

City Paving Inspectors to Be Paid From $5 to $8 Day. A resolution offered by City Commissioner Towl and adopted yesterday by the city council provides that inspectors on paving and sewer work shall be paid from $5 to $8 per day. Mr. Towl explained that he intended to pay competent inspectors on a monthly basis of $150, which would cover the days when work is stopped on account of weather conditions. The city will pay bricklayers $1.25 per hour this year. Laborers on city work have been paid on the basis of nine hours at 50 cents per hour for eight hours work. This season's rate of pay has not been fixed.

South Side FEEDER CATTLE ADVANCE $2 IN THE LAST MONTH

Price of Lambs Also Advances With Prospect That They Will Reach $20 Very Soon.

During the last month feeder cattle have gained in price from $1.50 to $2 over the quotation in early December, when for the week ending the 6th of that month quotations on choice prime lambs were $10.50 and $12.50, as compared with $12 to $13.50 now. In this class of cattle the supply has not been able to meet the demand, according to traders on the local market.

Lamb feeders are also reaping a harvest on the local market, according to reports received here that a large number of Iowa people have received in the last month from $5 to $7 above the cost of feeding.

A Nebraska man, raising sheep near this market, is reported as having bought 6,000 lambs at the local yards last September at prices ranging from 8 to 11 cents a pound and returned 4,000 of them recently, getting $16 to $17 on the local market, making an average of $6.50.

The price of lambs on the local market is going up as an amazing rate this week and the market closed Saturday with lambs $1.50 to $1.75 higher than a week ago, and a local packer offered the opinion that the price may go up to 20 cents a pound soon.

Police Say Two Men Identified as Bandits Who Robbed Couple

Two men arrested today for investigation were identified shortly after their arrest as robbers who held up Mr. and Mrs. Tindell, 1312 Douglas street, at Twenty-fifth and M streets, December 8, and John Faibish, 3354 P street, on the night of November 15, police say.

Joe Koschik, 2412 South Twenty-eighth street, was the name given by the one identified by Mr. and Mrs. Tindell. The other man gave his name as Ed Pempton, 1601 Archer street.

Both men deny the accusations. Rudolph Soukup, switchman, 2608 South Eighth street, is also being held for investigation. He was arrested with Koschik.

Pioneer Shipper Tells of Stock Yards In Early Days

J. R. Chace, a pioneer farmer and stockman of Elger, who was a visitor at the yards Monday with a load of cattle, told a number of interested auditors of the early days of the stock yards.

"I came down to South Omaha in 1883 and took a look at the ground on which the local yards were located," said Mr. Chace, "and I wondered how it would be possible to build an enterprise on such a rough and brush-covered tract of land as I saw at that time. I had but little faith in its success and cannot help now but wonder at the magnificent plant for handling cattle that has been built to be the third largest live stock market in the world."

Seward Stockman Plays Ruse, But He Got Cattle Car

Joe Howard of Seward, who handles quite a number of hogs on the local market, wanted to get a car to send in a load of hogs last week and he told there was nothing doing in the furnishing of cars, as there were too many orders ahead of him.

Howard was anxious to ship his hogs to the local market, so he gave a local cattle buyer an order for one steer weighing about 500 pounds. The steer was shipped to Seward and the freight paid, but Howard had a car for his hog shipment and the railroad was none the wiser.

The little girl sustained bruises on her right knee. She was attended by Police Surgeon Young and sent home. The driver was not held by the police, as the accident was said to have been unavoidable.

By LETA MOORE MEYER.

When Ben Foster and Gardner Symons, whose landscapes are on exhibition at the public library to January 25 under the auspices of the Fine Arts society, were in Des Moines during their show there Mr. Symons did not waste time, but went on with his painting. "Winter Sunshine," one of the best pictures shown, he did there.

