

SEEMS EVERYONE HEARD ABOUT IT

All want to try new drug that dries up corns so they lift out.

Good news spreads rapidly and druggists here are kept busy dispensing freezons, the recent discovery of a Cincinnati man, which is said to loosen any corn so it lifts out with the fingers.

A quarter of an ounce costs very little at any pharmacy, but it is said to be sufficient to rid one's feet of every hard or soft corn or callus.

You apply just a few drops on the tender, aching corn and instantly the soreness is relieved, and soon the corn is so shriveled that it lifts out without pain. It is a sticky substance which dries when applied and never inflames or even irritates the adjoining tissue.

This discovery will prevent thousands of deaths annually from lockjaw and infection heretofore resulting from the suicidal habit of cutting corns.

ALLEGED THIEF CLAIMS VILLA AS A COUSIN

Peter Villa Accused of Emulating in Omaha the Bad Habits of Notorious Relative.

Peter Villa and Joseph Aglar, the former said to be a first cousin of Gen. Francisco Villa, the Mexican insurrecto, were placed on trial before a jury in District Judge Redick's court yesterday charged with breaking and entering the tailor shop of Max Drewich, 1612 Capitol avenue, July 2 and stealing $800 worth of clothing.

Aglar is a young man with a face deeply pock-marked. Persons in the court room remarked on the resemblance of Peter Villa to the published pictures of the more famous Villa.

"General Villa is my cousin," said Peter in answer to a question by a reporter.

Both men say they were formerly Mexican soldiers, but would not tell whether they were Carranzistas or Villistas.

The loot which the two men are accused of stealing from the tailor shop consisted of 26 suit patterns valued at $300, two overcoats worth $140 and three finished suits valued at $160.

LAST RITES FOR JOSEPH THOMAS, PIONEER BANKER

Services at Trinity Cathedral And at Forest Lawn Cemetery.

Funeral services for Joseph W. Thomas, prominent banker who died Tuesday night, were largely attended yesterday afternoon in Trinity cathedral, where Dean J. A. Faucok read the Episcopal service.

"Peace, Perfect Peace," and "There is a Blessed Home," were sung by a quartet comprising Mrs. Ben Stanley, Miss Bieber, Mrs. Walter Dale and Louis Loring. Mr. Stanley was at the organ.

After the conclusion of the Episcopal services at the grave in Forest Lawn cemetery, the following officers of George W. Lininger Lodge No. 208, Ancient, Free and Accepted Masons, observed the Masonic burial service: D. C. Buell, worshipful master; Amos Thomas, senior warden; V. C. Haskell, junior warden; George Sumner, senior deacon; George Engler, junior deacon.

The pallbearers were as follows: Active, George Forgan, Charles E. Black, William Coad, Frank Boyd, John H. Bexten and John W. Parish.

Honorary, Gordon W. Walters, O. S. Montgomery, Ben S. Baker, C. F. McGrew, James I. Woodard, J. Frank Dale, W. A. Smith, Dr. J. P. Lord, F. L. Haller, Frank Coad, Fred H. Davis and John C. French.

URGES 14-STORY STRUCTURE FOR COMMERCE BODY

Retiring President Says in His Report Omaha Chamber Has Outgrown Present Quarters.

Lack of office and club room space is retarding the growth of the Chamber of Commerce to an extent that will necessitate immediate procuring of larger quarters. This fact was made public yesterday in the report of John W. Gamble, retiring president of the chamber.

A committee is now working on the matter of securing larger quarters. Unless a great enlargement of present quarters is possible, a more suitable location found, it may be necessary for the chamber to construct a building of its own, it is said.

During the past year the membership of the chamber was increased by 200, the retiring president's report stated. The present membership of the club is 2,761. It was recently announced that an attempt would be made to increase this membership to 4,000 during the year, but this plan cannot be carried out until larger quarters are secured, according to officials.

Many for New Building. The plan for constructing a separate building for the chamber is finding many supporters among members. It is estimated that an outlay of $1,400,000 a 14-story building can be constructed. The chamber would occupy the four top floors of this building and rent the remainder, according to the plan. Those favoring the new building plan say the morale of the club would be higher if it occupied its own building.

Touching on the financial matters of the chamber the retiring president stated that during the past year the permanent fund of the chamber had been increased from $50,000 to $64,000 and advised that it be still further increased.

During the year more than 3,600 discharged soldiers were placed in positions by the chamber's employment bureau, and a large amount of money, clothing and rent tickets were furnished, the report says.

Praises Publicity Work. The work of the publicity bureau during the year, under the supervision of Harvey Milliken, chairman of the bureau's board of governors, has resulted in securing Omaha more national publicity than ever before in its history, the report states. Several articles by well-known writers in magazines of national circulation have appeared as a result of the bureau's policy of advertising. Another accomplishment of the bureau mentioned in the report is the retention of the state teachers' convention for Omaha.

