No complete estimate of the loss in the robbery of Hayden Bros. store, Sixteenth and Dodge streets, last Saturday night has been completed. The total still stands at approximately $63,000, Joseph Hayden, nead of the firm, said yesterday. He denied that a third cache of coin had been found behind some barrels in the basement of the store, as published yesterday.

No clue as to the identity of the yeggmen has been found.

Creighton College and High Close Until Jan. 5

R. M. Kelley, director of studies at Creighton university, stated last evening that the Creighton High school and College of Liberal arts will not be opened until January 5 because of the coal situation.

"When these institutions do open," said Mr. Kelley, "we probably will hold classes Saturday morning and dispense with the customary Easter holiday in order to make up for the work lost during the 13 class days missed through the coal shortage."
