Applicants, Successful in Civil Service Examinations, Are Questioned Regarding Their Capabilities.

L. B. Leady and H. C. Davidson, federal prohibition agents, working out of the office of Henry A. Lawson, district supervising agent at Denver, who have been in Omaha since Monday making a preliminary survey of local conditions yesterday were questioning applicants for positions in the department of national prohibition enforcement.

Forty persons recently took the civil service examination at the federal building with a view of receiving an appointment under Mr. Larson. It was stated yesterday that only 20 of these passed. Mr. Leady and Mr. Davidson were interrogating those who passed to determine their capabilities.

Is Ex-Pinkerton Man.

It is expected Mr. Leady will be assigned to supervise the work of the field agents who will work in Omaha. For years Mr. Leady was identified with the Pinkerton detective agency. He resigned recently to take up the work of enforcing the national prohibition law.

Officials in the internal revenue department here refused to comment on the statement given out yesterday in Washington by James H. Hanley, recently appointed Nebraska state director for national prohibition enforcement.

Housewives Warned Against Buying Soap From Street Peddlers

T. H. Weirich, superintendent of the Board of Public Welfare, warns housewives against the deleterious effects of toilet soap being sold from house to house by itinerant vendors.

"I have received several complaints," Mr. Weirich said. "Mrs. F. E. Heckman, 1615 North Thirty-third street, told me that she used some of this soap on her face and that red blotches were left in her skin. Her husband used it for shaving and his skin was also affected. She told me that the peddler recommended this soap as especially desirable for children. I am warning housewives against this kind of imposition, and I wish that somebody would advise me of the location of these agents so that we may apprehend them."

Omaha's Great Need Is For Office Space, Says Chamber Bureau Chief

There is a crying need for more office space in Omaha, and hundreds of inquiries from men in all parts of the country, who desire to enter business or work at a trade in this city, are being received according to J. M. Gillan, manager of Chamber of Commerce industrial bureau.

Mr. Gillan yesterday received a letter from F. G. Dilzell, a lumberman in Freeport, La., who declared he had been reading The Omaha Bee for the past two weeks, and had decided that Omaha was the only town for him.

FLASHES from FILMLAND

REUNION of the Grand Army of the Republic was duplicated with absolute realism for the production of "The Copperhead," the picture featuring Lionel Barrymore at the Strand this week. Because of the patriotic appeal and Americanism quality of "The Copperhead," the G. A. R. agreed to give their hearty support. As the result, a regular reunion of the ex-fighters was held before the camera. They brought with them not only their wartime uniforms, but some score of battleworn flags and cannon—properties which it would be difficult to duplicate.

"The Copperhead" is in every respect a big picture and the performance of Lionel Barrymore as the hero, Milt Shanks, is as effective and striking as his characterization of the misguided patriot on the stage.

Moon—"Checkers" the famous racing melodrama which William Fox made into a motion picture, and which is the offering at the Moon all this week, is a mammoth spectacle with most realistic scenes. How the horse Remorse wins the big stakes; how Checkers risks his life many times, and how he finally overcomes all obstacles, is told, it is said, with an elaboration of detail which makes "Checkers" one of the most absorbing photoplays presented this season.

Rialto—Exceptionally beautiful scenery is shown in "In Old Kentucky," featuring Anita Stewart at the Rialto this week. The rough and rugged mountains, the deep ravines, the crystal clear mountain streams rushing and tumbling down the steep gullies lends enchantment to this thrilling picture of a mountain town.

Empress—J. Warren Kerrigan in "A Man's Man," a production of Peter B. Kyne's gripping magazine story, is to be shown at the Empress for three days starting today. Playing opposite Mr. Kerrigan is Lois Wilson, whose excellent work in many special features, won her distinctive commendation.

Business Before Pleasure to the Brandeis on February 1 with the same big scenic production that was seen for a year at the Eltinge theater New York City, and when Jules Jordan, Harry First, Jane Lowe, Lizzie Wilson, William McCauley and Jane Feanley, Messrs. Jordan and First have the principal roles, those of Abe Potash and Myruss Perlmutter. Jane Lowe is the vampire, Lizzie Wilson is Mrs. Potash, Jane Feanley is Mrs. Perlmutter and William McCauley plays the "villainous" banker.

Ad League Will Stage Campaign for Members The advertising service section of the Advertising-Selling league met at Hotel Fontenelle at noon yesterday and made plans for a drive to secure members. Districts were laid out and the following men appointed captains over each district: C. D. Nolan, Harry Allen, Wyman C. Beebe, Melvin Johnson, J. Porter Allen, Thomas Devaney, Charles E. Duffie, E. B. Wallace, J. W. Barnhart, C. E. Morrill, C. A. Brandon, T. Broders, J. H. McMillan and H. E. Griffin.

Automobile Stolen In Omaha Is Recovered In Iowa An automobile that was stolen January 5 from O. W. Eldridge, St. Regis apartments, was recovered and the thief arrested yesterday at Leon, Ia., according to word received by Chief of Detectives Dunn. The man in whose possession the car was found gave his name as John Arnold of Cheyenne, Wyo. Detectives will bring the car and Arnold back to Omaha.

HOME TREATMENT OF DANDRUFF AND FALLING HAIR

To successfully treat dandruff, and stop the hair from falling out, requires the proper massaging of the scalp, and the application of a good hair tonic. You can massage the scalp correctly at home, and make your own hair tonic, if you will follow these simple directions. Bear in mind that the sole object of massaging is to loosen the scalp from the skull so the blood can circulate freely around the hair roots to nourish and sustain them.

To massage the scalp correctly, spread the fingers and work the fingertips of both hands underneath the hair, so they touch the scalp. Have the finger tips of the right hand about two inches from the finger tips of the left hand. Now gently press until the scalp between the hands raises or wrinkles up. (See Figure 2.) Begin at the top of the head and work backward and forward, then massage the sides of the head in the same way.

In massaging the scalp do not let the fingers slip back and forth over the hair roots, as this tends to injure the hair follicles and loosen the hair.

Divorce Courts

Thrice did Marguerite McKnight desert her husband, Leo E. McKnight, he alleges in a petition for divorce filed in district court. They each had $500 when they were married last July, she says, and received $400 as a wedding present, all of which Mr. Poppas deposited in the bank under his own name, his wife alleges.

Abraham David Givotinsky appealed to the district court for permission to change his name to Givot. He says his present name is unwieldy, cumbersome and unphonous. Mr. Givotinsky is in the tire vulcanizing business.

Solomon Richard charges his wife, Hilda Usine Richard, with desertion in a petition for divorce filed in district court.

Custody of eight children is asked by Vermilye Morrissey in a petition for divorce from William J. Morrissey, filed in district court. He is foreman for a railroad construction company and earns $190 a month. They were married in 1898 and she says he has often told her to leave home and stated that he no longer loved her.

Olive Gillette was granted a divorce in divorce court by Judge Wakeley from William C. Gillette on grounds of extreme cruelty. She was restored to her maiden name, Marsh.

Judge Troup granted a divorce to Harland Nelson from Mabel Nelson in divorce court on grounds of extreme cruelty.

Lloyd H. Asdell was granted a divorce from Hattie M. Asdell in divorce court by Judge Troup and was ordered to transfer to her all the furniture and other goods in their apartment at 516 South Sixteenth street, pay the rent for February and give her $100. He charged her with extreme cruelty. They were married 11 years.
