

LIQUOR MAY BE LEGALLY SOLD IN DRUG STORES

Strict Federal Supervision Will Be Maintained Over Trade, Says Director Hanley.

The manufacture and sale of whisky soon is to be resumed in Omaha and Nebraska, according to James H. Hanley, state director for national prohibition enforcement, who just has returned from Washington where he was in consultation with the heads of the department for three days.

It is the opinion of Mr. Hanley that intoxicating liquor will be legally sold in every state of the union within a few days. There will be no saloons, however, the state director declared. While distillers may be allowed to make whisky again, liquor will be retained only by druggists under strict federal supervision, it was said, and it will be disposed of exclusively for medicinal purposes and in limited quantities.

Hanley has received specific instructions from the authorities in Washington, and expects to be established today in his headquarters on the second floor of the federal building. The state prohibition director has been provided with his office equipment, including forms for reports, licenses and permits. He will begin his duties with two men working as inspectors under him. Later he expects to have nine field agents, who will devote their efforts to enforcing the prohibition law throughout the entire state.

On Prescription Only.
Druggists will be allowed to dispense of whisky only upon physicians' prescriptions. The druggists will be required first to obtain a federal license to sell liquor and physicians also will be required to procure a federal license to write liquor prescriptions, declared Mr. Hanley. Applications for such licenses will be made at the office of the state prohibition director, who will issue them to any reputable druggist and physician, he asserted.

Mr. Hanley declared the name of the person for whom whisky is prescribed will appear on the prescription. His inspectors, he said, would be charged with the duty of keeping in close touch with the physicians and druggists who are permitted to prescribe and sell whisky. The druggists will be required to keep a permanent record showing the amount of liquor received and disposed of, he said.

Downfall of Bootlegger.
"Every single drop will be accounted for," Mr. Hanley declared. "The first thing we are going to do is to go after the moonshiners and bootleggers with unyielding hands," continued the director. "The law is so drastic that these fellows cannot afford to be prosecuted more than once. If they are caught the second time, the penalty is so severe it will put him out of commission."

Mr. Hanley is of the opinion that the new plan to dispose of whisky will have a tendency to rout the bootleggers. "In the first place," he declared, "the price of liquor will be reasonable, which will prevent the sky high prices now being asked by the illegal peddlers. Then when the decent element realize they can obtain liquor legally, they will frown on the bootlegger. It will be to the interest of the druggists and physicians to co-operate with my department in stamping out the illicit manufacture and illegal sale."

Another Million Voted To Enforce Prohibition
Washington, Jan. 30.—For enforcement of national prohibition the house voted to appropriate $1,000,000 in addition to $2,000,000 previously granted by congress.

Farmers Want Roads Returned to Owners

White House from 1921 to 1925. Mr. Smith declares that no man in America so well fits the bill as the man who led the American forces to victory in France. The announcement of Mr. Smith that he will support General Pershing makes it certain that there will be strong farmer strength behind the leader of the American expeditionary forces.

"General Pershing will be put forward, not as a military candidate, but as a business man and the sort of positive character needed to guide this country through reconstruction," Mr. Smith said. "He is not a candidate, but he will be drafted at Chicago and will answer the call just as millions of men who served under him in the war did."

Pershing Formidable Candidate.
"Pershing sentiment today is epidemic in Nebraska, Montana, Colorado, Wyoming, California, Washington and Oregon. Six weeks ago his name was scarcely mentioned in connection with the presidency, but today his name is heard as one of the formidable candidates. The impression was circulated that General Pershing is not popular with former soldiers. This impression has been dispelled by his present triumphant tour. Everywhere on the Pacific coast he has been accorded a reception such as even a president of the United States never had."

"Former soldiers are flocking to his support. The women of the west are for him. A great majority of the farmers believe he is the kind of a man needed to check the socialist, bolshevik ideas that are being spread by the followers of Townleyism. Townleyism is a real menace in the northwest. The influence of a Pershing in the White House, therefore, is particularly desirable at this time."

"General Pershing is neither a radical nor a conservative, but a level-headed American who can be depended upon to act positively in any emergency. No man who has ever seen General Pershing can doubt that he is of presidential size. That he is a general in the United States army is incidental. That he is the man needed in the White House at this time is the thing that counts in the American people's eyes."

