

TO ASK FEDERAL ACTION AGAINST CHINESE ORDER

Attorney for Proprietor of New Chop Suey Cafe Says Tongues Must Not Intimidate Him.

Latest developments of the Chinese tong war in Omaha are: First, the posting of a warning against all nonmembers of the On Leong tong not to interfere with the tong's activities; second, the ultimatum of John W. Battin, attorney for Joe Lee, that if any further effort is made by the tong to prevent his client from opening a cafe at 1408 Farnam street, the matter will be submitted to federal authorities.

The warning against nonmembers of the tong was posted Thursday at the entrance to the alleged On Leong Tong den at 111 North Twelfth street. It is printed in Chinese characters of black, on an orange background.

Attorney Issues Ultimatum.

The ultimatum issued by Mr. Battin came after several conferences with his client, Joe Lee, proprietor of the California cafe, and leader of a group of nonmember Chinese, who were routed by alleged members of the tong in a battle at 1408 Farnam street, Sunday.

Lee is paying a high rent for the property on Farnam street, and plans to open the cafe in spite of the efforts of the tong. Mr. Battin said, "The threat published in the issue of the January 10 issue of the 'Chung Sai Yat Po,' a Chinese daily paper of San Francisco, which is carried by United States mails to all parts of the country, is a federal offense, authorities say, and any further attempt on the part of the Omaha branch of the tong to coerce Lee will be put in the hands of federal officers, Mr. Battin today declared.

C. of C. Men Neutral.

Chamber of Commerce officials are taking a keen interest in the affair, but are remaining neutral. They have taken the stand that the case is a matter for federal authorities.

Chinese say that at one time there were three tongs in Omaha. One has disappeared, and another, the Hop Sing tong, has lost so many members that the On Leong tong dominates the city. Chinese residents told a Bee reporter.

Common Sense Must Fix Gas Plant Value, District Judge Says

District Judge George A. Day of Omaha, E. E. Good of Wahoo and W. V. Allen of Meadison yesterday resumed the hearing of the gas plant appraisal in connection with the prospective purchase of the plant by the city of Omaha.

During an argument by Corporation Counsel Lambert yesterday Judge Allen remarked: "The valuation must rest upon the judgment and common sense."

Mr. Lambert stated that there are some things which must be reconciled on account of the wide difference between the appraisal of $3,351,000 as returned by the city's experts, and the appraisal of more than $5,500,000 returned by the gas company's experts.

The arguments before the court of condemnation will be continued for several days.

St. John's Lodge Honors Its Retiring Secretary at Dinner

St. John's lodge, No. 25, A. F. and A. M., gave a dinner for its members and friends at the Masonic Temple Thursday evening. The occasion was to honor Brother Carl E. Herring, who was retiring from the office of secretary of the lodge after continuous service of 20 years. Worshipful Master Bell presided, and on behalf of the lodge, presented to Mr. Herring a beautiful and costly token of the appreciation of his long service, and the esteem and affection of his brethren. Rev. Titus Lowe, Mr. Herring and T. W. McCullough spoke after dinner. Over 400 Masons were present.

How Harry Underwood Let Mr. "Bridgeham" Have His Own Way.

The change in Harry Underwood's face from the rather patronizing incredulity, such as he might accord a child trying to clear itself of an accusation by falsehood to the absolute belief which the concluding words of my rather hysterical explanation brought was a remarkable one. But I had the key to it as soon as he spoke.

FINE FOR RHEUMATISM

Musterole Loosens Up Those Stiff Joints—Drives Out Pain. You'll know why thousands use Musterole once you experience the glad relief it gives.

Get a jar at once from the nearest drug store. It is a clean, white ointment, made with the oil of mustard. Better than a mustard plaster and does not blister. Brings ease and comfort while it is being rubbed on!

