

GERMANS DO NOT WANT TO GIVE UP MEN FOR CRIMES

Attempt to Deliver "War Responsible Persons" for Trial Will Precipitate Trouble Is Belief.

Berlin, Jan. 29.—Indication of the government's growing concern over the extradition of Germans accused of war offenses was given in the note sent to the allies yesterday asking revision of the clauses of the Versailles treaty.

The note to the allies, which will not be published in Germany, warns the entente powers that Germany cannot assume it is able to compel either national or local agencies of the law to lay hands on the men wanted and transfer them to German frontiers.

Suggestion is made in the note that the men be tried by the supreme court at Leipzig, and the cabinet has indicated its belief that the nation's highest tribunal can guarantee an exhaustive and impartial trial. It is pointed out that the allies are given representation on the bench of the supreme court, which should further tend to guarantee a fair trial.

Sage Advice Given by Little Girls in Prize Thrift Essays

"Start a Bank Account Because It Builds Character," Says 13-Year-Old Ruth Broders—"Share With Others, Because It Makes Us Better Ourselves," Says Priscilla Coltrain.

Words of wisdom that it would be well for older folks to heed are found in the prize essays of two little girls who came out victorious among a large number of contestants in Thrift essay competitions, one of the subjects having 170 articles submitted.

Ruth Broders, 4239 Farnam street, Eighth A student at Saunders school, won first prize in the "Advantages of Having a Bank Account" contest in the National Thrift week campaign. She is 13 years old and is the daughter of Theodore Broders.

Frank Ross, High School of Commerce, and Margaret Dickey, St. Michael school, were given honorable mention for their essays.

There were 170 essays on this subject entered.

"Advantages of a Bank Account."

"Every man, woman and child should have a bank account."

"First—Because it is a protection against need—Because it builds character—Because it is the foundation of wealth."

"The man or woman with a bank account is accumulating surplus money to have for use in case of need, sickness, disaster or loss of employment. People with bank accounts can pay their bills and keep out of debt. They buy for cash and get all the advantages with cash buying. A bank account gives a feeling of security, freedom from worry, and a sense of independence. Putting money in the bank puts it out of the reach of temptation to spend it. It teaches people self-denial and strengthens the will power. It helps us to control ourselves, and develops habits of thrift. The thrift habit teaches the man to earn largely, to save wisely, and to spend to advantage in time of need or opportunity. Thrift earns, plans, manages and saves a bank account feels a larger sense of responsibility. He takes greater interest in the community and the country at large, and is a better citizen."

"Money placed in the bank is safer than hidden away, or carried about the person. The minute it is placed in the bank it begins to earn more money in the way of interest. It works day and night, Sundays and holidays, earning more money. In time the earnings of a bank account will support the owner. The man or woman with a bank account is prepared to take advantage of opportunities to make larger profits in investments or business. The majority of fortunes are built on the foundations of savings."

"Money deposited in banks is used in the upbuilding of the community; helping to develop the land and promote industries; further increasing the opportunity for profitable employment of labor. It raises the standard of living and enables its owners to get more pleasure out of life."

"Share With Others."

Priscilla Coltrain, 4233 Pinkney street, an Eighth B student at Clifton Hill school, was given the first prize by the Thrift committee for her essay on "Why We Should Share With Others."

Paul Benson, Central school and Ben Zier, Long school, won honorable mention for their essays on the subject.

Miss Coltrain's essay follows:

"There are many good reasons why we should share with others as a community, a nation and an individual."

"First, we as a nation should share with poorer nations, because we are a Christian nation. We are also one of the richest nations in the world, and a more productive nation than any other in the world. Then, as the individual, we should willingly share with others for it is more blessed to give than to receive. Then, too, by sharing with others we set good examples for those around us.

"As a community we should share with others because it makes our community better."

"We should help the poor and needy if it is possible for us to do so; but, we should not give money alone. We should give our help as well. For example, one might help nurses, or one might teach foreigners to read and write the language of our country."

"Persons who help are always welcome wherever they go. They are respected by everyone. They, too, such persons can be depended upon, and trusted either by one another, by the community, or by the nation."

Mrs. Schmoller was awakened by the noise of an automobile and looking from her bedroom window watched three men at work drilling holes in the basement door. They left before the police arrived.

Continue Checking Up Census Figures For Correct Count

Permission to continue checking up census figures in Omaha until a correct count is reasonably assured, was yesterday received from the United States census bureau at Washington, D. C., by John H. Hopkins, director of the federal census for this district.

The extension of time was granted because many cities which had already sent reports to Washington are now reporting that their count is incomplete, the communication said.

The total number of people missed by enumerators has reached 7,256, according to the Chamber of Commerce. The American Smelting & Refining company yesterday reported to the chamber that 130 of its employees had been missed by enumerators, and the M. E. Smith company reported that 85 employees had been missed.

South Side CATTLE SOLD AT $1 PER HUNDRED WINTER OF 1890

Review of Market Events and Incidents 30 Years Ago Reveals Some Interesting Facts.

Looking backward in a review of market events and incidents of the local stock yards 30 years ago during the winter of 1890, reveals some remarkable an interesting circumstances.

In January, 1890, several sales of western cows, bulls and common steers were made at prices ranging from $1 to $1.90 a hundred and George Barr brought from Stanton a load of prime hogs that were sold for $3.55 a hundred. During one week there was included in the cattle receipts a string of fine, heavy heaves from Saunders county, averaging 1,778 pounds that sold for $5.35 a hundred.

Corn sold in the open market for 50 cents a bushel and prospects for feeding cattle were reported better than for some time, with buyers in the field contracting for beef for April and May delivery at a price as high as $6.50 a hundred.

