One hundred and seventy-five federal census enumerators of the Secand congressional district, comprising Douglas, Sarpy and Washington counties, started yesterday on their work of taking the 14th census, under the direction of John H. Hopkins, supervisor of this district more. Cows soid at about steady prices, although some were good enough to bring $11.50, the high price for the week, however, being $11.75. Compared with last Friday, values are strong to a quarter or more higher. The market for feeders has been steadily improving, with advances of $25 and 50 cents over last week's close, or $1.00 or more above the low time two weeks ago. Thire was nothing very choice on hand today, but what there was found a ready outlet to traders.

Representative saies: Bradstreet's Trade Review New York, Jan. 2 .- Bradstreet's tomor Less than normal holiday quiet in wholesale and jobbing lines, a heavier than usual volume of past holiday clearance sales at rotail, few notable exceptions to reports of aimost uniformly strong commodity

of demand and prices in steel and iron, lumber and other building materials, active stock market speculation at advancing prices, despite next to highest calmency rates and highest time money quetations of the year and industry active

some of the features of what has been in ordinary years a quiet week in trade and industry.

An upturn in the weekly food index An upturn in the weekly food index number, due to sharr advances in bogs eggs and dried fruits, with steadiness in most other goods, is an additional element of the week's news. Car shortages which cripple lumber production and movement, cripple lumber production and movement continued eager buying up of unfilled orand a further banking up of unfilled orders, a sharp upturn of coal production previous to the holidays, with a luli naturally reported following this spurt, are among the notable industrial items coming to hand. "The usual year-end duliness has pervaded the wool trade this week, but prices remain firm. The goods market is well sold ahead and the demand for goods continues fairly keen.

"Western operations have been negligible. How far the promise of larger imports of Australian fine wools for account of the British government auctions will affect the contracting of territory wools remains to be seen."

Chicago, Jan. 2.—Below zero temper-ure led to a rush of buying in the corn The finish, although unsettled, was 1c to 2c net higher with January, $1.35% to $1.35½ and May, $1.33 to $1.33½. Oats gained \( \) c to \( \) c. In provisions the close varied from 20c decline to 35c advance. The chief incentive for the buying of corn was the fact that the extreme cold weather was likely to increase delay to supplies needed to replenish stocks at terminals. At the outset uneasiness about car scarcity was also a decided builish factor. Hesides, there was talk of enlarged feeding demand. Subsequently, however, reports were circulated that Washington authorities had ordered a liberal number of empty cars to be hurried from the east to help handle grain on western roads. A full in export demand for cereals tended likewise to ease the corn market somewhat in the last part of the session.

Oats were firm throughout the day, notwithstanding absence of seaboard inquiry. European orders were said to have been filled for the time being. Provisions advanced with hogs and grain, but in the late dealings lard turned weak owing to heavy deliveries on January contracts, although the deliveries went into strong hands. .84% .83% .84 .77% .76% .76% 27.25 37.35 35.15 37.15 36.85

He paused as if trying to frame correctly his next words, and in the interval there flashed upon my mental screen a film which would have explained to him the rescue from bankruptcy which he could not comprehend, but which Lillian and I had planned that he never should suspect. Again I saw the mocking evil face of the women who had been the cause of my father's desertion of my mother when I was but 4 years old, and who had come back into his life but a few short months before with blackmailing demands that threatened to ruin him.

"Can I manage the time?" I repeated ironically, then blushed involuntarily as I remembered that I had not "managed the time" to walk with my father very frequently. But I mentally resolved that not on account of his gift, but because of my own awakening I would spend as many of my future leisure hours with him as I could possibly manage.

My father took my face between his palms and gazed at me long and searchingly.

New York, Jan. 2.—The market for coffee futures was stronger today, based: on reports of an improving European dentry and and buying by houses with Wall street and cotton exchange connections, which probably reflected the more optimistic view of peace treaty prospecta and money rates. After opening 4 to 7 points higher the market showed some irregularity as a result of scattered realizing, but firmed up during the afternoon with March selling at 15.38c and May 15.59c, or about 25 to 29 points higher. The close was within a point or two of the best, showing a net advance of 25 to 28 points. January, 14.97c; March, 15.37c; May. New York Coffee.
