

The sweetest words the world has ever heard, have been spoken by those who have wept the saddest tears. It was out of the depths of a divine sorrow that David uttered the most plaintive of his deathless psalms.

Resinol
does wonders for chafed or irritated skins

"My doctor told me about it and if I couldn't get another jar I wouldn't give this one up for anything." That is how many people regard Resinol Ointment. It is especially recommended for eczema and other itching skin troubles, but it is also excellent as a general household remedy for burns, scalds, chafings, cold sores, pimples, boils, insect bites, etc.

Resinol Soap and Resinol Shaving Stick contain the Resinol properties and no home should be without these products.

BETTER THAN CALOMEL

Thousands Have Discovered
Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets are a Harmless Substitute

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets—the substitute for calomel—are a mild but sure, laxative, and their effect on the liver is almost instantaneous. These little olive-colored tablets are the result of Dr.
Edwards' determination not to treat liver and bowel complaints with calomel.
The pleasant little tablets do the good that calomel does, but have no bad after effects. They don't injure the teeth like strong liquids or calomel.
They take hold of the trouble and quickly correct it. Why cure the liver at the expense of the teeth? Calomel sometimes plays havoc with the gums.
So do strong liquids. It is best not to take calomel. Let Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets take its place.

Headaches, "dullness" and that lazy feeling come from constipation and a disordered liver. Take Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets when you feel "tired" and "heavy." They "clear" the blood and "perk up" the spirits. 10c and 25c.

Fashion Hints

By BESS FURMAN.

It might be wise to offer here a word to the discreet. We'd stand a cooler atmosphere if there were less to heat, if waists were not so very sheer, if skirts were more complete, if oxfords took a needed rest, if silk hose were more rare, if —mayhap you've already guessed the thing I hardly dare be so old-fashioned to suggest—some warmer underwear. In short, if there were only more between us and the breezes, it might be several weeks before the female species freezes, because no miner hauls forth ore, except just when he pleases.

What is to be, will be, I know.
Wherefore, I say, so be it. Now I'd dress like an Eskimo, should fashion so decree it. If flying togs were all the go, we'd have "em-guarantee it. Should fashion magazines come out with army socks in season, 'twould do much more there is no doubt, than an appeal to reason, to put the Weather Man to rout, and keep us all from freezin'.

How to Carve a Turkey

Do you know how to carve a turkey? If you do, dinner will be joy unfettered, but if you don't, your troubles are coming to you.
There are two ways to carve any sort of a roasted bird—a right way and a wrong way. The wrong way is the one too often used and many times ends with the roast in somebody's lap or father standing in a statuesque pose with his knee holding down an innocent wish bone.
Carving the turkey is not the grim mystery that many suppose.
If it is done according to rules it is simple, neat and rather an interesting operation. This is the way to do it:

Put the roasted bird on its back on a large platter, with the neck to the left. Drive the points of the carving fork each side of the breast bone at its highest point, and hold the handle of the fork firmly in the left hand, remembering to snap the guard up so that if the knife slips it doesn't matter.

Still holding the fork in the left hand, bend the turkey towards you until you can easily see all of the outer drumstick. Then with one

Heart Beats

By A. K.

"I want to be A Bernhardt!"
The youthful maiden cried—
"And wear red wigs
And rings and things—
And rant and rave
And cry.
I want to play
That sick Camille
And dress quite stunningly
In bed—
Or be a Cleopatra bold
With countless kings
For lovers.
An Anna Held
Would suit me fine—
I'd like to dance
And wink and skate
Until my eyes
Would not behave.
I want to be
A Bara cold—
Or a wicked old Suratt—While all the men
Come trailing me
Like flies around my flat.
I'd turn my nose up
In the air—
At everyone
But millionaires—
I'd have huge diamonds
Limousines—
Poodles white
And lady's maids' Thus she hoped
Her life away in idleness
And dullness—
She did not work
Or take the name
Of Sarah Jones
Into the light.
Her days were spent In wishing—
Her nights were fraught With dreams—
There was no time
For labor
Or practicing her schemes Her wishes kept her busy—(It's toil that brings results)
And so she died
As she had lived—A stranger to Success.

cut of the knife slip the skin between the leg and the body, bringing the point of the knife up to the joint. Reversing the hand, with another single stroke of the knife cut the skin away from the leg on the other side, again bringing the point of the knife up to the joint. It is not necessary to cut through the joint if the turkey is at all properly cooked.

Now you have severed the drum-stick from the body except that it is still held on by the joint. If you have done it neatly the drumstick can be pushed away from the body with the knife and will break off at the joint.

Cut the drumstick from the upper leg. This can be done with not over two cuts of the knife. Cut off the wing the same way you did the leg.
Turn the turkey around and remove the leg and wing from the other side. Then turn the turkey back to its original position with the neck

The Red Cross Christmas Seals Help in Fight On Tuberculosis.

The proceeds from the sale of seals do not only help those unfortunately ill with tuberculosis, but also to prevent others liable through ignorance, carelessness, poverty and other contributing causes, from contracting the disease.
Tuberculosis is a universal tax on our resources which can be met by a universal tax on our pocketbooks.
In other words by means of a small purchase of Red Cross seals by everyone.
The powers of prevention and cure embodied in this penny messenger lie in the fact that every single individual has the opportunity and the wherewith to take part large or small in the tremendous movement to nominate tuberculosis "the next to go."
The economic loss to the nation turned to the left and carve the breast in thin slices.

Under the back on either side of the backbone are small oyster-shaped pieces of dark meat considered by many to be the best part of the fowl. Cut these off carefully and serve a piece with each portion.
Do not serve too large portions.
It is better to use a second service than to load up the plate with meat.

The Debating club at a recent meeting elected Marion Mulvaney president and Elmer Conner as secretary-treasurer.

Miss Edith Cone was elected by the faculty as their representative to attend the student union convention to be held in Des Moines late in December. The delegates elected by the students were Grace Getty, '20; Warren Baller, '23, and Walter Henry, '23. Hugh Arnold will represent the commercial department. Lee Fletcher, '20, has been asked to take charge of a portion of the exhibit at the convention.

On Monday evening, November 24, the annual Thanksgiving meeting of the Y. W. C. A. and their annual dinner occurred. Miss Edith Callender took charge of the devotional meeting. Miss Blanche Harritt, chairman of the missionary committee, presided while the girls brought their missionary offerings. The contributions amounted to $79. Seventy-five active members and affiliated members were present.

The work of the college is somewhat handicapped at present by the fuel shortage. Although the public schools have been closed and their fuel turned over to those in need, the city authorities deemed it advisable for the college to continue work as long as possible because of the hardship otherwise entailed upon students from distant parts of Nebraska and from other states. The schedule has been rearranged so that the main building need not be heated so early in the day as formerly and every effort is put forth to conserve fuel as much as possible. The students have been cutting down some of the small trees on the campus with a view of augmenting the present fuel supply.
