Sorrows Which All May Help Ease

A Ball at the Blackstone Will Help to Feed and Clothe Fatherless Little Ones.

By MYRTLE MASON.

"May I see the girls?" "No. They have our complete protection." "May I see the babies?" "Yes."

This is what Adjutant Lillie Ness would tell you if you stopped to visit the Salvation Army Rescue home at Twenty-fourth and Spaulding streets, where the doors are always open to needy ones and especially to unmarried mothers who may there receive medical care and all the privileges which the word "home" implies.

"Motherhood is something more than a word." Only this morning a 17-year-old mother clutched her baby and said, "Oh, I love him so hard." Looking up she saw the adjutant. "You see, she faltered, 'I must love him for two.'"

"How long may the girls remain here after their babies come?" "They must remain three months."

"Why so long?" "We minister first to their bodies and their broken spirits. They come to us usually with a lie on their lips and a flood of sorrow in their hearts. It takes a long time to restore their confidence in people after the one in whom they trusted, betrayed and deserted them. We rescue their bodies first, then the three months give time to rescue their souls—for, after all, that is what we are trying to do."

"Do they keep their babies after leaving the home?" "It is always our advice and prayer that they may."

"But are they happy?" "Life holds in one hand the golden crown of happiness; in the other the iron crown of suffering, says a famous author. To her favored ones she hands them both. But only he is an outcast whose temples have left the weight of neither."

Then perhaps Adjutant Ness will take you upstairs. Passing through the operating room, she will show you some shiny receptacles used in maternity cases. "The sterilizer, seeing you do not know, a gift from the nursery committee of which Mrs. Henry F. Wyman is chairman."

"And they gave us these," passing on into the nursery, "these two bassinets of four beds each, and still we are crowded and have to improvise beds from boxes like these." She pointed to some clean baskets on the floor, each holding its quota—a human life. "We had 61 babies here last year, and there are usually 20 or more in this room at a time."

"One of the least of these."

Was it the fading light of day or did the sight of so many helpless, tiny, squirming, unknowing bits of humanity, bedim the eyes? Surely they looked pale and white and thin. No, no. Not all of them. There was Dorothy, 2 years old, whose young mother works in the city and returns "home" at night to her baby. Yes, Dorothy is a beautiful child.

And little Clara, with her unfathomable eyes, looked rugged enough. "Her mother is dead, the nurse volunteered. The father went to war and left Clara with us. He was gassed and at last report was very ill."

"Will you allow some one to adopt the child?" "Not until we are sure the father is a famous author. To her favored ones she hands them both and never disregard it."

"Do the girls supply their own baby clothes?" "Not often. Usually they come without a garment, without a dollar. They come to us with only the gift of life to give."

"The gift of life!" "How great is the gift! Clothes, food, shelter and dollars may be given in return, but the balance is not yet. Only a full measure of love and sympathy will even up the account."

"And so we have to provide clothes for the children," the adjutant continued. "When the mothers leave our home they are given fresh, clean, white garments for the soft, warm forms that nestle in their arms. These garments, too, are a gift from the nursery committee.

"That is why the nursery committee of the Salvation Army Rescue home gives an annual benefit ball at this time of the year. All their proceeds go to buy such things as you have seen—the sterilizer, bassinets, bedding and clothing for the babies."

"Good night, adjutant." "Good night." "Yes, indeed you can help," came Mrs. Wyman's merry voice. "You will enjoy Wednesday evening's dance doubly, knowing you are lightening the burden from another's shoulders where it rests heavily. How many? As the signs at the ticket windows say?"

"Two for myself, and two more please." "For whom?" "Why, the girl-who-had-to love for two."

"Thank you." Had Mrs. Wyman hung up the phone? Yes, it clicked all right, but a far-away voice barely distinguishable was heard. Some cross wire no doubt. Faintly came the words: "Inasmuch as ye have done it unto the least of these, my brethren, ye have done it unto me."

York College

By A. STUDENT

Rev. Ford Davidson, 1915, and Mrs. Davidson of Pleasanton, Neb., visited college friends last week and attended the York-Kearney football game Friday. On Friday evening they met the York members of the 1915 class at the home of Mr. and Mrs. P. B. Porter, 1915, where a pleasant evening was spent reviewing college memories.

The freshmen and sophomores recently cemented their friendship by holding a joint class party. Although members of some of the other classes objected to their having a 100 per cent attendance, both those who were present on time and those who were late report an equally enjoyable evening.

The Spanish club met at the reception room of Hullitt conservatory Wednesday evening before study hours. The program consisted of Spanish songs, Spanish conversation and an address by Rev. C. I. Mohler of Porto Rico. The officers of the club are: President, Antonio Rivera, 1921, of Porto Rico; vice president, Maud Lefever, 1921, of Strang; secretary, Marian Boughner, 1921, of York.

