, in recognition of the fact that they have become a part of the common heritage of the race, and in token of their imperishable renown, and

Like Abraham Lincoln. "Whereas the memory of Theodore Roosevelt, like that of Abraham Lincoln, is enshrined forever in the hearts alike of the greatest and the humblest in this land, therefore be it

Resolved, That this meeting request the congress of the United States to authorize the issue of a 2-cent coin bearing the medallion of Theodore Roosevelt and the dates of his birth and death."

Mrs. John Henry Hammond, president of the Woman's Roosevelt Memorial association, has appointed a special committee to effect national consideration of this resolution in co-operation with those firms and corporations which, it is believed, feel the need for a 2-cent coin to provide for post-war taxes on petty luxuries and household commodities.

Coin Is In Demand. Congress will be informed that the new coin is in demand to meet the unusual situation created by the present grade of prices.

The Woman's Roosevelt Memorial association was organized a few days after Colonel Roosevelt died to raise $1,000,000 for the restoration and perpetuation of his birthplace at 28 East Twentieth street, New York City, and the adjoining property under the name of Roosevelt house.

It is proposed to make this building a living memorial to the principles of Americanism for which Theodore Roosevelt stood. Both the birthplace site and the adjoining property have been acquired by the association and work will be started shortly on restoring the birthplace exactly as it looked in 1858, when Colonel Roosevelt was born.

That the world is small and that all things finally come to the light of day, was once more attested when Mrs. Margaret Judson, 5110 California street, strolling through the rooms of the art exhibit at the Hotel Fontenelle Thursday night, came to a pause, transfixed with astonishment, before two portraits, which she claims as her own, and which she believed to be still in stately in the Omaha Van company's storage rooms, where, she says, she placed them four years ago.

The portraits are those of Samuel Cutts, and Mrs. Samuel Cutts. They were her great grandparents, says Mrs. Judson.

The portraits were labeled for sale at $15,000. Ownership in them is claimed by Exhibitor Vose, who says Mrs. Judson, claims to have bought them from relatives of her's in the east.

Mrs. Judson "Paralyzed." Mrs. Judson says she was about "paralyzed" when she laid eyes on the portraits.

"I thought they were safe with other pictures belonging to me in the Omaha Van company's storage warehouse," said Mrs. Judson yesterday. "The portraits, with other pictures and antiques were given me by my mother, who died here four years ago, and were left to me by her will. It appears that relatives in the east claim them under some other will, the matter being rather mixed up, and in such condition that as yet I have not decided what to do. In fact, I have not yet conferred with the Omaha Van people to see whether or not the balance of the things I placed in storage are still there. How they got out of the storage house I do not know.

"I shall consult with the art exhibit manager and this may help clear up matters somewhat. What steps I shall take I could not predict, but of course I shall take some sort of action to regain possession. I value the pictures far beyond their intrinsic value, on account of their being portraits of my great grandparents, I having been named Margaret after Mrs. Cutts."

"Mr. Vose bought the pictures in Boston last summer from a Mrs. Powell, niece of the late Mrs. Judson," said W. C. Thompson, art manager for the Vose exhibition.

"How Mrs. Powell got the portraits to Boston I do not know, and I believe that Mr. Vose knows nothing about it beyond the fact that Mrs. Powell had the pictures in Boston for above two years, and we bought them about a year ago.

"We have exhibited the pictures in several cities, and they have attracted great attention through their historical interest as well as the fact that they were by a famous artist. That a great grand child of the original of the portraits lived in Omaha, and would lay claim to them, was a matter unknown and undreamed of by us. I have talked with Mrs. Judson, but can only state that all we know about the matter is that they were sold by the niece, Mrs. Powell, in Boston."

Cutts an "Old Salt." Mrs. Judson has lived in Omaha about 10 years. Samuel Cutts, she said, was a New Hampshire "sea merchant" as the term went in those days, and was wealthy and famous up and down the upper Atlantic coast. The old Cutts house still stands in Portsmouth, she says. The portraits are well known to art experts, having been painted by Blackburn, a famous artist of his day. They are large, and contained in heavy, hand-carved mahogany frames.

Revere Carved Frames. Additional facts concerning the two paintings are that the mahogany carved frames, referred to by Mrs. Judson, was made by Paul Revere, the famous revolutionary patriot, and are two of the only four pieces of hand carving known to be extant by him.

