

WOMAN'S SECTION OF THE BEE

If we have not quiet in our own minds outward comforts will do no more for us than a golden slipper on a gouty foot.

I have seen a very poor young man in love. His hat was old, his coat worn and out at elbows, the water passed through his shoes, and the stars through his soul.

Thanksgiving Day Has Beautiful Wedding

White chrysanthemums formed a beautiful setting at the wedding of Miss Margery Smith, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Cassels Smith, and Mr. George Ewart Van Dorn of Chicago, at St. Barnabas church at high noon, Thanksgiving day. Rev. Holsapple read the marriage lines.

was gowned as her sister with the exception that she wore copper colored satin combined with the georgette.

Miss Katherine DuFourcq, of New York, a classmate of the bride at Bryn Mawr, was the third bridesmaid. Her gown was of red satin combined with brown georgette.

Miss Edna Reed acted as maid of honor. She wore a gown of brown made with draped skirt and carried a bouquet of red roses.

The bride wore a simple gown of white satin made with full skirt, tight bodice, and long lace sleeves. Her circular veil was skirt length and was caught with ribbon orange blossoms. She carried a colonial bouquet of white roses, sweet peas and chrysanthemums. The gift of the groom was a pearl necklace.

Mr. Herbert Van Dorn of Chicago, attended his brother as best man. The ushers included Messrs. Richard Mallory, George Metcalf and George Stocking.

Immediately after the ceremony, a wedding breakfast was served to the bridal party and immediate relatives at the Smith home.

Mrs. Smith, mother of bride, wore a gown of black satin and her corsage was of violets. Mrs. W. T. Van Dorn, mother of the groom, also wore black satin and Russell roses formed her corsage.

The bride's traveling dress was of dark brown tulle with small hat to match. She wore a corsage of red rosebuds and her wrap was a gray squirrel cape.

Mr. and Mrs. Van Dorn will go immediately to Cambridge where they will make their home for two years. Mr. Van Dorn will be a special student at Harvard during that time.

Fort Omaha.

Mrs. Jacob W. S. Wuest entertained informally at luncheon at the Wuest quarters Monday at Fort Omaha, in honor of Major Tagi, a Japanese officer of the Imperial army.

The weekly tea at the post was given Wednesday by Mrs. Wuest at her quarters.

Capt. A. C. McKinley and Mrs. McKinley, his mother, will entertain at dinner at the Athletic club, followed by a theater party Friday evening.

Theta Phi Delta.

The Theta Phi Delta fraternity of the University of Omaha will meet at the home of Ray Phelps Monday evening.

Advice to the Lovelorn

Loves Comes Unbidden and, "To Love or Not We Are No More Free Than the Ripple to Rise and Leave the Sea."

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

A Question of Behavior.

Dear Miss Fairfax, Omaha Bee: I'm coming to you with my trouble. Is it proper to ask a boy to call you up? Is it proper to ask a boy out to your house? Is it proper to go to dances with boys if your folks do not object? I suppose you think I'm spending my time with the boys when I should be studying, but I'm getting a fine education. I'm 16 and have only one more year to go to school and I'll be through high school.

Is my writing good? I'll close, hoping to see my answer in print soon.

MISS DIMPLES.

It depends entirely on the spirit in which you ask a boy to call you over the telephone. Ordinarily I should not do it. If there is some special reason, then it is all right. It is your place to casually invite the young man to call at your home, but do not insist. If he cares to accept your invitation he will do so without your urging. I see no particular harm in going to a nice dance occasionally with boy friends if you are well chaperoned and in good company. A great deal more depends on your attitude toward the boys and your own behavior than whether or not you ask them to call or accept their invitations to dances.

No Serious Intentions.

Dear Miss Fairfax, Omaha Bee: During the war I corresponded with a soldier from a neighboring town. I had never met him, but I knew his sisters, though they knew nothing about the correspondence. I did not sign my name, but had his letters come to the office where I worked. When he came home I was away visiting, but his letter asking to see me was forwarded. I answered it, refusing to sign my name, and asking him to forget. I told him that I would be home at a certain time, but I have never heard from him since. Since then I have Theater Parties.