Miss Emma Fye, dean of women, enjoyed a visit from her brother, Rev. B. A. Fye, the first of the week. Rev. Fye, who was formerly assistant state synodical superintendent, is now pastor of the Presbyterian church at Scottsbluff, Neb. He conducted the devotional exercises on Wednesday morning and then addressed the students briefly, bringing a message to good advice and good cheer.

The Y. W. C. A. meeting on Monday afternoon was in charge of the freshman girls, a number of whom spoke of their impressions of college life, both before and since matriculation and of their appreciation of the Y. W. C. A. spirit. A vocal solo was rendered by Miss Florence Cave. About 75 girls were in attendance.

Alice Post, daughter of Charles Post, is ill with pneumonia.

Holidays Event.

Among the events scheduled to take place during the holiday season is a Christmas ballet to be presented on December 18, at the Brandeis theater by Miss Pleasant Holyoke and her pupils. A number of prominent women will act as patronesses for the affair. Mrs. C. T. Kountze will be treasurer and Mrs. Franklin Shotwell is publicity chairman.

St. Mary's Parish. St. Mary's parish will give a carnival and bazaar, November 24, 25 and 26.

THIS CUP FREE

This Jiffy Measuring Cup is free to users of Jiffy-Jell. Just send us the end labels from two Jiffy-Jell packages—the labels naming the flavor—and we will mail the cup.

Crushed Fruit Desserts Delightful Dainties at Trifling Cost

We make these offers to show more women what Jiffy-Jell means to them.

Jiffy-Jell differs vastly from other quick gelatine desserts. Each package contains a bottle of condensed fruit juice.

We crush the fruit, condense the juice, and bring you real fruit in abundance in these Jiffy-Jell desserts.

That's the important point. Flavor is mere taste, and often artificial. The fruit itself is rich in earthy salts. Everybody needs it every day.

For a Few Cents

Fresh fruit and canned fruit are expensive. Here are rich fruit dainties which are not.

And they are rich in fruit. Half a pineapple, for instance, is used to flavor one Jiffy-Jell dessert. Then almost a whole lemon is used to acidulate the mixture.

Yet a package of Jiffy-Jell serves six people in mold form.

Jiffy-Jell Real-Fruit Desserts

10 Flavors in Vials. Bottle in Each Package. Mint, Raspberry, Cherry, Loganberry, Strawberry, Lime, Pineapple, Orange, Lemon, Coffee.

and twelve if you whip the jelly—all for a few cents.

It is also quick. Simply add boiling water, as directed on package, then the fruit-juice flavor from the vial, and let cool.

Millions are using these quick, economical fruit desserts, and no home now should miss them.

Try These Flavors

Try Loganberry and Pineapple for desserts. Try Lime-Apple for dessert. Try Lime-green salad jelly. Mix in your salad before cooling. Or mix in meat scraps and make an appetizing meat loaf.

Try Mint flavor. It makes a zesty mint jelly to serve with meats or as a side dish.

Try them now. Then send us the end labels which mention the flavor, and get the Jiffy Cup and any of our molds.

See the coupon. Cut it out so you won't forget.

Other Free Molds

The labels called for are the end labels—the one on each package which mentions the flavor. Send the coupon with the labels called for and check the molds you want.

Selecting Your Dentist

A comparison of service rendered by advertising and non-advertising Dentists.

(Article Three—Pyorrhoea)

Naturally in meeting thousands of patients we find many cases of pyorrhoea, a local disease, affecting the gums and teeth; which in serious and unchecked cases destroy bone and tissue so that loss of teeth may become inevitable.

The "family dentist," owing to his limited practice and lack of special training, does not pretend to treat pyorrhoea—and yet it has been my observation that his patients have less trouble and spend considerably less money than the patients of the high priced "Pyorrhoea Specialists," who calls every case of affected teeth Pyorrhoea and requires patients to visit him week after week and month after month having their gums torn loose from their teeth; go through the tortures of having the teeth scraped to the roots; pay out hundreds of dollars and then, still having pyorrhoea, are finally advised to have all their teeth extracted to get rid of the disease he failed to cure.

The best "Cure" for pyorrhoea is prevention. Start children early to use the tooth brush, rub the gums well and then you follow their example. Have the teeth examined and cleaned every six months regularly and "tartar" removed as soon as discovered.

At the first sign of decay, ache or pain, visit your dentist and save suffering and expense by so doing.

If you have a well developed case of pyorrhoea, don't let anyone take out your teeth, or submit to painful tooth scraping until you have had an examination and advice by my staff of specialists, which is yours for the asking.