Mr. Cutts was a member of the New Hampshire assembly of 1776, a signer of the New Hampshire declaration of independence, and was one of the men to whom Revere delivered one of his famous letters from the Boston patriots.

Mrs. Cutts was a daughter of a president of Harvard university, and a granddaughter of President Rogers.

Italian Slacker Elected To the Chamber of Deputies

Rome, Nov. 21.—Signor Mistano, a socialist, has been elected to the Chamber of Deputies from both Naples and Turin. At the beginning of the war he went to Switzerland, it is alleged, to evade service in the army. He was later expelled from Switzerland and went to Germany. During his absence an Italian military court condemned him to be shot for desertion and the question now arises whether he can be arrested or enjoys parliamentary immunity.

of the storage house I do not know.

"I shall consult with the art exhibit manager and this may help clear up matters somewhat. What steps I shall take I could not predict, but of course I shall take some sort of action to regain possession. I value the pictures far beyond their intrinsic value, on account of their being portraits of my great grandparents, I having been named Margaret after Mrs. Cutts."

"Mr. Vose bought the pictures in Boston last summer from a Mrs. Powell, niece of the late Mrs. Judson," said W. C. Thompson, art manager for the Vose exhibition.

"How Mrs. Powell got the portraits to Boston I do not know, and I believe that Mr. Vose knows nothing about it beyond the fact that Mrs. Powell had the pictures in Boston for above two years, and we bought them about a year ago.

"We have exhibited the pictures in several cities, and they have attracted great attention through their historical interest as well as the fact that they were by a famous artist. That a great grand child of the original of the portraits lived in Omaha, and would lay claim to them, was a matter unknown and undreamed of by us. I have talked with Mrs. Judson, but can only state that all we know about the matter is that they were sold by the niece, Mrs. Powell, in Boston."

Cutts an "Old Salt." Mrs. Judson has lived in Omaha about 10 years. Samuel Cutts, she said, was a New Hampshire "sea merchant" as the term went in those days, and was wealthy and famous up and down the upper Atlantic coast. The old Cutts house still stands in Portsmouth, she says. The portraits are well known to art experts, having been painted by Blackburn, a famous artist of his day. They are large, and contained in heavy, hand-carved mahogany frames.

Revere Carved Frames. Additional facts concerning the two paintings are that the mahogany carved frames, referred to by Mrs. Judson, was made by Paul Revere, the famous revolutionary patriot, and are two of the only four pieces of hand carving known to be extant by him.

Mr. Cutts was a member of the New Hampshire assembly of 1776, a signer of the New Hampshire declaration of independence, and was one of the men to whom Revere delivered one of his famous letters from the Boston patriots.

Mrs. Cutts was a daughter of a president of Harvard university, and a granddaughter of President Rogers.

THOMPSON-BELDEN & CO.

Trefousse Gloves Fit So Beautifully

French kid gloves, pique-sewn, both one and two-clasp, come in black, white, brown, and gray, for $3.75, $4 and $4.75

Suede gloves in gray and beaver, a recent arrival, are priced, $4.75 a pair.

Polychrome Lamp Bases

On display in the Art Department are a number of beautifully shaded vases in various shapes and sizes, wired for lamps.

As for shades, we have all sorts of materials and capable instructors to assist you in the making until the shade is completed.

The bases are all priced $3.75.

Art Dept., Second Floor

Christmas Shopping Saturday Mornings

Is Particularly Satisfactory

The Serviceable Wool Frock Must Be Beautifully Tailored

Splendid fabrics and correctness of style are not quite enough—they must be expressed by the most careful tailoring, with an attention to smaller details of trimming and the touches of handwork that give individuality.

The dresses of tricotine, Poret twill, serge and the like, have quite a noticeable amount of braid, of wool embroidery and rows of buttons to relieve their severity.

A sufficiently large grouping at each price is offered, permitting a satisfactory selection.

$35, $42.50, $51.50 $75 and $98.50

Apparel—Third Floor

"FOLLOW THE BEATON PATH"

BEATON'S BETTER BARGAINS

For Saturday, November 22, we have prepared a list of bargains in drugs and sundries that will do much toward lowering the H. C. of L. for thrifty people. Buy all you need at these lowered prices.

