Motor No. 131903, Chassis. No. 151903, Painted Packard blue (dark blue with yellow wheels.) License No. 89657. (This is the 1913 number.)

IDENTIFICATION MARKS.

There is a register in the floor in front of the rear seat.

The door is the foot board next to the drivers seat was removed and replaced with a homemade wire screen of heavy wire with a wooden frame, so the lent could come up from the engine. This is one of the best identifications we have as it would be difficult to set a door like the original from the Packard people for sometime.

The left Par femier was damaged at a door like the original from the Packard people for sometime.

The left rear fender was damaged at the top edge sometime ago, but was straightened up and daubed with some plain black paint. This could not be hidden unless a new fender was used and then, of course, the paint would be much brighter than the rest of the tar as it still has its original paint, or if it were painted the fender would be conspicious against the old paint on the body. Wire JOHN A. BAAL, Care Carr & aal Co., Des Moines, Ia. Beal Co., Des Moines, Ia.
