Country's Farmers Plan

To Harvest Their Own Ice Washington, Jan. 25 .- To prevent thousands of dollars loss on spoiled dairy products which have occurred annually, farmers over the country are preparing this year to harvest their own ice wherever possible, according to the Department of Agriculture.

Because of scarcity of ice, farmers every year stand great losses. This year conditions make it possible to harvest ice from the streams at a time when men and materials are plentiful, and farmers are preparing to take full advantage of them.

The cost of harvesting the ice is negligible, the department pointed out. The statement said that with proper storage, allowing from 40 to cubic feet per ton of ice, and forethought in selecting or preparing a stream for the ice field, a plentiful supply can be obtained.
