Hilda, Abbess of Whitby.
In 1915 the world held its breath, mute with horror. The Zeppelins had swooped down over Whitby, on the coast of Yorkshire. A cry of vengeance went up when it was learned that half of the ancient Abbey of Whitby had been destroyed. Founded in the seventh century, it was Hilda's Abbey. The majestic ruins through all the ages could be seen as you climbed the quaint little seaside town of Whitby, its red-tiled houses seeming to lead directly and only to that abbey on the heights. Hilda was a princess of the blood royal, but early dedicated herself to the religious life. King Oswy gave her a grant of land, and she erected the celebrated convent, or abbey, of Whitby. Of her sanctity and of her learning the men in high places in church and state who sought her advice and prayers attest in full measure. Caedmon, the earliest English poet, tarried in the monastery for monks which she erected near her own convent to reform the religious life of Irish. The famous council of Whitby was held in the monastery. Could not the Zeppelins have spared the sacred and almost perfect ruins of a holy spot like Whitby Abbey!

Of Course They Are

IT IS declared by some manufacturers that their Stoves and Ranges are "cheaper" than "Charter Oaks."

Some of them are so "cheap" that you also escape the cost of new fire-burnings—the rest of the stove being crushed, warped and made useless before the fire-burn needs repair.

All really good articles, all works of taste and merit must bear a price in proportion to the skill, time, material and expense attending their invention and manufacture.

In the construction of an article which is put to such hard use as cooking or heating apparatus, it is particularly necessary to use only the best and plenty of it.

This WE do.

Our motto is not how CHEAP but how GOOD we can make Charter Oaks.

CLUBB DOM

WITH the passing of Thanksgiving, the next holiday in the year comes close upon us. And in contemplating Christmas, the subject of music inevitably hovers around the theme. As we reflect upon the Christmastide, we see before us a snow-clad earth, a sacred hush is in and over all, the starry skies seem but a thin veil through which we see the heavenly angels as they bend toward the earth, touching their harps of gold. Earth, at that holy season, is atone with all the good that our Christian civilization stands for. And music is everywhere. "Holy Night," "Oh Little Town of Bethlehem," "Hark, the Herald Angels Sing," "It Came Upon the Midnight Clear"—whose heart does not quicken to the music of these beautiful songs?

The message, then, that Christmas Eve caroling is being revived, is cause for great rejoicing, say the lovers of music. Christmas songs beautify community spirit, stimulate musical interest, revive a charming old custom and kindle Christmas sentiment. The movement in the United States probably received its greatest impetus in Detroit and has been growing steadily and with increasing momentum as the idea makes its alluring appeal to an ever-increasing circle.

A carol is a song of joy, exultation, praise and devotion. Hence a carol expresses the true spirit of Christmas as no other class of vocal music can. The initial effort in Detroit was made in 1916, and in 1918, the number of carolers had grown to 10,000, turning the streets of the city into "200 miles of song." More than 40 cities in the United States have now taken up the revival of this ennobling custom. The National Bureau for the Advancement of Music, 105 West Fortieth street, New York City, is aiding in the promotion of Christmas carol singing. It has booklets of information to offer those interested. It is their hope that Christmas singing may inspire in the hearts of both singers and hearers, the true meaning of the Christmas message.

The Finish.
"Patience—Have you ever noticed in a circus parade that they always have the calliope wagon at the end of the parade?"

Patience—Oh, yes; that is to let everybody know that the worst is yet to come.—Yonkers Statesman.

In England a tendency to overlook the old prewar barriers to so-called humble positions is manifesting itself among girls of education. For example, a girl with a university degree is serving as head waitress in the tea room of a large London department store, while a physician's daughter, who by way of war work acted as coachman and drove a carriage, recently advertised for similar employment.

One of the oldest active suffragists in the United States is Mrs. Judith W. Smith, who is living in Boston in her 99th year. Mrs. Smith began her activities with the pioneers of the suffrage cause—Lucy Stone, Julia Ward Howe, Susan B. Anthony and Elizabeth Cady Stanton.

Our Profit from all Sources

The American Public does not believe all it reads. It insists on being shown.

When Swift & Company says its profits are only a fraction of a cent per pound, many believe we are not telling the whole story—that there are hidden profits.

Here Are The Facts:

Our net profit on our entire business for the year 1918 amounted to only 1.76 cents per dollar of sales, or less than one-half cent per pound, and

1. Included profits from hides and all other by-products.
2. Included profits from all sundry side-lines.
3. Included profits on all subsidiary corporations.
4. To sum up—it included the entire profit from every source of revenue in which Swift & Company has any interest. There are no other profits.

Furthermore our accounts have been checked and certified annually by leading public accounting firms.

Swift & Company is sincerely trying to get the facts before the public. If you have any questions regarding our business—write us—and we will do our best to answer them. In discussing the packing business be sure you have the facts and that you are not unintentionally spreading misinformation.

If you get the facts we have no doubt as to the verdict.
