Cocoon Oil Makes
A Splendid Shampoo

If you want to keep your hair in good condition, be careful what you wash it with.

Most soaps and prepared shampoos contain too much alkali. This dries the scalp, makes the hair brittle, and is very harmful. Multified cocoon oil shampoo (which is pure and entirely greaseless), is much better than anything else you can use for shampooing, as this can't possibly injure the hair.

Simply moisten your hair with water and rub it in. One or two teaspoonfuls will make an abundance of rich, creamy lather, and cleanses the hair and scalp thoroughly. The lather rinses out easily and removes every particle of dust, dirt, dandruff and excessive oil. The hair dries quickly and evenly, and it leaves it fine and silky, bright, fluffy and easy to manage.

You can get Multified cocoon oil shampoo at most any drug store. It is very cheap, and a few ounces is enough to last everyone in the family for months.

Bathing Baby.
Remember that the time baby is most susceptible to colds is when it has come right out of a bath. The pores are open and its body is warm and glowing. For this reason the best time to give baby a bath is just before its evening meal, after which he immediately retires, or in the morning just before a nap. Have everything ready so that as soon as it is through its bath it may be fed and put to bed, so that it will not be necessary to let it remain exposed before being tucked away in slumber.

Miss Katherine Walsh of Lansdowne, Pa., has been appointed a trustee of the Philadelphia County Mothers' Assistance fund by Governor Sproul.

A report was circulated during the war, and seems now to have been well founded, that among some aviators who reported at Dijon for military service was a woman dressed as a soldier. Her hair was cut short and she was arrayed in a uniform. It has been learned since that she was an English girl and of good family. Unable to carry out her wish to volunteer for service, she had joined the aviators, and intended to work with them.

How to Keep Age-Lines and Wrinkles Away

Don't forget that the woman who smiles will have a skin more free from wrinkles than the woman who frowns. When wrinkles begin to appear it is a good plan to bathe the face once a day for a while in a harmless solution made by dissolving an ounce of powdered sassafras in a half pint of witch hazel.