What, at that time, was a wonderful event, was the shipment of 12 cars of stock cattle billed to Germany, which was considered one of the most notable shipments of live stock from the local market and the first direct shipment from the local market to a German port.

During January, 1890, a barrel was placed in the Exchange building to receive castoff clothing and footwear for distribution among destitute families of western Nebraska and an announcement was received at the office of the Stock Yards company that the year 1890 passed into agricultural history, the United States as one of the most satisfactory farming communities ever experienced within the memory of the younger generation.

Skinner Packing Co. To Commence Active Operations Next Week

Mr. Howe said he was rapidly completing the naming of his forces and expects to start off with a full complement of assistants and heads of departments.

After 12 years with Armour & Co., Roger Kelly has been engaged as chief cattle buyer, and Henry Calhoun, formerly with Armour, and recently located at Sioux City, will buy sheep and hogs for the new company.

Typists Make Records

Four typewriting efficiency certificates were given out Wednesday at the South Side High school to the following students: Ruth Alworth, with a record of 61.6 words a minute; Joe Bugiewicz, 50.2 words a minute; Marie Gorman, 44.4 words a minute, and Helen Corcoran, 40.7 words a minute.

More Money in Wheat.

"It is only a matter of a short time that cattle raising in Nebraska will give way to wheat growing,"

AT THE THEATERS

TWO more days remain for the active career of Boyd's theater as a place for Omaha folks to congregate and enjoy the best that is offered by the stage. Its long and honorable history is drawing fast to a close, for with Saturday night it ends. A host of pleasant associations cluster around this playhouse, and it is eminently fitting that a sweet and wholesome play as "May Time" should have been selected for the closing performance. The play is one that teaches a lesson of the ultimate triumph of love, and may be prophetic in the sense that time Boyd's will have a worthy successor. However, that may be, the play is well worth seeing for itself.

Those dancers and entertainers, Fanchon and Marco, are appearing at the Brandeis theater this week in their revue, "Let's Go," which ran for 10 weeks in San Francisco. They are supported by Nelson and Chain, comedians with a way that calls "A Trip to Coney Island." Her offering is done almost exclusively by herself, although she carries a special orchestra, which is under the direction of Max Hoffmann. Her scenic effects and dressing requirements are unique. She concludes with a drum performance which she calls "A Trip to Coney Island." The bill which has Miss Hoffmann for a headliner is rich in comedy features.

Actors have often claimed that they were so funny that they knocked the audience out of their seats, but it is seldom that anyone died from laughing in a theater. But such was the case when "Business Before Pleasure" played at the Hartman theater in Columbus, O., several weeks ago. A woman, affected with heart trouble, collapsed in her seat while watching Abe Potash and Mavrus Perlmutter engage in a dramatic performance which she called "A Trip to Coney Island." The bill which has Miss Hoffmann for a headliner is rich in comedy features.

Also Endorse Federal Regulation of Packers and Military Training.

Spokane, Wash., Jan. 29.—Government regulation of the meat packing industry was endorsed in a resolution passed at the closing session here of the American National Live Stock association's annual convention. United States Senator John B. Kendrick was re-elected president of the association and El Paso, Tex., was chosen as next year's meeting place.

Prompt return of the railroads to prevent private control with restoration of the full powers of the Interstate Commerce commission was demanded in another resolution adopted.

Universal military training for the youth of the nation was advocated. The treaty resolution, while not specifying any particular set of reservations, declared the senate in its Americanism to the fullest extent by all reservations they deem necessary to secure this reassurance.

"The reservations must be so strong," the resolution continues, "as to leave no doubt as to any constitutional limits. The American constitution must be preserved in all its Americanism and for the perpetuity of the nation."

Failing the possibility of ratification with such safeguards, the resolution declares congress should pass at once a declaration that the war is at an end.

Senator Kendrick, as president, announced the reappointment with one exception, of the present marketing committee with H. A. Jastro of Bakersfield, Cal., as chairman and E. L. Burke of Omaha as vice chairman.

C. M. O'Donel of Bell Ranch, N. C., was re-elected first vice president. Among the second vice president elected is E. L. Burke of Omaha.

Cites Alleged Will Freeing From Slavery Grandfather of Wife

Efforts were made yesterday by Francis P. Dwyer to get a new trial of his suit against Clara Dwyer for annulment of their marriage. He charged, in a petition filed last March, that his wife had colored blood in her veins, and that he did not know this at the time of their marriage.

After a bitter trial in divorce court, Judge Troup refused to annul the marriage, holding that Mrs. Dwyer was of pure white blood.

A large number of affidavits were presented yesterday in support of the contention that Mrs. Dwyer's father had negro blood. One of these was a will alleged to have been made by a Mississippi white man, setting free the grandfather of Mrs. Dwyer from slavery.

Don't Spoil Your Hair By Washing It

When you wash your hair, be careful what you use. Most soaps and prepared shampoos contain too much alkali, which is very injurious, as it dries the scalp and makes the hair brittle.

The best thing to use is Mulshied coconut oil shampoo, for this is pure and entirely greaseless. It's very cheap and beats anything else all to pieces. You can get this at any drug store, and a few ounces will last the whole family for months.

Simply moisten the hair with water and rub it in, about a teaspoonful is all that is required. It makes an abundance of rich, creamy, lather, cleanses thoroughly, and rinses out easily. The hair dries quickly and evenly, and is soft, fresh looking, bright, fluffy, wavy and easy to handle. Besides, it loosens and takes out every particle of dust, dirt and dandruff.