Saturday Specials

$1.50 Fellow's Syrup Hypophosphites for... $1.19 25c Phenalax Wafers... 21c $1.00 Listerine... 79c 50c Salicon... 42c

$1.00 Nuxated Iron... 89c 50c Orain Tooth Paste, at... 34c 50c Hay's Hair Health... 29c

30c Laxative Bromo Quinine, at... 22c $1.00 Kodol Dyspepsia Liquid, for... 72c 60c Sal Hepatica... 48c Castoria... 24c 35c Vick's Vapo Rub... 27c

25c Salinos (a saline laxative)... 16c $3.75 Horlick's Hospital Malted Milk... $2.95 50c Swiss Villa Lawn Stationery, per box... 24c

$1.00 Leonard's Ear Oil... 89c 25c Mustard Cerate, special, at... 16c 60c Corega... 40c 60c Lavior... 48c 50c Eator... 29c

Waterman and Conklin Fountain Pens, $2.50 and up.

60c Swamp Root... 44c 30c Zymole Troches... 21c 15c Sayman's Vegetable Soap, at... 12c 15c Physicians' and Surgeons' Soap, for... 10c

15c Remmer's Peroxide Soap, at... 11c 20c Wool Powder Puffs, at... 10c $5.00 Auto-Stop Safety Razor, at... $4.15

$1.00 Penn Safety Razors, 69c $1.00 Gem Safety Razor... 89c 1 Pint Stanolax... 43c 25c Lysol... 19c

Don't Do This Relieves Deafness, Stops Head Noises.

Leonard's Ear Oil Remove the mucus, opens up this tube, therefore improved hearing and relief from head noises. Come in and ask us about it or get a circular telling you all about this wonderful preparation.

When you next buy aspirin ask us for the New Improved kind.

Salicon It won't hurt your heart nor upset your stomach. More efficient than crude aspirin for headaches, colds, rheumatism, neuralgia, etc. Put up in bottles, 25c, 50c and $1.25. Try it and you will always use it.

At Our Store Today We sell so many of these famous good chocolates that we can always supply any of the Johnston popular assortments.

And Always Fresh These are the kind you see advertised in The Saturday Evening Post and are What She Wants!

BEATON DRUG COMPANY 15th and Farnam Streets Mail Orders Receive Our Most Careful Attention

"FOLLOW THE BEATON PATH"

BEATON'S BETTER BARGAINS

For Saturday, November 22, we have prepared a list of bargains in drugs and sundries that will do much toward lowering the H. C. of L. for thrifty people. Buy all you need at these lowered prices.

Saturday Specials

$2.00 Djerkiss, per ounce, at... $1.25 $4.00 Coty's Jacqueminot Rose, per ounce... $2.25 $6.00 Coty's L'Origan Extract, per ounce... $4.59 Large assortment of Perfume Atomizers, from $1.25 to $4.00.

RUBBER GOODS Big special sale of all Rubber Goods, guaranteed two years, Saturday and Monday.

$1.10 2-quat Davidson Fountain Syringe... 78c $1.25 2-quat Velvet Water Bottle for... 89c $3.50 Ladies' Spray Syringe, at... $1.95 40c 52-inch Syringe Tubing, at... 25c

CIGARS Little Chancellors... 6c McCord-Brady Hand Made, each... 5c Box of 50... $2.50 8c Little Mozarts... 5c 15c Mozart, Perfecto... 40c Box of 50... $4.75 10c Bugles... 6c

EDISON MAZDA LAMPS 10 to 50-Watt Mazda Lamps, at... 35c 60-Watt Mazda Lamps, 40c 15c Fuse Plugs, 6 to 30 amperes, at... 8c

FRESH LOT JUST IN OF Johnstons' Chocolates "THE APPRECIATED CANDIES"

At Our Store Today We sell so many of these famous good chocolates that we can always supply any of the Johnston popular assortments.

And Always Fresh These are the kind you see advertised in The Saturday Evening Post and are What She Wants!

BEATON DRUG COMPANY 15th and Farnam Streets Mail Orders Receive Our Most Careful Attention

DAZED BY SIGHT OF OWN PICTURES AT ART EXHIBIT

Omaha Woman Claims Paintings Will be to Her by Parents.