Get up close and examine this canvas as you would a piece of silk you were buying. See the Chinese puzzle between the two trees and the marks on the water which look like chicken tracks or the scribbles of a baby. See the blue shadow which goes down one tree trunk, out on the ground and up the other in a perfectly even flat mass.

Then at a distance, nearly the length of the room, see how every fault falls into place with a click. The luminous blue shadow is snow, full of color and atmosphere, and its drawing a fundamental part of the design. The water is so wet and cold and flowing and level.

When the artists were holding their exhibition in Des Moines they were the house guests during their stay of Mr. and Mrs. Carpenter. Instead of sitting comfortably at home Mr. Symons was out painting this picture at 10 degrees below zero, with the chauffeur and limousine waiting where they could not follow him. He painted directly on the canvas, soaking his paints up with oil to keep them soft.

The remarkable sureness and facility of brush strokes which are characteristic of the work of Mr. Symons remind one of that quality in much of the detail work of Franz Hals. It is maddening to the would-be imitator. The great speed at which Mr. Symons must necessarily work has been acquired by long practice. When a student in Munich he made it a habit to paint a very large canvas each day, scraping it off and painting perhaps a hundred over it. He practiced for speed just as a typist does. He says: "Is a slow typist any more efficient than a rapid one? It's all a question of practice and the mental habit of practicing to see what pictures the artists will paint in Omaha."

At the opening Sunday Mrs. Ward Burgess bought "Softly Falling Snow," by Mr. Symons, while Mr. Burgess bought Mr. Foster's "Woods in Autumn" and Mrs. Charles T. Kountz his "Late Autumn Afternoon." It will be interesting to see what pictures the artists will paint in Omaha.

Takes His Own Life After Mistake In Income Tax Report

Grand Island, Neb., Jan. 13.—(Special Telegram)—George Broadwell, 51 years old, a member of the city council here for 16 years was found dead in a barn at his home this morning. His death was caused by a revolver wound and the authorities who investigated reported that he had committed suicide.

A note written by him and addressed to his mother gave as the reason for his act, the fact that he had made a mistake in his income tax report. The note was as follows: "Dear Mother: I must leave you and all. Have made a mistake in my income tax report. So will have to suffer for it. May God and you forgive and may God bless you. You will find check for all the money I could get for you in my chiffonier drawer. Try and forgive me, George."

Mr. Broadwell was elected to the city council of Grand Island in 1901 and served in that body for 16 continuous years. Ill health resulting in part from an injury received sometime ago is assigned for the deed.

He was the owner of an 80-acre farm and also 35 business and residence lots in this city.

Rheumatism A HOME CURE GIVEN BY ONE WHO HAD IT

In the spring of 1898 I was attacked by Muscular and Inflammatory Rheumatism. I suffered as only those who have it know, for over three years. I tried remedy after remedy, and doctor after doctor, but such relief as I received was only temporary. Finally, I found a remedy that cured me completely, and it has never returned. I have given it to a number who were terribly afflicted and even bedridden with Rheumatism, and it effected a cure in every case. I want every sufferer from any form of rheumatic trouble to try this marvelous healing power. Don't send a cent; simply mail your name and address and I will send it free to try. After you have used it and it has proven itself to be that long-looked-for means of curing your rheumatism, you may send the price of it, one dollar, but understand, I do not want your money unless you are perfectly satisfied to send it. Isn't that fair? Why suffer any longer when positive relief is thus offered you free? Don't delay. Write today. Mark H. Jackson, No. 549 F. Gurney Bldg., Syracuse, N. Y. Mr. Jackson's response, above statement true.

Just Apply This Paste and the Hairs Vanish

(Helps to Beauty)

A safe, reliable home-treatment for the quick removal of superfluous hairs from your face or neck is as follows: Mix a stiff paste with some water and powdered delatone, apply to objectionable hairs and, after 2 or 3 minutes rub off, wash the skin and the hairs are gone. This simple treatment is painless, and no pain or inconvenience attends its use, but to avoid disappointment be certain you get genuine delatone.
