PROPOSE STATE COURT FOR ALL LABOR DISPUTES

Tribunal of Industrial Relations Suggested for New Constitution by Delegate Howard of Omaha.

Lincoln, Neb., Jan. 9.—(Special.)—Amendment of the Nebraska constitution so as to create a court of industrial conditions has been proposed to the state's constitutional convention.

The proposed court, when appealed to, would have jurisdiction in matters of difference and dispute between employers and employees. It would not have, however, "such power as will deny either employer or employee the right to refuse employment or to cease work, singly or collectively."

The proposal, introduced by Delegate Jerry Howard of Omaha, if adopted by the convention, would have to be approved by the voters before it would become effective.

Adjourns on Monday.

Aside from increasing the membership of some of the standing committees of the convention from one to four more, the convention this morning received seven new proposals for amendments to the constitution, running the total number up to 224 and then adjourned until 11 Monday morning.

The committee on industrial relations announced that there would be a continuation of the committee meeting held yesterday until next Tuesday when representatives of the manufacturers' association of Omaha would appear.

Chairman Pollard of the committee on revenue and taxation also announced that the committee would hold a hearing at 2 o'clock, Monday, Wednesday and Friday of next week in their rooms at the Lindell hotel.

New Proposals.

No. 218, by Jankins—That sales of school land, if authorized by the legislature, shall be conducted by auction, instead of by appraisal and sale out the minimum price of $1 per acre.

No. 219, by Jankins—Includes school districts and other special subdivisions in tax exemption clause applying to the state, counties and municipalities. Exempts income from all such property, as well as the property itself. These exemptions are made absolute, but do not apply to portions of property operated as a business or for profit.

No. 220, by Howard—Creates a state court of industrial relations and empowers. Gives employer and employee the right to organize and bargain collectively. The former may cease work and the latter refuse employment, either singly or collectively.

No. 221, by Anderson—Authorizes jury verdicts by two-thirds vote in any case, as may be provided by law.

No. 222, by Wall—Takes the state normal board a constitutional body, with its members to be appointed by the governor and the state superintendent to be a member ex-officio. This eliminates the state treasurer. At present the board is a creation of the legislature.

No. 223, by Lewis—Authorizes the legislature to levy a personal income tax for benefit and use of state educational institutions and to appropriate the proceeds therefrom to the support of such institutions. The legislature's making additional appropriations for such institutions.

No. 224, by Spick—Constitutional amendments submitted by the legislature, to be printed on separate ballots and a majority of votes cast thereon sufficient to carry.

"Work and Save," Slogan In Fight Against H. C. L.

Lincoln, Jan. 9.—(Special.)—Governor McKelvie is of the opinion, after an extended conference with the delegates to the state session of woman clubs in Lincoln this week, that a much more effective work can be done toward solving the high cost of living through this organization than in any other way.

An advisory committee will be appointed with a branch in each county of the state, which will work with the local committee. No effort will be made to fix prices, but work will be confined to educating the people to "work and save."

The Department of Agriculture will be at the head of the work.

MAHER AGAINST WILSON'S STAND ON PEACE PACT

Nebraska Political Leader Announces He Will Leave Democratic Party.

Indianapolis, Jan. 9.—(Special Telegram.)—John G. Maher of Lincoln, formerly chief disbursing officer of the American expeditionary forces, announced while on a business mission to Indianapolis that he would leave the democratic party as a result of President Wilson's determined effort to have the league of nations covenant ratified without reservations.

Mr. Maher, who was a colonel in the army, is president of the Old Line Insurance company of Lincoln. Prior to going overseas he was a depot quartermaster at Omaha.

Wilson's Dogmatic Stand.

"If the democratic national convention ratifies the president's stand on the league of nations," he said, "I will leave the party. That is just a nice way of putting it, for there is little doubt but what the Democratic bosses will endorse his dogmatic stand."

Mr. Maher said that he had long been a foe of William Jennings Bryan, but now feels that his position to compromise with the majority party in the senate on the league reservation is just.

He said that he has been a life-long democrat and that his father was one before him, but the autocracy established by Wilson in Washington is more than he can stand.

All Against League.

"The great and overwhelming majority of the men who served overseas," he said, "are opposed to the league covenant without proper reservations. If the question is left to a vote, as proposed by the president, Nebraska will give a majority of 50,000 in favor of reservations that will safeguard American sovereignty. The thing to do is to ratify the pact at once and get down to the consideration of the serious problems confronting the American people within our doors."

Woods Says Nebraska Solid for Nomination Of General Pershing

Washington, Jan. 9.—(Special Telegram.)—Close upon the heels of the democratic celebration of the battle of New Orleans, Mark W. Woods, Frank H. Woods and George A. Woods, a triumvirate of Pershing boosters from Lincoln, came to the national capital to ascertain for themselves whether there was any sentiment in the east for the great commander of the American forces in the world war. Mark Woods said that he was a business man and not a politician, but believing that General Pershing possesses qualities of a very superior kind that are imperatively needed now, he had gone into the campaign to help draft him for the presidential nomination.

Mr. Woods said that his brothers and himself had run over from New York for the day and would return there; that after several days in the east he had found growing sentiment for General Pershing, and it was for the purpose of crystallizing that sentiment into something tangible that he was making the trip.

"Nebraska will be for Pershing," said Mr. Woods. "Wherever he has appeared the crowds rose to him. Throughout our state his name is first on the lips of our citizens and in my judgment there will be such a spontaneous demand for his nomination by June that the convention cannot help but see the logic in his nomination."