Rohas Achbo club entertained 16 guests at the matinee Thursday at the Orpheum. Smaller parties were given by H. O. Yohe, J. R. Ward, J. O. Leary, R. A. Moulton, J. Keeline, Alvin Johnson, J. H. Blissard, Fred Chamberlain, Lee Cook, C. Martin, C. Keam, E. D. Wier and L. Shoemaker.

Wedding Anniversary.

Mr. and Mrs. H. Scheel celebrated their first wedding anniversary at a Thanksgiving dinner at their home, Thursday. Covers were placed for 12.

Mr. and Mrs. Emery Peterson, Miss Myrtle Peterson and Miss Ann Anderson motored to Fremont Wednesday and will spend Thanksgiving at the home of relatives.

Miss Bernice Clarke, who has been visiting at the home of her sister, Mrs. Howard Graham, leaves Friday for Los Angeles.

Jack Roche of New York spent last week end in Omaha.

Mr. Donald Bendell spent Thanksgiving in Lincoln.

learned to care. Shall I write and explain it all and ask him to call, or do you think he really does not care? He wrote some very affectionate letters while he was gone and he begged me to tell who I was, but I was too cruel. Please tell me what to do. How can I let a young man know that I have no serious intentions in going with him when he does not say anything to introduce the subject? O.S.

The young man is only doing what you told him to—forgetting you. If you were to write him again you would prove yourself what some men think women are—changeable and flirtatious. Nor should you advertise that your intentions are not serious. It is assumed they are not—until proven otherwise. And besides—you might change your mind and your intentions.

An Old Friend.

Dear Miss Fairfax, Omaha Bee: What has become of such writers as "A Bachelor Farmer" and "C. O. A.?" I am a constant reader of your paper and can well remember the interest taken by all lovelorn fans at the time the above mentioned people were given space in your column.

Why not suggest something of interest for these people to write about? The future of a mother's love, or as Christmas is so close at hand, Christmas with the old folks at home, are subjects upon which these writers could do well, considering the way they handled other subjects of much less importance. Keep up the interest in your column by all means. I for one think they are beneficial as well as interesting.

Do you know the address of either of the above mentioned writers?

AN INTERESTED STENOGRAPHER.

We do not know their addresses. This is a column of advice for the lovelorn and that subject is so comprehensive we do not care to extend the field until all the lovers are happily married and we apprehend it will be some time yet before that can be effected.

Heartbroken—Right cannot be made out of wrong. You have done wrong, which I need not tell you. For if you don't already know it yourself, you will learn the truth, perhaps with much bitterness, later. Marry and face the world with decision and courage. This is the fairest thing to do for your child and for the man who loves you, and is the courage most likely to bring happiness to yourself.

Take a Winter Trip Through Summer seas to Hawaii Halfway to the Orient, and still in U.S.A. Picture a perfect May day—multiply it by 365—that's the year in Hawaii, the Island Paradise of the Pacific. Add tropical forests where grow the cocoanut and royal palm, the banyan and the hau, and strange flowers of many hues. From coral islands thus carpeted, rise volcanic mountains two miles skyward right out of the sea. Here are spectacular volcanoes—the ever-glowing ruby of fiery Kilauea and the largest of earth's craters, Haleakala—easily accessible to the very brink. These areas are in the Hawaiian National Park, established by the United States Government. Waikiki Beach offers winter surf-bathing in sunny waters. Honolulu, the capital of the islands, is a modern city, in the midst of a native civilization centuries old. All at the end of a trip by land and sea unique in all the world. After seeing California, you board a luxurious steamer at San Francisco, and are at Honolulu in about a week, after a delightful cruise. Travel to Hawaii is heavy; you should reserve passage well in advance to insure getting accommodations desired.
