

EDYTH KELLOGG SURE OF HER CASE, SAYS ATTORNEY

Will File Petition for Widow's Allowance From Philip Kellogg's Estate In Probate Court Soon.

Mrs. Edyth Kellogg, 3541 North Twenty-eighth street, is so sure she is the legal widow of the late Philip Kellogg, that she will file a petition for a widow's allowance from his estate in probate court soon, her attorney, Frank Shotwell, stated yesterday.

"We are absolutely sure of our case," said Mr. Shotwell. "It is a certainty."

The fact that two women claimed to be the lawful widow of Mr. Kellogg developed Friday when attorneys for Mrs. Goldie Kellogg went to probate court to have Mr. Kellogg's will probated.

There they discovered that Mrs. Edyth Kellogg had made application on November 4 to have the will probated.

"Hon. J. Dean Ringer, Commissioner, Department of Police, Sanitation and Public Safety. "Dear Sir: On the eve of my so-journal in Lincoln, permit me to make a suggestion.

"During my association with the employees of the department of health I never worked in such harmony with any body of men and women. I attribute this to their ability to perform their very arduous duties.

"Therefore, from observation, together with my experience in the performance of my duties, I firmly believe the help in the department of health are worthy of a Christmas present, by an increase in their salary, not less than 25 per cent.

"Respectfully yours, "JERRY HOWARD."
