

Giant Oil-Burning Locomotive Built for the Seaboard Air Line by the American Locomotive Company of New York. The Seaboard Air Line Has Decided to Convert a Number of Its Coal-Burning Locomotives Into Oil-Burners, Which Will Probably Revolutionize the Operation of Trains in the East, as Far as the Use of Fuel Is Concerned. The Seaboard Expects to Save $1,000,000 Annually in Its Fuel Bill.

(Photograph Copyrighted by Underwood & Underwood.)

Luther Burbank, the plant wizard of California, who is now engaged in evolving a new variety of tomato.

(Underwood & Underwood.)

The Longest Lift Bridge in the World, 300 Feet in Length, Which Spans the Chicago River at Twelfth Street, Chicago, Ill., Is Soon to Be Opened to Traffic. It Took Two Years to Construct This Masterpiece of Engineering. The Balance Weight Is Nearly 1,000,000 Pounds.

(Photograph Copyrighted by Underwood & Underwood.)

Miss Geraldine Graham of Santa Barbara, California, who was voted the most beautiful member of the young society set at Newport last season, has migrated to White Sulphur Springs, Va., where she ranks among the foremost equestriennes.

—Underwood & Underwood.

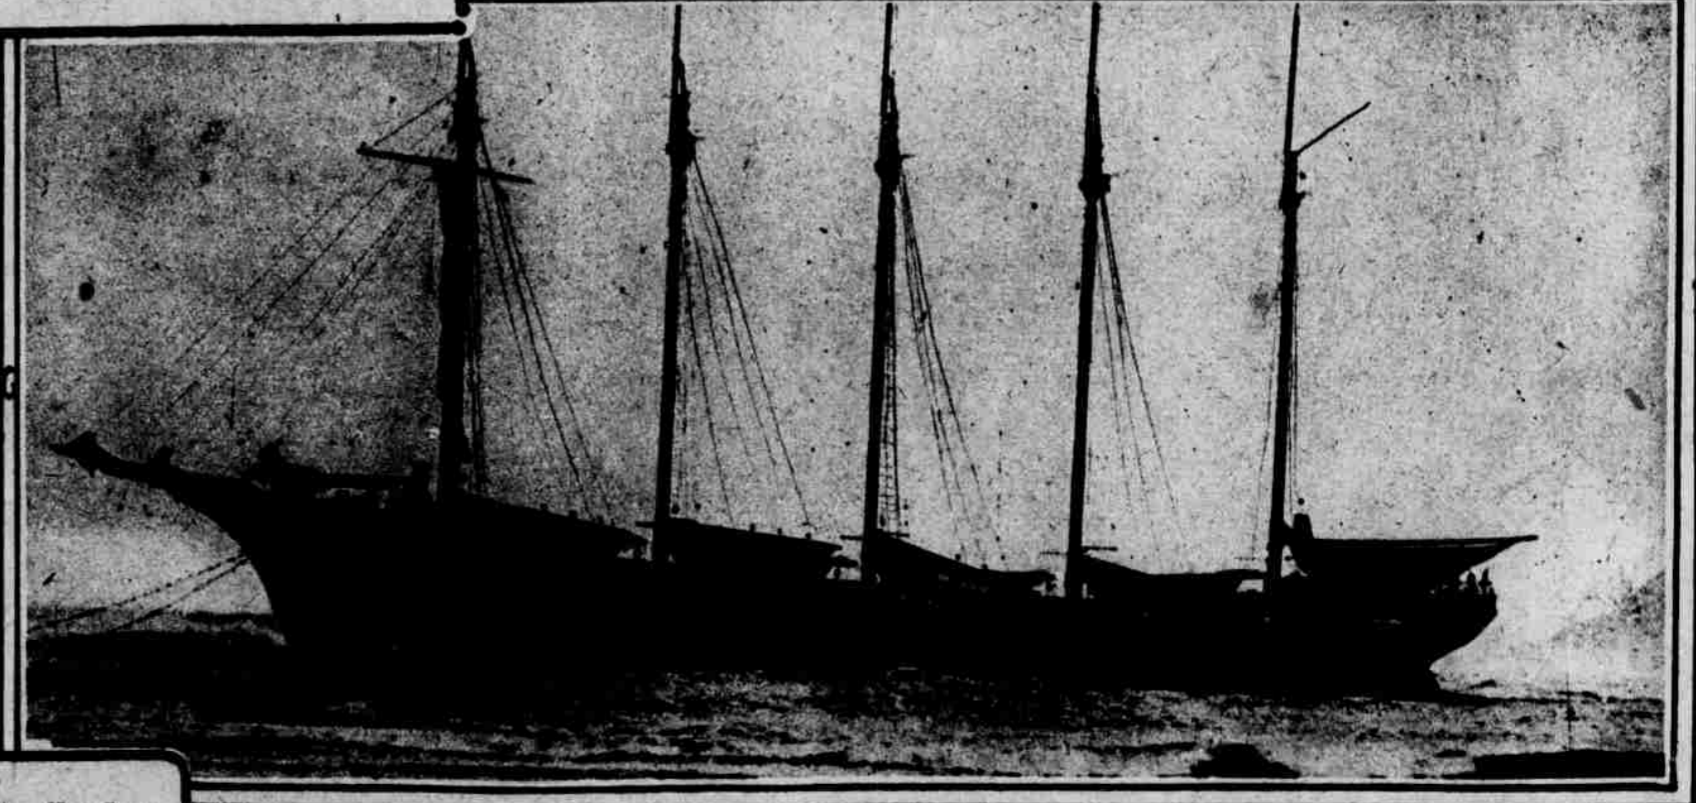

This Toucan, an Inhabitant of Central America, Has Been Adopted by the Crew of the Renown as the Mascot of the Cruiser.

(Photograph Copyrighted by Underwood & Underwood.)

New Motor Buses Which Assure Comfort for Chicagoans During Cold and Wet Weather, Now Being Run on the Sheridan Road and Lakeside Drive, Chicago, Ill.

(Photograph Copyrighted by Underwood & Underwood.)

American Five-Masted Schooner Cape Falcon Ashore Between Robin Hood's Bay and Ravenscar, on the Yorkshire Coast, England. A Fierce Northeast Gale Was the Cause. The Crew, with the Exception of the Master and Chief Officer, Were Taken off and Safely Landed at Robin Hood's Bay. Efforts Are Being Made to Refloat the Ill-Fated Vessel.