MAY GO DARK AGAIN.

New York, Dec. 2.—New York's "Great White Way," which became the great dark way during the coal famine of the winter of 1917-18, is likely to be plunged into darkness again by the present coal shortage.

The first lights to be dimmed, it was said, will be the great electrical theatrical display signs and the other advertising signs familiar to the theatrical district. Should the coal shortage become even more coal shortage become even more

DISMAL WEATHER FOR HOMECOMING PRINCE.

London, Dec. 2.-London has never witnessed more dismal weather for a welcome than that which the prince of Wales received this afternoon on his return from the ADMITTING IDENTITY four months' tour of Canada and the United States.

Queen Alexandra was all in purple. She welcomed the prince warmly and is celebrating her 75th birthday with him and the rest of the royal family at Buckingham palace.

The prince shot out of the train with characteristic vim, his face wrapped in smiles. He kissed his father, mother and grandmother. The king and his heir then inspected the guard of honor drawn up at the station, whereupon began the procession in state.

Transportation agencies, federal and local government institutions and establishments, including concerns working on government con-tracts; public utilities, including newspapers and retail dealers. "As far as practicable, until the conditions warrant a change, the distribution of coal will be limited to the first five classes of the priority list," Dr. Garfield said in his order. Text of Order. The full text of the Garfield order follows: It is necessary that coal shall be used only for essential purposes.

Public utilities consuming coal should discontinue to furnish power, heat and light to non-essential industries and should only consume sufficient coal to produce enough light, power and heat to meet the actual urgent needs of the people. Advertisin signs and displays of various kinds necessitating the use of coal should be curtailed and no coal should be distributed for such purposes. Pursuant to this policy I have requested the railroad administration in the distribution of coal now or hereafter in its possession to limit distribution to these essential and urgent uses.

As far as practicable, until the conditions warrant a change, the distribution of coal will be limited to the first five classes of the priority list. Retail dealers who distribute coal for household quirement, heating hotels, buildings, hospitals, etc., should take every precaution to see that coal is only delivered where it is absolutely required and then only in such limited quantities that the supply may be distributed wideand prevent suffering. The state and other local authorities can materially aid in inspecting and supervising such distribution by retail dealers and the U.