U. S. BEST LAND SUN SHINES UPON, DECLARE FARMERS

Seven National Organizations Denounce Government Ownership of Roads.

Washington, Jan. 30.—There is nothing fundamentally wrong with the government of the United States and there is no need of change in existing social standards and economic laws, representatives of seven national farm organizations declared in a memorial adopted at a conference here and presented to congress.

The organizations subscribing to the memorial are the International Farm Congress, National Farmers' Congress, National Grange, American Farm Bureau Federation, National Farmers' Union, American Cotton Growers' association, and National Federation of Milk Producers.

The memorial declares the farmers are emphatically opposed to government ownership, and operation of railroads, and congress is called on to expedite the enactment of legislation providing for the return of the roads to private ownership with as few restrictions as are necessary to protect the public interest.

The memorial denounces government price-fixing as an interference with the law of supply and demand. Profiteering is condemned, and the practice of indiscriminate striking for trivial causes. Opposition to compulsory military training is voiced, and right of farmers in collective bargaining as embodied in the Capper-Hersman bill is advocated.

"This is the best country the sun shines on," the memorial concludes. "It's opportunities are boundless and are open to every citizen who cares to avail himself of them. Its government is the best in the world. There is nothing fundamentally wrong with it and a man who would injure or destroy it is unfit to live under the protection of its flag."

Man Bound Over for Trial On Charge of Robbing Benson Bank

Harry J. Porche, 2117 Sherman avenue, charged with robbery in connection with the looting of the vault in the Farmers and Merchants bank at Benson on December 31, when four bandits held up employees of the place in broad daylight and stole approximately $100,000, was bound over to district court in Central police court yesterday. His bonds were set at $10,000.

Bert Morten, 6108 Military avenue, Mrs. Nita Helming and Wilford Lang, the latter two employees of the bank, reiterated their identification of Porche on the witness stand in police court.

spector and paid no attention to him until he pointed his revolver at them.

Car inspectors frequently swing into the cars in this manner at stations, it is said, so his act caused no alarm. He spoke pleasantly to the clerks and talked in a low, smooth tone even while ordering them into the closet.

More than $8,000 worth of Liberty bonds and war savings stamps which were being sent to the treasury department at Washington from Boise, Idaho, were overlooked by the robber in his search of the mail.

A small box of prunes, mailed from Silverton, Ore., to an address in Norway, was broken open by the bandit. He scattered the prunes over the floor.

W. M. Coble, postoffice inspector, and C. S. Kelly, chief clerk of Mail District No. 1, were notified of the robbery and went at once to the railroad station to investigate.

Posses Scouring Vicinity.
Hunting parties, composed of special agents for the Union Pacific, municipal police and a sheriff's posse are searching the country in the vicinity of South Thirty-second and A streets, where the train slowed up and the bandit is believed to have escaped from the car.

No clue has been found, but it is believed that the bandit had a machine waiting for him at the Lane cut-off. The robber was apparently familiar with the interior of the mail car, according to the postal clerks. He did not hesitate in placing the three clerks in the clothes closet and had evidently planned to make his escape through the car ventilator from the first.

Proposes Probe Into High-Handed Methods Of Regional Banks

BY E. C. SNYDER, Washington Correspondent of The Bee.

Washington, D. C., Jan. 30.—(Special Telegram.)—So many protests are being received by the Nebraska delegation in congress over the high-handed methods being pursued by the agents of regional banks in connection with the payment of checks by state banks that Congressman Andrews introduced the following resolution and will do all in his power to secure its adoption by the house:

"Whereas, numerous and serious complaints are being made in Nebraska and elsewhere against persons claiming to represent federal reserve banks, and, whereas, such representatives of said banks are charged with making unwarranted and injurious demands upon state banks in different parts of the country; and whereas said state banks are chartered and conducted exclusively under state laws, therefore be it resolved that the committee on banking and currency of the house be and is hereby authorized and directed to investigate said complaints thoroughly and report the facts to the house as speedily as possible, with information as to the authority under which said demands were made by said agents."

Says Irish Regard Home Rule Plan With Contempt

London, Jan. 30.—Ireland is almost universally opposed to the home rule proposition recently advanced by Premier Lloyd George, regarding his proposals with little short of contempt, according to Arthur Henderson, the labor leader, speaking on his return from Ireland with the labor party delegation. The desire for an independent republic was widespread and frankly expressed, Mr. Henderson said.
