Reins Varied, But Her Ambition Is Steady and Strong

THE charming little person that you will see singing and dencing with Roy Hover in "Jack o' Lantern," in which Fred Stone is the active and humorous star, at the Brandeis theater, is a California girl with a whole lot of ambition. As a little kiddie she was stage struck, but what she wanted to do was to be a tragedienne-have somebody kill her so she could jump in the air and fall dead. She practiced this incessantly until she could do that better than the other girls, and then she got up several shows, in which she starred herself. She acknowledges that she was a tomboy at that time and didn't care if she did get hurt. At this time she was living with her father and mother on a large orangegrowing grove in southern California and she participated in many outdoor sports, especially horseback riding in which she was most interested Some of the happiest times she had was when she visited a friend whose father owned a big cattle ranch, and most of the time was spent in riding cow ponies which went like the wind This experience made her ambitious to "go like the wind" in an opportunity. It was a long time before her parents would consent to ner attempting a stage career, but she finally persuaded them and she went to New York to study. found that there was not much doing in tragedy, and as she had a soprano voice, she was coached by several teachers, and her ambitions switched from Juliet to Patti. From small parts in several musical comedies she was selected as the in-genue in "Chin Chin" and is now singing the principal role in "Jack o'

new bill opening at the Empress to-das. The Whirlwind Hagens will introduce their classy dancing act. They give several imitations of famous dancers. Keno, Keyes and Melrose will present "That Fellow Don't Like Me." They are a trio of exceptional gymnasts, splendid comedians and dancers. Adams and Guhl in blackface come well recommended. The stellar attraction for the last half of the week will be provided by Hawthorn's minstrels. Six versatile young men and one talented female comprise this aggregation of wit, comedy and dancing.

On Wednesday evening, January 16, Mr. George Arliss will present a new play entitled "Jacques Duval," at the Brandeis theater. The engagement will last throughout the week, with matinees on Wednesday and Saturday. The attraction under the management of Mr. George C. Tyler and was adapted from the Danish by George S. Kaufman, a well known New York newspaper man. Mr. Arliss essays the role of a medical scientist, who neglects his wife, and in consequence she becomes enamored of the Marquis de Chauvet. It so happens that de Chauvet is stricken with the white plague, and comes-to Dr. Duval for treatment. The latter, becoming aware of the mutual infatuation of de Chauvet and his wife, decides that he will not wreak vengeance on his patient at the present, but will cure him and then kill

The producer, John Golden, is sending the well-remembered principals seen during the company, will appear at the Bran-long runs in New York and Chi-deis theater during the last week of cago. The only company on tour, to be seen here is headed by Samuel Reed, William Foran, Sylvia Field, harles W. Goodrich, Stuart Fox, ane Ellison, Sidney Henderson, Maude Huntley and other favorites who have contributed to the nationwide success of "the comedy that will live forever." Mike Donlin, the former base ball star, is also a promment member of the cast.

With a lot of young and beautiul girls as a foundation and a clever book, "Manhattan, Please," as a vehicle, "Girls A La Carte" are now playing a week's engagement at the Gayety. The book was written by Bert Hamlon and Ben A. Ryan, the music by Herbert Stothart, A lever company is headed by 'Jamie" Coughlin. Another, and a lewcomer in burlesque, is Martha Pryor. Others prominent in the cast are Ben Bard, Harry Kennedy, Charles Fagan, Madeline Moore, Tiny Belmont and Leona Earl, One of the big punches of the show is the chorus. Ladies' matinee at 2:15 daily all week, Today's matinee starts at 3.

"Friendly Enemies," the comedy success, will be at the Boyd on next Sunday for an engagement of four airplane and she is looking forward nights, under the direction of A. H. to the time when she will have that Woods. This masterpiece of comedy, pathos, of tears and love, of seriousness and fun, will be presented with a notable company.

These are indispensable to his skating performance and are "behind the scenes" in every city where he performs. So simple that the erection and dismantling of the entire equipment can be accomplished in a few hours, yet so perfectly constructed and substantial that in spite of rough and hurried handling and the hard knocks received in transportation, the "YORK" Compressors still run as slick and true as the day on which the wheels first turned over.

High grade material, substantial construction and expert workmanship has placed "YORK" output beyond the reach of competition, and explains the world's record of 685 "YORK" sales for the last 3 months of 1919.
