Former Omaha Auto Dealer Leases Big Winter Resort

Word reached Omaha yesterday that Frank P. Cavanaugh, former manager for the Motor company, 2415 Farnam street, had leased a large winter resort at St. Petersburg, Fla., where he is to feature bathing, automobile and horse racing attractions.

Governor of Illinois Says That Government Needs Business Administration

Advocates Budget System in Municipal, State and National affairs—Declares Taxes Have Strong Bearing on Prevailing High Costs—Praises Omaha as Beautiful and Progressive.

Frank O. Lowden, governor of Illinois, visited in Omaha yesterday, as a candidate for the republican presidential nomination.

The governor arrived at 8 a. m. from Minneapolis, met prominent local republicans in the morning at Hotel Fontenelle; delivered a short noonday address at the University club, declined to be interviewed on politics, asserted that Omaha is a beautiful and progressive city, and then departed on an afternoon train for Denver.

Taxation Must Be Practical.

The governor, who is being mentioned in connection with the republican presidential nomination, was introduced by Norris Brown, former United States senator, as originally from Iowa.

Will Operate Forever.

"There are certain fundamental laws which obtained before the war, will obtain after the war and will operate forever. It is still true that you can not divide what you do not produce and the safe way to reduce the price of commodities is to produce more and consume less.

Direct Relation to Taxation.

"Who can doubt that the high cost of living has an intimate bearing upon the general question of unrest?" the governor added. "And so, as I said a moment ago, there is no problem of a domestic nature which confronts the American people today that has not a direct and important relation to the whole question of taxation."

Sentence to Penitentiary Means Bed in Hospital

Perry Whitmore, negro, shook with a bit of coughing as he stood before District Judge Redick yesterday and pleaded guilty to grand larceny.

Jury In Street Car Damage Suit for $30,000 Discharged

Even in civil suits the juries at work in the district courts of this county are now disagreeing. The 12 men who heard the suit of Mrs. J. E. Soule against the Omaha and Council Bluffs Street Railway company for $30,000 damages in District Judge Leslie's court was discharged Tuesday evening after deliberating from 2 Monday afternoon. They said they were unable even to reach an average of damages for Mrs. Soule.

Wagner is pastor, is paid off. The only people the congregation deal with now is the Prudential Savings and Loan association of Omaha.

Have Plenty of Men—Word was received at the Army building here that no more students of telegraph, telephone or radio engineering, motor vehicles, motor mechanics, gas engineering and other subjects would be admitted to the school at Camp Vail, N. D., for the present. This is due to the fact, it was said, that the school has been taxed to its limit by men who have enlisted for signal corps duty.

Mrs. Josephine Carlisle Dies—Mrs. Josephine Carlisle, 63 years old, 1901 California street, died at the Ford hospital Sunday after a visit's illness. She had lived in Omaha 25 years. She is survived by her husband, one son, three sisters and two brothers. A funeral service will be held at Beasley & Heatley's chapel at 2 p. m. Friday. Burial will be in Forest Lawn cemetery.

Held on Drug Charge—Birdie Erwin, 2702 10th street, negro, who was arrested Tuesday by Internal Revenue Officer Russell Eberstein and charged with violation of the Harrison drug act, will be arraigned Monday morning before the United States commissioner. The woman is alleged to have sold one-eighth of an ounce of cocaine for $25. She was taken to the police station and later released on a $500 cash bond.

DYSPEPSIA AND BUSINESS

They Don't Hitch—To Be Fit and Yet Eat What You Like. Follow Your Meals with Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets. No Gas, Sourness, Nor Heaviness of Indigestion.

Business men and women are apt to fall for the peculiar theories advanced by food faddists. But it is what you eat, but what you digest and assimilate, that should command thought and attention. You may eat fried eggs, sausage, ham or bacon for breakfast, and feel tip-top at lunch time if you follow the meal with a Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablet.

Local headquarters have been opened in the Paxton hotel, with John N. Baldwin in charge. Harry St. Clair has charge of the state publicity work.

"I wish to state that Omaha is a beautiful and progressive city. I have often heard of Omaha and I know that it has a great future. The purpose of the governor's visit here was to meet those who are in sympathy with his presidential candidacy and to discuss plans for the Nebraska campaign."

"He also informed me that the recent book of estimates has been submitted to congress and that the total for the next fiscal year is something more than $4,800,000,000, or more than four times as much as four years ago. The war has been over for 15 months. It is apparent that this practice that the American people have gotten into, of whenever they have expanded the function of government never to withdraw, even though the emergency is gone, is being reflected in the appropriation that is being asked from congress today."

Accompanying the governor on this trip are: Joseph C. Mason, member of the publicity committee for the Lowden candidacy and also administrative auditor at the Illinois state house; John P. Tracy, chief of staff; E. O. Phillips, political writer of the Chicago Tribune, and John Butman of the Chicago News.

The distinguished visitor was met at Union Station by M. L. Learned, vice chairman of the state republican central committee; W. E. Gurley and Norris Brown. Among those who called on the governor at Hotel Fontenelle were Luther Drake, Harry S. Byrne, W. D. McHugh, John N. Baldwin and Harry St. Clair. Governor Lowden asserted that he would rather do anything except give interviews and talk politics. He was asked for an opinion on the ratification of the league of nations treaty and he referred to his recent reply to Senator Borah, when he said he believed the treaty should be ratified with the senate reservations.

He is survived by his sister, Miss Hanna Jensen, of the same address. Funeral services will be held at the Jackson Undertaking parlors at 2:30 p. m. Thursday. Burial will be in the West Lawn cemetery.

Want Names Changed—Sotorios Antonis Macheras and his wife, Frida Almeda Macheras petitioned the district court yesterday to change their name to Maches. Mr. Macheras is a prosperous candy merchant.