Musterole is recommended by many doctors and nurses. Millions of jars are used annually for bronchitis, croup, stiff neck, asthma, neuralgia, pleurisy, rheumatism, lumbago, pains and aches of the back or joints, sprains, sore muscles, bruises, chilblains, frost-bite, colds of the chest (it often prevents pneumonia). 30c and 60c jars, hospital size $2.50.

ability. What a tribute to the woman to whom he had meted out so much unhappiness! He was standing with his face toward Mr. "Bridgeham," and suddenly I saw his eyes lose their meditative expression and take on one of malicious enjoyment.

"Pipe your gentleman friend," he said glibly.

I turned my head to see that Mr. "Bridgeham" was palpably edging away from us down the road. He would stand still an instant, looking around with assumed interest at the trees, then step sideways for a few paces, then stand still again.

"Guess I'd better but a little pep into his movement," Mr. Underwood remarked dryly.

The next instant he surprised me by starting on a run down the road toward the retreating Mr. "Bridgeham." He ran with a powerful loping movement which would have brought him up to the other man in another minute. But Mr. "Bridge-ham" for some reason, had evidently decided not to linger in the vicinity. He increased his edging walk to a sort of hurried trot, then with one look backward at Mr. Underwood's advancing form he broke into a frantic run and disappeared around a curve in the road.

With a wave of his hand to me, Mr. Underwood stopped short, waited a minute or two, then walked leisurely to the curve in the road, breaking into a run again just as he reached it. With an involuntary smile at his tactics, for I realized that he meant to convince the fleeing man of the deadliness of his pursuit, while in reality letting him get farther and farther away, I leaned back in the car and closed my eyes for a minute in an effort to pull myself together.

What Underwood Asked. Curiously enough it was not the appearance of the mysterious Mr. "Bridgeham," terrifying as that was to me, which had upset me most in this bizarre experience. It was a chance remark of Harry Underwood's, dropped when he had misunderstood the reason for my objection to calling the police. "The Dicky-bird isn't playing the game any too square with you, d—n him."

I would have liked to convince myself that he had been talking for effect, or for some sinister reason of his own, but there had been the ring of absolute truth in his words. What had he meant? I tortured myself with the many angles of this question until the sound of Mr. Underwood's firm footsteps on the road made me open my eyes and firmly banish everything from my mind and save the problem directly before me.

"Well!" he was grinning broadly, evidently delighted as a small boy with the havoc he had created. "Your gentleman friend is a better runner than a motor driver, I'll say that for him. He must be halfway to town by this time."

"You didn't follow him very wholeheartedly," I smiled.

"If I had, he wouldn't be running," Mr. Underwood made the statement not as a boast, but as the axiom it was.

"He'll not trouble you for a while," he went on confidently, "but eventually he'll get his courage up to the sticking point again. But if old Lil is on the job, and she will be, you won't need to worry. I know his ant rats, but they can be effectually chased when you know the combination."

"And now, Lady Fair, suppose we resume our journey. I'll stick around until I get you in sight of Lil's door, but I want you to do one thing for me—don't tell her you've seen me get away. I want to be able to say 'surprise—surprise' myself when the time comes."

Welcome Relief from Tortures of Rheumatism

Can Come Only From the Proper Treatment. Many forms of rheumatism are caused by millions of tiny germs that infest the blood, and until the blood is absolutely freed of these germs there is no real relief in sight. And because so many people treat the pain, and not the disease itself, is one reason why rheumatism in many cases is a permanent disease, increasing in severity year by year. The most satisfactory remedy for rheumatism is S. S. S., because it is one of the most thorough blood purifiers known to medical science. This fine old remedy cleanses the blood of impurities. Being purely vegetable, without a particle of mineral or chemical in its composition, it works by eliminating and forcing out of the blood impurities, acting as a tonic to the entire system at the same time. S. S. S. is sold by druggists everywhere, and any of them will tell you that it is a thoroughly honest and reliable old remedy. Write our medical department for valuable literature and free advice.