That the world is small and that all things finally come to the light of day, was once more attested when Mrs. Margaret Judson, 5110 California street, strolling through the rooms of the art exhibit at the Hotel Fontenelle Thursday night, came to a pause, transfixed with astonishment, before two portraits, which she claims as her own, and which she believed to be still in stately in the Omaha Van company's storage rooms, where, she says, she placed them four years ago.

The portraits are those of Samuel Cutts, and Mrs. Samuel Cutts. They were her great grandparents, says Mrs. Judson.

The portraits were labeled for sale at $15,000. Ownership in them is claimed by Exhibitor Vose, who says Mrs. Judson, claims to have bought them from relatives of her's in the east.

Mrs. Judson "Paralyzed." Mrs. Judson says she was about "paralyzed" when she laid eyes on the portraits.

"I thought they were safe with other pictures belonging to me in the Omaha Van company's storage warehouse," said Mrs. Judson yesterday. "The portraits, with other pictures and antiques were given me by my mother, who died here four years ago, and were left to me by her will. It appears that relatives in the east claim them under some other will, the matter being rather mixed up, and in such condition that as yet I have not decided what to do. In fact, I have not yet conferred with the Omaha Van people to see whether or not the balance of the things I placed in storage are still there. How they got out of the storage house I do not know.

"I shall consult with the art exhibit manager and this may help clear up matters somewhat. What steps I shall take I could not predict, but of course I shall take some sort of action to regain possession. I value the pictures far beyond their intrinsic value, on account of their being portraits of my great grandparents, I having been named Margaret after Mrs. Cutts."

"Mr. Vose bought the pictures in Boston last summer from a Mrs. Powell, niece of the late Mrs. Judson," said W. C. Thompson, art manager for the Vose exhibition.

"How Mrs. Powell got the portraits to Boston I do not know, and I believe that Mr. Vose knows nothing about it beyond the fact that Mrs. Powell had the pictures in Boston for above two years, and we bought them about a year ago.

"We have exhibited the pictures in several cities, and they have attracted great attention through their historical interest as well as the fact that they were by a famous artist. That a great grand child of the original of the portraits lived in Omaha, and would lay claim to them, was a matter unknown and undreamed of by us. I have talked with Mrs. Judson, but can only state that all we know about the matter is that they were sold by the niece, Mrs. Powell, in Boston."

Cutts an "Old Salt." Mrs. Judson has lived in Omaha about 10 years. Samuel Cutts, she said, was a New Hampshire "sea merchant" as the term went in those days, and was wealthy and famous up and down the upper Atlantic coast. The old Cutts house still stands in Portsmouth, she says. The portraits are well known to art experts, having been painted by Blackburn, a famous artist of his day. They are large, and contained in heavy, hand-carved mahogany frames.

Revere Carved Frames. Additional facts concerning the two paintings are that the mahogany carved frames, referred to by Mrs. Judson, was made by Paul Revere, the famous revolutionary patriot, and are two of the only four pieces of hand carving known to be extant by him.

Mr. Cutts was a member of the New Hampshire assembly of 1776, a signer of the New Hampshire declaration of independence, and was one of the men to whom Revere delivered one of his famous letters from the Boston patriots.

Mrs. Cutts was a daughter of a president of Harvard university, and a granddaughter of President Rogers.

DREXEL'S Boys' Shoes

When there is snow and slush on the ground, then is when your boy puts his shoes to the hardest test. For more than thirty years have stood this test to the satisfaction of thousands of Omaha parents. You'll find that one pair of these shoes will outwear two pairs of ordinary boys' shoes.

STEEL SHOD SHOES

Boys' Sizes, 1 to 5 1/2— $4.00 Little Men's, 10 to 13 1/2— $3.50

At Our Store Today We sell so many of these famous good chocolates that we can always supply any of the Johnston popular assortments.

And Always Fresh These are the kind you see advertised in The Saturday Evening Post and are What She Wants!

BEATON DRUG COMPANY 15th and Farnam Streets Mail Orders Receive Our Most Careful Attention

New Universal Music Rolls advertisement featuring an illustration of a woman playing a piano and listing various music rolls for sale.

Opening Scott Army Goods Stores advertisement listing various military surplus goods and their prices.