Discussing the industrial bureau the retiring president states that the manufacturing output of the city doubled during the last year, and that the output totalled more than $460,000,000. Nearly $7,000,000 in capital was invested in Omaha concerns during the year, the report says.

In closing his report the retiring president reviewed the work of the Trans-Mississippi Readjustment congress, the Omaha trade excursion, the Ak-Sar-Ben exposition drive, the securing of air mail service and the work of the public affairs committee in securing and entertaining the greatest men of the country here.

HAIR AND SCALP EXERCISES

BY BARBARA BOOTH

To massage the scalp, if rightly done, is a great aid to the growth and beauty of the hair. The massage should be done with the sole object of loosening the scalp from the skull, so more blood will circulate in the tissues around the hair roots, to nourish and sustain them.

To massage the scalp correctly, spread the fingers and work the finger tips of both hands underneath the hair, so they touch the scalp. Have the finger tips of the right hand about two inches from the finger tips of the left hand. Now gently press until the scalp between the hands raises or wrinkles up (see Fig. 1). Begin at the top of the head and work backward and forward, then massage the sides of the head in the same way.

In massaging the scalp, do not let the fingers slip back and forth over the hair roots, as this tends to injure the hair follicles and loosen the hair.

After the scalp has been thoroughly massaged, you should use a good hair tonic. Here is a simple mixture which you can make at home, that will quickly remove dandruff, aid the growth of the hair, and in preventing it from falling out.

Merely dissolve 1 dram of powdered snodice in 3 ounces of bay rum, and add 3 ounces of water. These ingredients can be bought at any druggist's at little cost, and mixed at home. Apply to the scalp once a day, after properly massaging. This mixture is not only a stimulant and astringent, but it is a powerful germicidal agent, and dandruff cannot exist where it is applied. The hair will stop falling out and dandruff disappear within one to three days after beginning its use.

For Gray Hair. As to gray, streaked or faded hair, you can gradually darken it with this simple home-made mixture. To 1/2-pint of water add 1 ounce of bay rum, a small box of Barbo Compound, and 1/2 ounce of glycerine. These ingredients can be purchased at any druggist's at little cost, and mixed at home. Apply to hair every other day, until it becomes the required shade. This is not a dye, does not color the scalp, is not sticky or greasy and does not rub off. It gradually darkens the hair and there are no quick embarrassing changes.

For the Complexion. As to the complexion, you can make at home a greaseless vanishing cream that will beautify the complexion, make the skin soft and pliable, and prevent the hands from chapping. It is greaseless and cannot cause the growth of superfluous hair. Dissolve 1/4 ounce of powdered grexite in one ounce of glycerine, and add 1 pint of water. These ingredients cost little at any druggist's, and they will make more than a pint of vanishing cream that will give the complexion a clear, velvety appearance and remove roughness. It will also aid in removing wrinkles. Men will find it excellent after shaving.

Divorce Courts

Harry Krebs dragged his wife, May Krebs, "from pillar to post," never identifying himself with any work or business permanently, and required her to live from one hand to the other, though she has always wanted a real home and a real husband," she declares in a petition for divorce filed in district court. She says her husband gave his name at the time of their marriage as Harry McDavid, and that, when she discovered his real name to be Krebs, they had another marriage ceremony performed.

Martha Kleber asked the district court for a divorce from Lewis Kleber on the ground of extreme cruelty.

Andrew Cernan threatened to hit his wife, Josepa Cernan, with a chair on December 20, 1919, she alleges in a petition for divorce filed in district court. She asks for the restoration of her maiden name, Kozak.

Karoline Bela charges in a petition for divorce filed in district court that her husband, Jan Bela, has squandered his wages and compelled her to work to support their children. They were married in Poland in 1907. She asks for custody of their four children.

Rudolph Benish was granted a divorce by Judge Wakeley in divorce court from Daisy Benish, who, he alleges, treated him with extreme cruelty. They divided their property by agreement.

William Page was granted a divorce from Minnie Page in divorce court by Judge Wakeley on grounds of cruelty.

Johanna Betten, on allegations of nonsupport, was granted a divorce from Herman Betten and restored to her maiden name, Layben, by Judge Wakeley in divorce court.

Patrick Payne charges his wife, Mabel, with extreme cruelty, in a petition for divorce filed in district court. He asks for custody of their two children.

Soka Popich filed suit for divorce from Jacob Popich in district court, charging nonsupport. They were married in 1912 in Jascana, Croatia.

Viva E. Peake filed suit in district court for a divorce from Frank Peake on the ground of extreme cruelty.
