Affairs for Actress. Miss Mazie Belle Glover, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. R. Glover of Omaha, who is appearing at the Orpheum this week, was honor guest at a luncheon at the Athletic club, Friday.

Mr. and Mrs. Dean Glover will entertain 20 guests at the dinner-dance at the Athletic club Saturday evening for Miss Glover.

Fine Arts Lecture. Moissaye J. Olgin of New York will speak in the hall room of the Fontenelle Thursday afternoon, January 15 at 3:45, under auspices of the Omaha Society of Fine Arts.

Mr. Olgin was born in Kieff, Russia, and received his education at the university there. He has been involved in the revolutionary movement since 1900. Up to 1914 he belonged to the revolutionary faction of Mensheviks.

In November, 1914, he was imprisoned for 27 days as an alien enemy in Germany. He escaped and came to this country.

When Mr. Olgin came to America he knew no English at all. In order to become familiar with the language and secure information upon American economic and political conditions, he attended Columbia university, from which he received the degree of Ph. D.

Mr. Olgin is the author of several pamphlets, and papers besides his book, "The Soul of the Revolution." Another volume, "A Guide to Russian Literature" will soon appear.

Luncheon for Artists. An informal luncheon was given at the Fontenelle Friday for Mr. Ben Foster and Mr. Gardner Symons, who are here with an exhibit of their works for the Fine Arts society.

Covers were also placed for Mr. and Mrs. George Frinz, Mrs. C. T. Kountze, Mrs. Fred Nash, Mrs. Ward Burgess and Mr. L. F. Crofoot.

Installation. George Crook, G. A. R. post and W. R. C. will hold a joint installation in Memorial hall Saturday at 2 p. m.

Miss Catherine Hastings, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Byron R. Hastings, left Friday evening for Stamford, Conn., where she attends Glen Eden school.

A son was born Wednesday to Dr. and Mrs. W. H. Saunders.

Heart Beats

By A. K.

All Rights Reserved. "Heart disease" The doctor said: But friends confided "A broken heart."

Who knew him well Disclosed a secret sorrow— An overdrawn account. The city mourned. The big man's loss— The nation bowed.

In grief— But noisy— The masses questioned— "Was he a great man Or a thief?"

With all his millions, Wall street suffered A shock—a shiver— For just an hour or two— Were quickly resumed— Finance and the world Were linked again.

While all this speculation Was rife— And real— The man strolled round And waxes confident. What this nonsense meant. Test after test He made to prove That he was awake— Not dreaming.

Everything seemed just the same As it had been. The heavy burden— Yet no one answered When he spoke— He was not recognized At home—

He saw the family Bowed in sorrow— Over his cold And lifeless form. Then— Suddenly the truth began To penetrate his astral brain— He understood.

That he was dead— At least the world supposed so. The living dead man chuckled And viewed with calm His remains— He heard the verdicts Of the crowds— Where some were sending him To Hell.

Many condemning him To Hell. He mused: "So this is death! And a million souls Still walk the earth— Stupidly groping In lubbering bodies And outlying me— Yet they're all. A thousand times More dead than I. This is not death—but Life!" SELAH.

Fine Arts Exhibit. Gardner Symons and Ben Foster, whose exhibit of paintings under auspices of the Omaha Society of Fine Arts, will open at the library on Sunday, are still able to smile in spite of disaster.

Their last exhibit took place at Des Moines, and when their pictures reached that place they found it took $500 to replace the glass broken in shipment. Upon examination of their pictures on arrival in Omaha they find every glass is broken. It will all be replaced, however, and the pictures will be ready for the public on Sunday. These artists sold 11 of their pictures in Des Moines. One of Mr. Foster's works is already in Omaha's possession. It hangs in the city library.

Kappa Psi Delta. Miss Elton Hensman will entertain the members of the Kappa Psi Delta sorority at her home, 5829 Florence boulevard, Saturday afternoon.

Installation. George Crook, G. A. R. post and W. R. C. will hold a joint installation in Memorial hall Saturday at 2 p. m.

Lovelorn

BY BEATRICE FAIRFAX

Pimples and Boys. Dear Miss Fairfax, Omaha Bee: I have been reading your "Advice to Lovelorn" and like it very much.

I am coming to you for three advices. I am 16 years old, am short, got big blue eyes, brown hair, have got a good complexion, rosy cheeks and all the boys are crazy over me.

If there is any way that you could get a little off of my nose, it has been there for a long time. I have been putting on all kinds of cream and it will not come off. Could you tell me how to get it off?

I have been going with a boy friend last winter and I quit him on account of him going once with my friend, but he is simply crazy over me, and could you tell how I could make up with him, for I like him, too? Please tell me.

I know a boy friend, but he don't know me. How could I get acquainted with him to go with him? He is about 18 years old. How is my writing and spelling? Should I go to school yet? Am I too young to go with fellows? What age should a girl be before she can go with fellows? Hoping to see my letter in print, I remain, yours, FATTY ARBUCKLE.

I know of no way to remove a pimple from your nose. If you are fond of the boy and he is fond of you it seems to me that he would make some advance which you would recognize as a signal of surrender. How could you know a boy friend "who does not know you?" You mean you have the lines out after a boy who doesn't know you.

I presume. The only proper way to become acquainted with the young man is to have some mutual friend introduce you. Your writing and spelling are atrocious and I suggest that you spend your time in study for a while instead of devoting so much thought to boys.

Tip the Red Caps. Dear Miss Fairfax, Omaha Bee: I have written to you before and have received good advice, so am coming again.

A friend of mine asked me if when at the depot the usher comes and asks if you wish any help and you let him carry your grip should you pay him or not? I heard some say that you should, while others say you shouldn't. Please settle this for us.

My question is this: I received a Christmas booklet from a young man, only a friend. He wrote his address on the envelope. Should I write to him? We never corresponded before. Enclosed you will find stamped envelope. Yours truly, MARY.

By all means pay the Red Caps (ushers) at the depot. Do you imagine that they carry heavy bags all day for exercise? Certainly write a note of thanks.

Fancy Work. Dear Miss Fairfax: Where can one sell fancy work in Omaha? Such as quilts and crocheting, and also cartoon work. Unfortunately we have no woman's exchange in Omaha, and the Y. W. C. A. does not handle anything of this kind. Our only suggestion is that you see heads of art departments in the department stores.

After School Hours —and for Lunches Nothing takes the place of bread and butter and jam with the kiddies—they crave it—their growing bodies demand it, and nothing is so good for them. Hard Roll Bread gives to the Kiddies all that is GOOD in good bread—it is soft centered—has that crisp, crackling crust that adds so much to the flavor. Insist upon getting Hard Roll Bread. It costs no more than other breads, but it's twice as good, and better for the kids. Tell your grocer it must be. Hard Roll Bread
